EXPLANATIONS.

A consecutive paging being impossible in catalogues supplied by so many different houses, a practical device has been adopted, by which is given, in the index, the actual paging which each list would have had the volume been printed as one book and paged consecutively. The paging is as correct as it is possible to make it.

For the body of the work, from pages 1 to within 5000, printed sheets are supplied by the contributors, and are arranged alphabetically by the firm-name. If these pages are renumbered, making sure at least that the paging of the first page of each list accurately corresponds with that given in the index (a small job for a blank-book maker with a paging machine, or for any one with a blue pencil during unemployed time), it will add to the convenience of the volume for reference, and will amply repay for the trouble. As the supplementary pages are numbered and printed before all the lists are received, they are begun with 5001, a figure easily remembered and not likely to be exceeded by the preceding matter.

☞ Booksellers and librarians who may be annoyed and inconvenienced by the unexpected absence of certain lists must not hold this office responsible. All that could be done in the way of argument has been done, and there is no publisher known to this office who has not been addressed several times on his own behalf as well as in the interest of the trade and the "Annual." Nor would it be proper for us to make explanations that the absentee alone can give satisfactorily.

The index record of new books (by author, title, and subject, as well as full titles and descriptive notes) for the year 1895 will be found in the ANNUAL CATALOGUE FOR 1895, published by the Office of The Publishers' Weekly at $3.50 half leather, $3.00 in sheets. The record for previous years will be found in the AMERICAN CATALOGUE, of which the volume for 1890-95, now in course of publication by the same office, can be had at $15.00 half leather, $12.50 in sheets. The alphabetical list of school text-books will be found in the AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE, 1896, supplied by the same office, bound in leatherette, at 50 cents.

PSALM III.

The security of God's protection.

¶ A Psalm of David, *when he fled from Absalom his son.

LORD, [a]how are they increased that trouble me? many are they that rise up against me.

2 Many there be which say of my soul, [b]There is no help for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou, O LORD, art [c]a shield ‖for me; my glory, and [d]the lifter up of mine head.

4 I cried unto the LORD with my voice, and [e]he heard me out of his [f]holy hill. Selah.

5 [g]I laid me down and slept; I awaked; for the LORD sustained me.

6 [h]I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about.

7 Arise, O LORD; save me, O my God; [i]for thou hast smitten all mine enemies upon the cheek-bone; thou hast broken the teeth of the ungodly.

8 [k]Salvation belongeth unto the LORD: thy blessing is upon thy people. Selah.

PSALM IV.

¶ To the ‖chief Musician on Neginoth, A Psalm of David.

HEAR me when I call, O God of my righteousness; thou hast enlarged me when I was in distress; ‖have mercy upon me, and hear my prayer.

2 O ye sons of men, how long will ye turn my glory into shame? how long will ye love vanity, and cause of †mine enemies; [l]make thy way straight before my face.

9 For there is no ‖faithfulness †in their mouth; their inward part is †very wickedness; [k]their throat is an open sepulchre; [l]they flatter with their tongue.

10 ‖Destroy thou them, O God; [m]let them fall ‖by their own counsels; cast them out in the multitude of their transgressions; for they have rebelled against thee.

11 But let all those that put their trust in thee [n]rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because †thou defendest them: Let them also that love thy name be joyful in thee.

12 For thou, LORD, [o]wilt bless the righteous; with favour wilt thou †compass him as with a shield.

PSALM VI.

David's complaint in his sickness.

¶ To the chief Musician on Neginoth ‖*upon Sheminith, A Psalm of David.

O [a]LORD, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure.

2 [b]Have mercy upon me, O LORD; for I am weak: O LORD, [c]heal me; for my bones are vexed.

3 My soul is also sore vexed: but thou, O LORD, [d]how long?

4 Return, O LORD, deliver my soul: oh save me for thy mercies' sake!

5 [e]For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the grave who shall give thee thanks?

6 I am weary with my groaning; ‖all the night make I my bed to swim; I water my couch with my tears.

PUBLICATIONS

OF

PHILADELPHIA,
STATION B.
1896.

THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The American Academy of Political and Social Science was formed in Philadelphia, December 14, 1889, for the purpose of promoting the Political and Social Sciences.

While it does not exclude any portion of the field indicated in its title, yet its chief object is the development of those aspects of the Political and Social Sciences which are either entirely omitted from the programs of other Societies, or which at present do not receive the attention they deserve.

Among such subjects may be mentioned: Sociology, Comparative Constitutional and Administrative Law, Philosophy of the State, and such portions of the field of Politics, including Finance and Banking, as are not adequately cultivated by existing organizations.

A special effort will be made to collect and publish material which will be of use to students, and which does not now reach the public in any systematic way, as, for example, the texts in English of the Constitutions of leading foreign countries; regular accounts of current instruction in Political and Social Topics at home and abroad; descriptive bibliographies; discussions of Municipal Government, etc.

It will be seen that the Academy thus supplements the efforts of existing Societies of similar aims, and substantially strengthens their work by contributing its share to beget a deeper and more widespread interest in the general subject of Political and Social Science.

The plan of the Academy includes regular scientific meetings for the presentation of papers and communications, establishment of a library, and the dissemination of knowledge on Political and Social Topics through its publications and by such other means as may seem suitable.

During the winter regular monthly meetings have been held since the Academy was formed, at which the papers submitted have been read and discussed.

To carry on the work of the Academy satisfactorily, large funds are necessary. The income of the Academy at present is derived from the Annual Membership Fee, which is $5.00; the Life Membership Fee, which is $100; and from the contributions of those who may be willing to assist in its work. It is desired to secure the establishment of prizes and fellowships.

Anyone may become a member on being approved by the Council and paying the Annual or Life Membership Fee. Members are entitled to receive the regular publications of the Academy, submit papers and communications, and to attend and take part in all scientific meetings. Life members are exempt from all annual fees.

The co-operation of all persons interested in the scientific investigation of Political and Social Affairs is earnestly solicited.

The proceedings of the Academy are published in the form of a periodical called the ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE, which, together with such other matter as may be published for that purpose, is sent to all members of the Academy free of charge. A copy of the current number of ANNALS will be sent to anyone for examination.

Papers and communications which the writers wish to submit to the Academy with a view to their being read in a Scientific Session and subsequently published in the Proceedings, as well as applications for membership, should be sent to the following address:

American Academy of Political and Social Science,

STATION B, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

N. B.—Fees and contributions may be remitted by postal order on Philadelphia, or by draft on New York, drawn to the order of the Treasurer, Mr. Stuart Wood, 400 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

OF THE

American Academy of Political and Social Science.

The first number of the ANNALS, which contains the Proceedings of the Academy, was issued in July, 1890, and the seventh volume was completed with the number for May, 1896. For the first year the ANNALS was issued quarterly, but since then it has appeared bi-monthly, so that the first seven volumes consist of thirty-four numbers. In addition to the regular issues, the Academy has at various times published important Supplements. Up to July, 1896, fourteen of these have been issued. Each of the first five volumes contains the numbers and Supplements of an entire year, but now on account of the increasing size it has been found necessary to divide the numbers and Supplements, appearing within a year, into two volumes, each with its own title-page and the unusually full index which has been characteristic of the ANNALS, so that the sixth and seventh volumes each contain the publications that have appeared during six months only.

The ANNALS contains the principal papers which have been submitted to the Academy, the proceedings of the scientific sessions of the Academy, briefer communications, personal notes about the workers in the field of political and social science, reviews of, and notes concerning, the latest political, economic and sociological books, reports of the meetings of other associations, notes on municipal government, and sociological notes.

The Book Department of the ANNALS is under the editorial charge of Dr. Henry R. Seager, who has the co-operation as reviewers of about fifty well-known American and foreign specialists. This Department contains, first, unsigned notes about the less important works; second, signed reviews; and, third, a classified bibliography giving the titles of the more important works which have appeared within the field of politics, law, economics, and sociology.

The series of Notes on Municipal Government is edited by Dr. Leo S. Rowe, aided by writers living in the different American cities. The purpose of these notes is to be of aid to that increasing class of citizens who are endeavoring to place the functions of the municipality on the highest level of efficiency. This aid is being rendered by bringing the experience of the various cities within the reach of those most interested. Only such events are noted as serve to illustrate the principles underlying our system of city government.

The purpose of the series of Sociological Notes, which is edited by Dr. S. M. Lindsay, is to publish notes on topics of interest in sociological investigation in the broadest acceptation of the term. A number of prominent sociologists and social workers are assisting by contributions to this department.

The Annals

Early Essay on Proportional Representation. JAMES, PROF. E. J. Price, 25 cents.

In 1844 Thomas Gilpin read before the American Philosophical Society a paper on the "Representation of Minorities of Electors." This paper is remarkable as being one of the earliest systematic discussions of the plan now known as Minority, or Proportional Representation. The paper antedates Thomas Hare's earliest essays on the subject of Minority Representation by thirteen years; and that of James Garth Marshall by almost ten years. It is reprinted entire in the present monograph, being preceded by a short sketch of Mr. Gilpin and a critical analysis of the paper.

The author also shows how the principles he has deduced may be applied to the ethical training of children.

A survey of the development of economic theory, as held by the rival economic schools of Italy, and a short discussion of its present tendencies. Professor Loria is a radical representative of the Orthodox Political Economy, and is without sympathy for the deviations of the optimistic and socialistic schools. He is especially severe upon the "retrogression" proposed by the Austrian economists.

The paper explains the effect of the consumption of wealth, and concludes with an argument for the socializing of consumption and throwing wide the doors of wealth, that humanity may enter in and enjoy much of what the individual now consumes in solitude.

Elected or Appointed Officials? BOURINOT, J. G. Price, 25 cents.

In Canada the custom has been to appoint all officials having executive or ministerial functions to perform —apart, of course, from the political heads. The only officers elected by the people are those who are to legislate for them. There has started, however, a movement to change this system by adopting the United States plan of electing all officers, no matter whether they be legislative, executive or judicial. Dr. Bourinot's paper is a strong argument against making such a change. He shows the bad results which follow the American system of election, and contrasts them with the advantages of the Canadian method.

Ethical Basis of Distribution and Its Application to Taxation. CARVER, THOMAS N., Ph. D., Associate Professor of Economics in Oberlin College. Price, 25 cents.

The purpose of this paper is to show: (1) that the true criterion of justice in the distribution of the burdens of taxation is the least evil to the least number; (2) that the evils of taxation are twofold,—the sacrifice to those who pay the taxes, and the repression of industry and enterprise which they occasion; (3) that the minimum of repression is secured by equality of sacrifice and the minimum of total sacrifice by an extreme form of progressive taxation resulting in great inequality of sacrifice; (4) that neither repression alone nor sacrifice alone, but both, are to be considered; and (5) that the probabilities are that a consideration of both forms of evil would lead to the adoption of a moderately progressive system of taxation.

Ethical Training in the Public Schools. DE GARMO, CHARLES, President of Swarthmore College. Price, 25 cents.

It is an argument to show that the public school can be made a profitable factor in the moral development of the scholars, not necessarily by religious instruction in the schools, but by the daily discipline of the school and the careful instruction in literature, history, economics and social and political science.

Exploitation of Theories of Value in the Discussion of the Standard of Deferred Payments. FETTER, FRANK, Ph.D., Professor of Political Economy at the University of Indiana. Price, 15 cents.

He concludes with the plan of increasing the internal revenue duties on liquors and tobacco as the best way of raising revenue.

Home Rule for Our American Cities. OBERHOLTZER, ELLIS P.

Price, 25 cents.

"It is a strong argument against the creation and constant amendment of city charters by State Legislatures. In lieu of this it is proposed to have cities control themselves under a general constitutional clause permitting them to adopt and amend their own charters by popular election."—News, Galveston, Texas.

How to Save Bimetallism. DE NOAILLES, DUC: translated by JOSEPH G. ROSENGARTEN, ESQ. Price, 15 cents.

The remedy suggested is to adopt a parallel and independent bimetallism. Let each metal have its own value based on the weight of the coins either in gold or in silver without any proportion or ratio. One result of the suppression of the existing ratio would be to reduce by one-half the value of the stock of silver. But as silver is now occupying a fictitious position, to which it is not entitled, sooner or later it must fall to its natural place, and the sooner it is put there, the sooner we will arrive at a solution of the problem.

Income Tax Decisions as an Object Lesson in Constitutional Construction. TIEDEMAN, C. G., Professor of Law in the University of the City of New York. Price, 15 cents.

The author argues that the decision against the income tax was not based so much on the fundamental rule of construction that the intention and meaning of the framers of the Constitution must necessarily govern the interpretation of that instrument, as on the idea that the prevalent sense of right must be ascertained in all its bearings and applied to the determination of the question. In the course of his argument Professor Tiedeman gives a careful explanation of what constitutes a direct tax.

Indian Currency. MOLESWORTH, SIR GUILFORD L., Bexley, Kent, England. Price, 35 cents.

This paper explains the position of India on the money question, why she was forced to close her mints to the coinage of silver, and what harm must result from this act not only to India, but to England. The whole paper is a strong plea for the adoption of an international bimetallic agreement.

Indian Education. BLACKMAR, FRANK W., Professor of History and Sociology in the University of Kansas. Price, 25 cents.

Prof. Blackmar shows that the only salvation for the Indian is to educate all the Indian children, teaching each some particular trade or profession, and after they are educated to keep them, if possible, inside the pale of civilization and not send them back to the reservation.

The paper is a brief general survey of the whole question of transportation by rail.

Influence on Business of the Independent Treasury. KINLEY, DAVID, Assistant Professor of Political and Social Science in the University of Illinois. Price, 25 cents.

The author shows the great dangers to the financial stability of the country that are inherent in the "Sub-treasury" system. These evils, which the Sub-treasury might naturally be expected to produce, have in the past been largely neutralized by a series of lucky accidents, as it were. To trust to accident is however, a dangerous way; as Mr. Kinley says, "it would be unscientific and dangerous to rely on mere contingencies for the prevention of financial evils, if we can see the defects in our system and provide a remedy."

Inland Waterways: Their Relation to Transportation. JOHNSON, EMORY R. Price, paper, $1.00; half-leather, $2.00.

A plea for the re-adoption of canals as a means of transportation, both on account of the cheap rates of freight which they allow and because they will help to lower railway rates; also because they will permit of a great extension of our inland commerce. For the same reasons, the author advocates the improvement of our natural waterways and connecting them together.

Interest and Profits. HADLEY, ARTHUR T., Professor of Political Economy in Yale University. Price, 15 cents.

The aim of the paper is to show that the justification of interest, as an institution, is not to be sought either in the interest productivity of capital, or in the difference of value between present and future goods; but in the fact that it furnishes a means of natural selection of employers whereby the productive forces of the community are better utilized than by any other method hitherto devised.

Minimum Principal in the Tariff of 1828 and Its Recent Revival. HARDING, S. B. Price, 25 cents.

The Act of 1828, for the first time in the history of our tariff legislation, established a series of duties graduated according to the value of a group of goods—the evident purpose of this was to retain something of the elasticity of ad valorem rates while gaining the immunity from undervaluation which goes with specific duties. This series of duties rests upon what is known as the "graduated minimums" of the woolen schedules of the act of that year; the principle of which was revived and largely extended in the Act of 1890, and the traces of which have not been entirely banished from the tariff of 1894. Mr. Harding's paper traces the origin and operation of these provisions of the earlier act, and sketches briefly their later revival.

Multiple Money Standard. SMITH, J. ALLEN, Marietta College, Ohio. Price, 50 cents.

Professor Smith discusses the relation of money to industrial society, the two conceptions of a standard of value and the unstability of gold as a commodity. He then shows the advantages and disadvantages of a composite gold and silver standard, and advocates the adoption of a multiple money standard. Under which plan a considerable number of leading commodities are combined together in the ratio of their importance and form the permanent standard of value, which standard would be practically invariable.

Neglected Points in the Theory of Socialism. VEBLEN, T. B., Ph. D., Instructor in Political Economy, University of Chicago. Price, 25 cents.

The work is a criticism of Mr. Spencer's essay, "From Freedom to Bondage." The author shows how, under our present system, there is a constant effort even at the expense of real physical comforts and even necessities to make a greater display of one's ability to pay, than one's neighbor's. This "Economic Emulation" he regards as the chief underlying cause of the present socialistic agitation. The doing away with private property as we know it would perhaps direct our emulation into more desirable channels. Mr. Veblen further makes a comparison between the introduction of constitutional government and the possible nationalization of industry.

Neglected Socialist, A. CLARK, F. C., Ph. D. Price, 25 cents.

An attempt to give William Weitling his proper position in the history of socialism. Weitling, says Dr. Clark, "forms the bridge between French and German socialism." "He is the only German Socialist that constructed a system and had the courage to carry it out. Judged by his writings, his place is by the side of Fourier and Engels; judged by his services and his agitation, Lassalle alone outranks him."

NEWCOMB, H. T. See Reasonable Railway Rates.

Nicaragua Canal and the Economic Development of the United States. JOHNSON, E. R. Price, 15 cents.

The paper shows what great commercial benefits the canal will bring to the United States, both by shortening the route of domestic commerce between the east and the west, and by bringing us nearer to South America, Asia and Australia. It shows also how it will serve to develop our industries, and why the canal itself should prove a paying investment for American capital.

Nicaragua Canal and the Monroe Doctrine. KEASBEY, L. M., Associate Professor of Political Science in Bryn Mawr College. Price, 25 cents.

The author gives a full outline of the diplomatic controversy between the United States and England, as to who should control the canal across the Isthmus, dwelling particularly on the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and on Great Britain's efforts to obtain and keep control over the eastern end of any proposed canal. He also shows how the United States, by indirect influence, has at last forced England off that part of Central America. This controversy constitutes, as Prof. Keasbey says, but the narrower issue of that larger struggle, which has been going on between Great Britain and the United States ever since the days of our political independence, for dominion of the American Continent. In conclusion, therefore, he places this more or less detailed dispute in its proper diplomatic environment, and shows its relation to the larger issue involved.

A discussion of the question whether reform in city affairs is to be sought through improved machinery for bringing public opinion to bear, just as we should do with the force of steam or electricity, or whether we are to accept as final the methods which have come down to us in the last hundred years, and limit ourselves to manipulation of the methods of voting.

Pacific Railway Debts. COLBURN, R. T. Price, 25 cents.

The thirty years' term of the original loan of the United States to the Pacific Railroad has expired. Not only have the companies failed to pay off the principal, but even a great part of the annual interest, so that now the Central and Union Companies owe the government about $125,000,000, or twice the original loan. Several methods of solving this problem have been advanced in Congress. Mr. Colburn takes them up in turn, showing the advantages and disadvantages of each, and finally explains the method which seems to him the best.

Parliamentary Procedure. MACY, JESSE, A. M., Professor of Constitutional Law and Political Economy in Iowa College. Price, 25 cents.

An examination of the advantages and disadvantages of the cabinet system of government as found in England and Canada, and of the American system. Professor Macy takes as the basis for his paper two recent works on government, one by Dr. J. G. Bourinot, on "Parliamentary Procedure," and the other by Mr. T. H. McKee, on "Congressional Practice."

Party Government. RICHARDSON, CHARLES. Price, 25 cents.

The principal evil of party government, according to Mr. Richardson's views, is the permitting of political parties to nominate candidates for office. For, as he shows, these candidates are almost invariably men who, if elected, will obey the dictates of the bosses rather than the voice of the people. As a remedy for this, he suggests that the Australian system, as used in Australia, be adopted, and all candidates be nominated by papers signed by a specified number of qualified voters.

Place of Party in the Political System. MORSE, ANSON D., Professor of History and Political Economy in Amherst College. Price, 15 cents.

A treatise on the philosophy of party; a subject which has been generally neglected by political scientists. After showing by what other means the State has sought to hold the government in due subordination to itself, he proves that the institution of party is the best device for accomplishing this end. He shows how party carries out its two chief functions, namely, to educate and organize public opinion, and to administer government.

Political Ethics of Herbert Spencer. WARD, LESTER F. Price, 35 cents.

Professor Ward goes through Mr. Spencer's various works and, taking together those parts in which his political views are expressed, analyzes these doctrines and thus discovers Mr. Spencer's views on political science. He finds that Mr. Spencer, having begun as a revolutionist, has now, like so many other great thinkers at the close of their careers, become a reactionist.

An analysis of the laws which were passed by the various States in 1895 on the suffrage, ballot reform, voting machines, corrupt practices, nominations, officers, counties, and municipalities.

Political Organization of a Modern Municipality. LEWIS, WM. DRAPER. Price, 15 cents.

The main thought in the pamphlet is that the only way to improve city politics is to separate them from national politics. A city, Dr. Lewis claims, is in reality a State by itself, that is, in many respects it has questions to settle which are vital to its existence and which are of interest to it alone. In the settlement of these questions, therefore, national parties should have no voice. Just as there are national parties to settle national questions, so there should be local parties to settle purely local questions.

Mr. Dana shows how much the system has done toward purifying State politics by preventing the bribing of voters, the stuffing of ballot boxes and the falsifying of election returns. It has enabled voters to vote for the best man irrespective of party, since under this system there can be no intimidation of voters.

Preventive Legislation in Relation to Crime. REEVE, C. H. Price, 15 cents.

Mr. Reeve shows how great has been the increase, not only in crime, but also in the savagery attendant upon the commission of crime, as well as in the reckless boldness displayed by criminals. To remedy this he advocates the removal of the source from which the criminal comes, by preventing marriages between those who are unfit for the relation, and by removing the children of criminals, etc., from their parents. For such as are now criminals he advocates imprisonment with no right to return to freedom until a complete reformation has taken place.

The object of this paper is to emphasize the distinction between that system of political economy which is based upon the actions of the human animal and that system which is based upon the actions of the rational man. The former is the prevailing system of the schools as taught under the varying aspects by the Physiocrats, Adam Smith, Ricardo and Malthus. Its underlying principles are set forth in the writings of Herbert Spencer, and constitute the warp of modern individualism. The latter has, from time to time, been dimly foreshadowed by certain writers, but has never taken any scientific form except in a work by Mr. Ward.

This movement toward the individualistic conception of land was very steady up to 1870. Since then there has been a reaction away from individualism, and we are coming to recognize that land is not like other property, but has intrinsic peculiarities which necessitate a certain degree of communistic control.

Theory of Social Forces. PATTEN, S. N. Price, paper, $1.00; cloth, $1.50.

A new study of the various steps in social evolution. Briefly outlined, Dr. Patten's social theories rest upon the assumption that the progressive development of organic life on this planet has been in its later phases the result of the development of a more and more refined mental organism, the parts of which have been in turn the "requisites for survival," as the organism adapted itself to increasingly complex environments. The monograph is divided into four parts, which treat respectively of, "The Influence of the Environment," "Race Psychology," "Knowledge and Belief," and "A Social Commonwealth."

Third Revolution. CHEYNEY, EDWARD P. Price, 15 cents.

The third revolution of which Professor Cheyney writes is the economic revolution. He first compares the period prior to the intellectual revolution of 400 years ago with the period just before the political revolution of 100 years ago, and shows that these periods were very similar. He then shows that the present time is in many respects similar with these periods, and from this he draws the inference that we are about to undergo a third revolution, which, as he shows, will be an economic revolution.

Total Utility Standard of Deferred Payments. ROSS, E. A. Price, 25 cents.

An inquiry into the question as to what course of prices will do justice to a time contract calling for a money payment, and the question as to what is the just standard of deferred payments to which the money paid should conform. The question of bimetallism or monometallism comes up in the course of the argument and is decided in favor of the double standard.

PUBLICATIONS OF OTHER PUBLISHERS.

This Catalogue contains only the Society's own publications. The Society, however, keeps in stock at headquarters, and at the several Branch Houses, a line of Theological, Standard, and Religious publications; also a very large supply of APPROVED Sunday-school books, selected from the lists of other publishers. These are approved only after personal and careful examination.

For reliable parties, the Society will order from any publisher in this country, or import from Europe, any work not kept in stock.

SCRIPTURES.

The Society publishes only a few editions of the Bible and New Testament; but it keeps constantly in stock a very full line of Bibles and New Testaments of all sizes, styles, and prices, selected from the lists of the American Bible Society, the British and Foreign Bible Society, and from the great Bible publishers in America and Europe. The Teachers' Bibles of the Oxford, and International Editions are made a specialty. The sale of Bibles of all kinds constitutes a large part of our business.

King James Version.

Canterbury American Revision.

New Testament of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. American Revised Edition. 518 pp. Long primer, crown octavo, cloth, red edges, price, 50 cents; 24mo, cloth, limp, flush, 20 cents; postpaid, 25 cents.

This is the new Revision into which have been incorporated the readings which the American Revisers desired to insert in the Canterbury Edition, but which the English Revisers unwisely declined to adopt. It is not a new Baptist Revision, but is simply a Revision such as the American Revisers desired to send forth to the world, as most truly giving the mind of the Spirit.

No alterations have been made except in spelling a few words differently from the English edition. We prefer "cloak" to "cloke," for this is American usage.—Christian Secretary.

This is one of the best red-edged editions we have seen, and doubtless it will have a large and immediate sale.—Herald of Truth.

Bible Union New Testament. 18mo, 590 pp. [Edition with Immerse.] Price, cloth, 30 cents; postpaid, 37 cents; morocco, $2.00.

This work is an improved edition of that published by the American Bible Union, being carefully edited and revised by Drs. John A. Broadus, Henry G. Weston, and Alvah Hovey. The exact meaning of the inspired text is translated by corresponding words and phrases, as far as they can be found in the present state of the English language. The editors have freely availed themselves of the earlier and later English versions and revisions, as well as the original text. Inasmuch as differences of opinion exist as to the displacing of words used in the commonly received version relating to ordinances of baptism, two editions of this revised version are published; the one retaining the words "immerse," etc., employed in the Bible Union version, and the other the words "baptize," etc., found in the commonly received version, but in all other respects the two editions are alike.

The Annotated Paragraph Bible. Bible and Commentary Combined. 8vo, 1498 pp. Price, half morocco, $5.00; full sheep, $8.00.

Gives in a small compass, in a condensed, but at the same time convenient and popular form, the substance of what the learning and piety of successive ages have contributed to the elucidation of the word of God. An entirely new edition of this Bible has been prepared by the Religious Tract Society of London, and is being placed on the American market by the Publication Society.

COMMENTARIES.

An American Commentary on the New Testament.

Volume I.

Matthew. By John A. Broadus, D. D., LL. D. 8vo, 664 pp. Price, $2.25.

The exposition advances steadily, from beginning to end, never skipping a hard place nor dodging a difficulty, but explaining whatever the learning of the present day furnishes the means of explaining, and pointing out the reason why other difficult passages are left still in uncertainty.

Take it all in all, this is much the best Commentary on the First Gospel that I have ever read. Its learning is ample and exact, placing it beside the works of Meyer, Weiss, and Godet; while its sobriety of judgment, its reverence of tone, and its clear beauty of diction, will commend it to all. Equally adapted to plain men and to scholars.—Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D.

For general use it is second to none. Others may excel in their own peculiar lines, but for universal use, and thorough practical instruction, we award the palm to this work.—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, in Sword and Trowel.

Volume II.

Mark. By W. N. Clarke, D. D.

The author traces the gradual unfolding of the work which the Lord came to establish, as shown in this Gospel which is especially fitted to show him as the earnest and indefatigable worker.

Luke. By Geo. R. Bliss, D. D., LL. D.

Taking the work as a whole, it seems to us remarkable for the care and judgment shown, for the scholarly accuracy of its exegesis, and for its clear and chaste English style.—The Standard.

Volume III.

John. By Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D. 8vo, 423 pp. Price, $2.25.

This volume bears evident marks of deep, patient, reverent study, both of the letter and spirit of the Gospel that sets forth Jesus as the Son of God.

The introduction is a paper of especial merit. Here in about fifty solid pages we have a lucid and learned discussion of (1) the authorship of the Gospel according to John; (2) its trustworthiness as a historical record, especially as a record of the discourses of Jesus; (3) the time and place of its composition; and (4) the occasion, object, and plan of it. This introduction alone is worth more than the price of the whole work.—Baptist Review.

The explanations and comments are lucid, painstaking, and full, and the whole work is pervaded with a tender, loving, Johannic spirit.—Religious Herald.

Dr. Hovey's introduction to his commentary, in this volume, fills some fifty pages, and is almost a treatise in itself. The commentary is no less a careful, judicious, and exhaustive piece of work than the introduction.—The Standard.

There is nothing greater in the New Testament than the Gospel of John, and we have no scholar better qualified to expound it.—The Examiner.

The comments are clear and full, and free from exegetical technicalities. The most recent authorities have been consulted, alike for the introduction and notes.—Sunday School Times.

Volume IV.

Acts. By Horatio B. Hackett, D. D. With Editorial Notes by Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D., in consultation with Ezra Abbott, LL. D.

This commentary of Dr. Hackett has been regarded, both in this country and in Europe, as a standard work. The second edition was carefully revised and much enlarged by the author. The work now issued is edited by Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D., with Notes bringing to bear all the light thrown upon the book by the most recent researches.

The value of the volume is greatly enhanced by many critical, exegetical, historical, and homiletical notes from the careful pen of Dr. Hovey.—Christian Secretary.

Romans. By Albert N. Arnold, D. D., and Rev. D. B. Ford.

This commentary was begun by Dr. A. N. Arnold, but left unfinished at his death. It was afterward taken up by Rev. D. B. Ford, and completed. The joint labor of these two distinguished and able brethren has given us an exceedingly valuable contribution to the interpretation of this great epistle. It presents not merely a rapid analysis of the various profound and important doctrines which the apostle discusses, but affords a real help to those who may wish to make a thorough study of the divine teachings embodied in this great treasury of revealed truth.

Volume V.

Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians. 8vo, 638 pp. Price, $2.50

Corinthians. By E. P. Gould, D. D.

Its plan is both critical and exegetical, and will prove a valuable aid to the student in coming to a full understanding of these epistles of the apostle. The running commentary on each chapter is closed with critical notes and an analysis, showing most careful and learned research among the various existing manuscripts, which the biblical student will appreciate and value as they deserve.—The Christian at Work.

We think the commentary will take rank with the best works as an aid to the thoughtful students of these epistles.—Christian Secretary.

This work is the best commentary on the Corinthians which has yet appeared. It is sound, judicious, luminous, and can never be consulted in vain. The supplemental notes, by Dr. Alvah Hovey, are of priceless value. They go straight to the heart of the subject, and are always scholarly, persuasive, and edifying.—Geo. A. Young, D. D., in Oldham Chronicle, England.

Galatians. By Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D.

This commentary, from the pen of Dr. Hovey, the General Editor of the American Commentary, bears all the well-known characteristics of the author.

Ephesians. By Justin A. Smith, D. D.

The author has grasped the conception of the glory of Christ and the divine dignity of his work as delineated by the apostle.

Philippians. By J. B. Gough Pidge, D. D.

The commentary is brief, clear, comprehensive, ever developing the views of the Lord that the apostle presents.

Colossians. By Edwin C. Dargan, D. D.

The epistle to the church at Colosse has both attractions and difficulties for the interpreter, of which the author of this commentary appears to have been fully aware. He has dealt with keen relish on the attractive portions, which he has presented in a manner to arrest and to hold the attention of the reader; in regard to the difficulties, he has discussed them with candor and caution.

Thessalonians. By Prof. William A. Stevens.

The author gives evidence in this work that he possesses, in an eminent degree, the spirit of interpretation, that he is quick to perceive the apostle's meaning, and apt in his expression of that meaning in good English for the benefit of his readers.

Volume VI.

Timothy, Titus, Philemon. By H. H. Harvey, D. D.

The author of these commentaries has sought to develop the pastoral lesson embodied in the epistles, and has made a work that will exert an important influence in guiding the pastoral labor of both the present and of future generations. His book bears striking evidence of earnest and scholarly research, while his style is marked with great precision and perfect lucidness.

The author has left on each page of his thoroughly studied work passages that will no doubt cause the hearts of his readers to burn within them.

To our mind, the author has solved the problem of making a commentary suited to both scholar and plain people as completely as it can be solved. This must be pronounced one of the very best additions to the series.—The Examiner.

James. By E. T. Winkler, D. D.

Dr. Winkler expounds the Epistle of James with singular felicity and force. Its fervor and fearlessness must strike every reader. The doctor has a pungent, pithy, and pointed pen, and so he drives home the permanent lessons of all the texts as he expounds them.—The Bury Free Press, England.

Peter. By N. M. Williams, D. D.

Dr. Williams' work is worthy of a place in the great series of commentaries. He has not shunned, as do many writers, the difficult texts, but gives a clear statement of what seems to be the true interpretation.—Baltimore Baptist.

Volume VII.

John. By H. A. Sawtelle, D. D.

Pregnant, suggestive, and reverent, this last work of Dr. Sawtelle will be reverently cherished as a valuable aid in the deeply interesting study of this portion of the New Testament.—Baltimore Baptist.

Jude. By N. M. Williams, D. D.

Revelation. By Justin A. Smith, D. D., in consultation with James Robinson Boise, Ph. D., D. D., LL. D.

The author has given an exceptionally good and satisfactory interpretation of this wonderful book. He aims to indicate the great currents of Christian and world history, which the symbolical language of the Revelation presents. He has succeeded in producing a work which the devout Christian can read and study with deep satisfaction.

The work in this whole series is done with good sense and ability. The series comes perhaps nearer the ideal commentary than any other. It is not embarrassed with ostentatious, useless, or fastidious scholarship. The type of scholarship engaged on it has been excellent, both from the scholarly and religious point of view. Though projected and carried out by Baptist collaborators under Baptist editorship, and fairly representative of the denominational position, it is broad, catholic, and fair; a very satisfactory illustration of the new ideas and conceptions of Christian people as to the nature, limits, and obligations of denominational fidelity.

A PEOPLE'S COMMENTARY,

By Geo. W. Clark, D. D.

Matthew. 12mo, 420 pp. Price, $1.25.

John. 12mo, 336 pp. Price, $1.25.

The merits of the excellent commentaries by Dr. Clark have been widely recognized. The accurate scholarship of the author, his careful study, his candid and courteous spirit, and his experience in the work of a pastor, eminently fit him for the work he has so successfully prosecuted—the preparation of "a popular commentary on a critical basis."—Henry G. Weston, D. D., President of Crozer Theological Seminary.

They are, in my judgment, more valuable than those of Ripley, Barnes, Abbot, etc. While they are "explanatory and practical," they rest on a "critical basis," and may be profitably read by the learned and unlearned. I know of no exposition of the Gospels better suited to the wants of the masses of the people.—J. M. Pendleton, D. D., Upland, Pa.

This volume is prepared on a critical basis, with scriptural references of great value, and expository notes enriched from the latest and best authorities. Its practical remarks stimulate thought, and are suited alike to teachers' meetings, Sunday-school classes, and the lecture room. The notes give prominence to the living questions of the day, the bearing of the book of Acts upon church polity, practice, Christian faith and life, missions, and evangelistic work. It is especially suited to cultivate in our membership, and especially among our young people, the great fundamental doctrines and practices of our denomination.

NEW AND REVISED EDITIONS OF THE ABOVE HAVE BEEN ISSUED.

The commentary will be completed in NINE volumes. The volume containing Romans and 1 and 2 Corinthians is in preparation. Hebrews, by Dr. O. P. Eaches, in conjunction with Dr. Clark, will appear shortly. The remaining volumes will be issued as soon as practicable.

The volumes will be bound in uniform and attractive style, and will be sold at the very low price of $1.25 per volume, or $9.00 for the set. The work will form one of the cheapest and best commentaries for the average Bible student issued.

The design of this work is to furnish a brief commentary on the New Testament that would present the results of the most careful study without the various processes by which these results are reached.

The maps and the harmony of the Gospels that precede the notes, as well as the varied matter embraced in the appendix, will be found of interest and utility.

The author of this volume has collected from all available sources testimony in regard to the act of baptism, from the time of the Lord until the present day.

Adoniram Judson. A biography by his son, Edward Judson, D. D. 12mo, 190 pp. Price, 90 cents.

In the procuring of material, Dr. Judson has made use of his former book, but the story has been entirely rewritten. It can never be an old one, any more than can the Acts of the Apostles. The heroism of it, the sublime daring that would lead a few men and women single-handed, but for God, to cast themselves against the blank darkness of heathenism, and immure themselves in it away from home and all the delights of Christian civilization, as dear to them as to any, can never lose its power unless men shall lose their admiration for the heroic and their love for God and men.

American Baptist Missions in Africa. By Rev. H. A. Tupper. 16mo. Leatherette. 48 pp. Price, 10 cents.

This is a brief, but comprehensive and clear account of Baptist mission work in the dark continent.

Baptism, Christian. By Andreas Wiberg, A. M. With a likeness of the author. 16mo, 311 pp. Price, 90 cents.

This work is adapted to biblical scholars, as well as to devout Christians. Its compass is sufficient to comprehend the entire subject of inquiry, to exhaust the evidence on both sides, and to conduct the reader to a satisfactory conclusion by putting him in possession of the whole argument, and disposing of all objections, whether from Scripture or from history.

Baptism in its Mode and Subjects. By Alexander Carson, LL.D. With a sketch of his life. 8vo, 552 pp. Price, $1.75.

Much that this book contains will be new to all save those who have read somewhat widely upon this subject.—The Standard.

Baptism, Pengilly's Scripture Guide to. 18mo, 180 pp. Price, 40 cents.

If any book of human origin can be properly denominated a Scripture Guide to Baptism, this certainly deserves this title.

Few books have been more useful. It has been translated into French, German, and Swedish. More than 30,000 copies have been sold in this country.

Baptist History; from Foundation of Christian Church to close of Eighteenth Century. By J. M. Cramp, D. D. 12mo, 598 pp. Price, $1.25.

It has been generally acknowledged that this is the best history of the Baptists that has ever been written. The author has studied each period with special care, and with a calm, critical judgment.

Among the interesting signs of the times is the appearance of this volume. The author modestly calls it "An Outline Sketch." Of course, treating of a Century of Baptist Foreign Missions, nothing but a sketch could be compressed into three hundred 16mo pages; but it is a graphic and interesting sketch.

The reader will obtain a good bird's eye view of the extended missionary work, and of the happy results that have been attained.

Chaplain Smith and the Baptists. By R. A. Guild, LL. D. 12mo, 429 pp. Price, $2.00.

Church Order. By J. L. Dagg, D. D. 8vo, 300 pp. Price, $1.50.

Constitution and Polity of the New Testament Church. By Henry G. Weston, D. D. 8vo, 76 pp. Price, 50 cents.

This is the "ecclesiology" of Dr. Johnson's "Theology" in a separate and independent form. It is clear, strong, and unanswerable in its positions.

Diary of John Comer. Edited with Notes by C. Edwin Barrows, D. D., with an Introduction and a Few Additional Notes by James W. Willmarth, D. D., LL. D. 8vo, 132 pp. Price, $1.00.

This work is of historical value and interest to the general public, the citizens of Rhode Island, and to the Baptist denomination. The diary is of an antique pattern. As we read it we are carried back to days that in some respects seem to belong to remote antiquity. The author reveals himself as a man of thought, of decision, and of piety, but his expressions often appear to us quaint. Surely we may learn something of wisdom and reverence from men like him, even though their quaintness and simplicity create a smile.

Distinctive Baptist Principles. By J. M. Pendleton, D. D. 12mo, 238 pp. Price, $1.25.

"Dr. Burrage has produced a book that will be found almost invaluable for purposes of reference, and has furthermore, told his story with most commendable fairness and accuracy."—The Watchman.

History of Baptists in Western States East of the Mississippi. By Justin A. Smith, D. D. 12mo. Price, $1.25. In press.

This is Dr. Smith's last work and will rank among his best. The three other volumes of this series will follow as speedily as possible.

History of the Telugu Mission, The. The Lone Star. By David Downie, D. D. 12mo, 232 pp. Price, $1.00.

No mission in existence has had a more romantic interest attaching to it than has our Baptist mission among the Telugus. Its unpromising beginning, its struggle for continuance, its awful famine, its wonderful ingathering, its "Lone Star," its magic name of Clough, have all combined to give it a place in the hearts of American Baptists unsurpassed by that of any other. No one who wants to be posted in regard to our missionary work can afford to be without this book. Two good maps, one a language map of India, several new illustrations, copious tables of contents, and a full index accompany the work.

Lord's One Baptism, The. By Rev. B. J. Savage. 18mo, 144 pp. Price, 50 cents.

The design of this volume is to present in simple style the teaching of the New Testament on the subject of baptism, and to indicate the need of faithfulness in fulfilling the directions of our Lord in this ordinance; and also to suggest a basis of Christian union.

Manual of Baptism. By Rev. G. S. Bailey, D. D. 16mo, 346 pp. Price, $1.00.

Dr. Bailey's Manual is one of the best books on the much-discussed question of Baptism. It is clear, terse, and abundantly enforced by apt quotations from eminent Pedobaptist scholars conceding all that we affirm.

Mould of Doctrine, The. Study of Romans 6 : 17 as bearing on the Meaning and Value of the Specific Form of Baptism as appointed by our Lord. By Jesse B. Thomas, D. D. 16mo, 191 pp. Price, 90 cents.

The author maintains, with great force and clearness, that the question of baptism is not a question as to "a few drops of water more or less," but one of deeper significance and more vital importance. "Baptism is the Mould of Doctrine;" it was designed to set forth, in symbol, the resurrection of the Lord, the new birth, and subjection of the whole life as the central idea of Christianity.

Negro Baptist Pulpit, The. A collection of sermons and papers on Baptist doctrine and missionary and educational work. By colored Baptist ministers. Edited by E. M. Brawley, D. D. 12mo, 300 pp. Price, $1.25.

This volume is a commentary on the past twenty-five years of the negro race. Men and women expended money and labor on them, and this volume shows that it was not in vain. All who have an interest in the race will want to see what their leaders can do. Rev. E. M. Brawley, D. D., with whom the idea of the volume originated, collected and edited the addresses. He wrote several of them himself, and deserves great credit for his success.

New Directory for Baptist Churches, The. By Edward T. Hiscox, D. D. 12mo, 604 pp. Price, $1.50.

This "New Church Directory for Baptist Churches," prepared by Dr. Hiscox, is exhaustive in its method, complete in its information, clear in its statements, conservative and careful in its positions, and contains within the covers of one book all that is needed for correct knowledge and guidance in reference to our faith and practice. Indeed, so complete is it in its discussions, and so intelligent in its treatment, that it is likely to be a standard authority for many years. It should find a place in the libraries of all our ministers, and of our intelligent members.

Pedobaptism: Is it from Heaven or of Men? By J. M. Frost, D. D. 16mo, 199 pp. Price, 75 cents.

This book may be earnestly recommended for wide, for general circulation, because in its very first line it assails what has justly been called the stronghold of Pedobaptism, their underlying feeling that it is not of any special importance to do just that and only that which our Master has commanded. In addition to this, it is a clear, strong, courteous argument to show that Pedobaptism is not from God, but of men.

Short History of the Baptists, A. (A new and revised edition.) By Henry C. Vedder. 12mo. 246 pp. Price, 60 cents.

A history of the Baptists written in an interesting style, yet with scholarly accuracy, not so voluminous as to repel readers, and cheap enough to be owned by the poorest, has long seemed to be a greatly needed book.

Southern Baptist Pulpit, The. Edited by Rev. J. F. Love. 12mo, 433 pp. Price, $1.50.

This volume contains sermons by some of the most prominent men of the South. Many of them were preached at the session of the Southern Baptist Convention held at Washington, 1895. Each sermon has a picture of the preacher, and a brief description of his life. This is a unique feature.

This interesting work is designed to give sketches of Missionary and Sunday-school work in Minnesota, during the different seasons of the year.

Standard Manual for Baptist Churches, The. By Edward T. Hiscox, D. D. 18mo, 174 pp. Price, 40 cents.

No one is greater authority on questions of Baptist polity, and no one has had greater influence in making it uniform in its working, than the author of this book. Years ago the "Baptist Church Directory" (old) was published, and was followed some years after by the "Star Book." Both of these had a large circulation. Some time since a desire was expressed by the Calvary Church of New York for something larger than the one of these books and smaller than the other. The Standard Manual was thus prepared, which seemed so much superior to what had preceded it, that it was deemed not best to confine it to a single church, but offer it for general circulation. It can heartily be commended to our churches as an authority on all matters pertaining to our doctrine and a guide in all matters connected with the transaction of business.

Story of Our Chapel Car Work, The. 16mo, 32 pp.

In this account "Uncle Boston" gives us the story of the origin of the Chapel Car service, and the different superintendents tell us of its practical working.

Studies on the Baptismal Question. Including a review of Dr. Dale's "Inquiry into the Usage of Baptizo." By Rev. David B. Ford. 8vo, 416 pp. Price, $2.00.

In this work the author, while defending the ground on which the Baptists have so strongly intrenched themselves, has subjected to severe critical examination various works designed to show that something else than immersion is "The Baptism" commanded by the Lord, and designed by him to be faithfully observed until he comes again. His refutation of Dr. Dale's arguments on "intusposition" are strong and conclusive.

STANDARD RELIGIOUS.

Abstract of Systematic Theology. By James P. Boyce, D. D., LL. D. 8vo, 506 pp. Price, $3.00.

This is an admirable piece of work—compact, well arranged, and with a good, critical statement of the various forms of doctrinal opinion under each topic. The whole is done in a clear, strong, and manly way, with no evasion of difficulties, no sentimental coloring or softening, but everywhere bold, honest thinking expressed in plain, vigorous, and excellent English.

We have presented in this attractive little volume a series of forty topics distinctly Christian, discussed briefly, in a way always clear and forcible, and often exceedingly striking and suggestive.

Ancient British and Irish Churches, The. Including the Life and Labors of St. Patrick. By William Cathcart, D. D. 8vo, 347 pp. Price, $1.50.

History is being re-written. Many questions supposed to be settled are being re-discussed, and the verdict hitherto pronounced is undergoing reversal. So misconceptions regarding our Puritan ancestors are in process of correction, and the pre-founders of our Baptist churches, the Anabaptists, are emerging from the unjust aspersions cast upon them by their unchristian enemies, and revealing themselves to us as the true men they knew themselves to be.

It was time that some one should do the same work for our Christian ancestors of the British Islands. It is worth much to have this work done. Dr. Cathcart has devoted years of his life to the task. He has gone to the original sources of information, and hosts of authorities substantiate the statements made. Copious indexes have been prepared, putting the material of the volume at complete control. The work is a credit to the author and publishers, and will remain a standard on the theme of which it treats.

We have here the result of much careful study and earnest thought upon such subjects as Gradations in the Ranks of Beings; the Nature, Occupations, and Functions of Angels; Angels as Spectators; the Fall of the Angels; and the Work of Evil Angels.

Apostolic Ministry, The. A Sermon. By Francis Wayland, D. D., LL. D. 12mo, 64 pp. Cloth, red edges. Price, 15 cents.

This sermon, by the eminent President Wayland, appeared in a volume of "Sermons to the Churches," published in 1858, but which is now out of print. Whatever attitude one may sustain as to the current dispute regarding theological training, he cannot be otherwise than interested in these words from one who was an acknowledged prince among the educators of our denomination. Their loyalty to Bible teaching and the old-time ring which pervades them, will make their message one of unusual weight and influence. The pamphlet is neatly bound in cloth, with red edges, and should have the large circulation it deserves.

Argument for Christianity, The. By Geo. C. Lorimer, D. D. 12mo, 480 pp. Price, $1.50.

The contents of the chapters will give some idea of the scope of the book: Christianity and its Argument; The Argument from History; The Argument from Christ; from Testimony; from Miracles; from Prophecy; from Humanity; from Achievement; from Concession; from Comparison. These are the headings of the chapters in which the discussion is embodied. With a fullness of treatment, a fairness of view, a wealth of illustration, and copiousness of reference to requisite authorities, at once admirable and convincing, Dr. Lorimer proceeds under these heads to marshall all his forces for the exposition and defense of the faith whose disciple he is. Copious indexes put one at once in command of its contents, and will render it as valuable for a book of reference as otherwise it will be for perusal.

Atonement of Christ, The. By J. M. Pendleton, D. D. 12mo, 176 pp. Price, 90 cents.

The work is marked by the author's well-known lucidness of expression and deep reverence for the word, the work, and the person of the Lord. He discusses the nature of the atonement; the necessity of the atonement; the value of the atonement; the extent of the atonement; the result of the atonement; and ends with concluding addresses: (1) To ministers; (2) to Christians; (3) to awakened sinners; (4) to impenitent sinners.

"The statements of the author are lucid, candid, instructive, and well adapted to convince and rouse to action. Saints and sinners alike should be benefited by the discussion and by the appeals."—Pulpit Treasury.

Benjamin Griffith, D. D. Biographical sketches contributed by friends. Edited by Charles H. Banes, A. M. 12mo, 296 pp. Price, $1.00.

"Each sketch is laconic, but comprehensive and well written. Taken together they give us a complete picture, a correct likeness of the man, physically, mentally, socially, and religiously. A model which all, especially the young, would do well to study and imitate."—The Baptist, Baltimore.

Bible in American Eloquence, The. By Rev. T. E. Bartlett. 16mo, 43 pp. Leatherette. Price, 10 cents.

Well written. Pointed. Helpful.

Biblical Eschatology. By Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D. 12mo, 192 pp. Price, 90 cents.

The work which the author has undertaken is comprehensive, sweeping over the wide field embraced within the scope of the subject, and it is characterized by the author's well-known thoroughness and lucidity. An idea of its full scope may be obtained by the presentation of the mere titles of the parts into which the book is divided: 1. Natural Death. 2. Resurrection of the Dead. 3. Condition of Human Souls Between Death and the Resurrection. 4. The Last Judgment. 5. The Final State of Believers. 6. The Final State of Unbelievers. Conclusion: The vast preponderance of good over evil in the moral government of God.

Blood of Jesus. 18mo, 122 pp. Price, 30 cents.

This is one of those small works which the Lord sometimes puts it into the hearts of his servants to write, and which he crowns with an abundant blessing. The Society has issued 100,000 copies, and they have been spread far and wide.

Booth's Reign of Grace. From its Rise to its Consummation. 16mo, 315 pp. Price, 75 cents.

Booth's "Reign of Grace" has long been a standard work in our theological literature, and is highly esteemed by all evangelical Christians.

Bunyan's Holy War. The Holy War, made by Shaddai upon Diabolus, for the Regaining of the Metropolis of the World; or, The Losing and Taking Again of the Town of Mansoul. By John Bunyan. Illustrated by six engravings. 12mo, 304 pp. Price, 50 cents.

Bunyan was himself in his early life a soldier. He had thus acquired that familiar experience with the details of military life which is so skillfully displayed throughout the "Holy War."

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. New edition. Forty illustrations. 12mo, 431 pp. Price, 75 cents. Gilt edition, $1.00.

This is a beautiful edition in large type, on good paper, with illustrations that are inserted because they really do illustrate. There is no edition superior to this one. "Pilgrim's Progress" is one of the few books that are more and more in demand as the years roll on. Every boy and girl ought to be sure and read it. The "Biographical Sketch" has been prepared expressly for this edition. It was deemed necessary, because recent researches have been made that throw light on the ancestry of the author, on the worldly position of the family from which he sprang, and on the place of his confinement. The price is remarkably low.

Bunyan's Sinner's Progress; or, The Life and Death of Mr. Badman. 12mo, 324 pp. Price, 50 cents.

This volume is classed among Bunyan's Allegorical Works, though in several respects it differs from them. It is not delivered under the similitude of a dream, nor does it abound in picturesque scenery and diversified character; but it is the story of a man who represents a whole class of the wicked, in life and death. It is thus the counterpart of the "Pilgrim's Progress."

Carey, the Pioneer Missionary. William Carey. By James Culross, D. D. 16mo, 214 pp. Price, cloth, 50 cents; manilla paper covers, 25 cents.

There is no more fascinating chapter of missionary history than that which deals with Carey and his times. Dr. Culross' story of this period and its principal actor ranks among the very best. We have in his pages, in strong, vivid, condensed form, a most interesting picture of Carey as man, missionary, and scholar. All ought to read and own some life of him. No one will regret possessing this. Its very low price should bring it into very general circulation.

Centenary Missionary Addresses. Delivered at missionary conferences and elsewhere, under the auspices of the American Baptist Missionary Union, in the years 1892 and 1893. 12mo, 228 pp. Price, $1.00.

This book is worthy of the occasion and purpose it is meant to serve. The names of Drs. Broadus, Moxom, Gordon, Moss, Strong, Robins, and Hovey, names of those whom our denomination delights to honor, are among those appearing, and their utterances are worthy of them and the cause on behalf of which they speak. The volume is neat in its appearance, cheap in price, historic in its occasion, noteworthy in its contributors, and most valuable in its contents, its appearance fittingly rounds out the centennial celebration, and it ought to be found in the hands of all our Baptist people. An appropriate and suggestive introduction has been prepared for the volume by Dr. Mabie, to whom the conferences owed so much in their inception and results.

Christian Teaching and Life. By Alvah Hovey, D. D., LL. D. 12mo, 286 pp. Price, $1.25.

Christ our Life, in its Origin, Law, and End. By Joseph Angus, D. D., Member of the Royal Asiatic Society, and President of the Baptist Theological College in London. 12mo, 336 pp. Price, $1.25.

This is a work of fundamental and permanent value. It was called forth by the offer of a premium of a thousand dollars. All the adjudicators appointed were leading evangelical members of the Church of England; but, among sixty-four manuscripts presented, this was unanimously judged worthy of the prize. The work itself is a classic. Such is the unanimous verdict of the American press, as well as of the English adjudicators.

"We think there are few works directed to the same object that can rival it for perspicuity and skill of construction."—Episcopal Recorder.

Christ's Acted Parables. A study of the miracles. By N. S. Burton, D. D. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

The author has conceived of the miracles of Christ as acted parables, as his title indicates. The miracle, according to his thought, contains moral, spiritual truth no less than the parable. It is conveyed in a different way. It appeals to the eye. Dr. Burton has given us a thoroughly good book. Its style is clear, its thought evangelical and strong, and its tone devotional throughout. It is not for scholars in the sense that the "Notes" of Dean Trench are, since it was prepared with a different purpose. It will be welcomed, however, we believe, by many of our pastors, by Sunday-school teachers, and by the average members of our churches.

Church, The; its Polity and Ordinances. By H. H. Harvey, D. D., 12mo, 248 pp. Price, $1.00.

"A brief, clear, concise answer to all who wish to know why Baptists are congregational in their church order, and why they maintain their well-known position in regard to the ordinances."—The Standard.

Dawn of Christianity, The; or, Studies of the Apostolic Church. By Prof. Henry C. Vedder. 16mo, 208 pp. Price, 90 cents.

Plain, clear, concise. It takes us right back into the midst of the men and events of the first century, and as nearly as we can we see them as they were. The work is divided into four parts: The Founding of the Church; The Gospel in Asia; the Gospel in Europe; and Establishing the Churches. We trust that the book will find a wide circle of students and readers among our young people especially, that by its aid they may be the better able to give a reason for the faith they hold.

These lectures make a spirited and thorough examination of the "fancies" of that very busy class of "agnostic evolutionists" now so earnest in their efforts to sap the foundations of Christian faith and banish a personal God from the universe.

Fuller's Complete Works. The complete Works of Rev. Andrew Fuller. With a Memoir of his Life. By Andrew Gunton Fuller. 3 vols. With a portrait on steel. Price, $9.00.

"Fuller's Works might, without any very remarkable impropriety, be designated an encyclopædia of polemic, doctrinal, and practical theology. With giant steps he traverses the whole empire of revelation, and of reason as its handmaid. He is the Bacon of Scripture. It is a library in itself. The Bible and these works will suffice to make any man a firstrate theologian." —Rev. Dr. Campbell, in the London Christian Witness.

We cannot know too much about the Bible, and certainly not the English Bible, the one book which in its English dress has had such a wonderful career. It is of this English Bible that Prof. Pattison tells us the story, in a manner as fascinating as that of a romance, and with a style which it is a delight to read. It is popular in style, and at the same time scholarly and accurate. It is illustrated, and has a good index.

Hours with a Sceptic. By Rev. D. W. Faunce, D. D. 12mo, 240 pp. Price, $1.00.

It will be found especially helpful to all who are desirous of increased knowledge of their faith and of the arguments by which to defend it.

How Christ Came to Church. The Pastor's Dream. A Spiritual Autobiography by A. J. Gordon, D. D., with The Life-story and the Dream as Interpreting the Man, by A. T. Pierson, D. D. 12mo, 147 pp. Price, 75 cents.

All know of the uniqueness of Dr. A. J. Gordon's ministry. It was far above the average in consecration and in results. The beginning of this fruitful ministry is attributed to the dream related in this book, and the results growing out of it constitute the biographical material gathered therein. All who know Dr. Gordon will want this book and others will, that they may know him.

Life of Jesus, The. By Rev. O. C. S. Wallace. 16mo, 192 pp. Price, 60 cents.

It has been the thought of the writer to present a manual that might lead up to the larger and more exhaustive works of Farrar, Geikie, Edersheim, and others. In this purpose Mr. Wallace has succeeded in a way to win great praise. The matter of the book appeared in a series of studies in the Baptist Union, the organ of the National Young People's Society. It is commended by that society to its constituency, and has been catalogued as a volume in the "Christian Culture Courses," recently established.

In every way a gem. It consists of a collection of passages, poetical and prose, from a wide range of authors, bearing upon the blessings of married life. The book is divided into six portions, with an ornamental sub-title page prefacing each, and suited to the pages following. Each page has an ornamental initial letter. It contains a new engraved marriage certificate of exceptional beauty. At the close of the book is space for a record of wedding guests. The book is printed on fine plate paper. It is bound in pure white with side stamp—title and spray of orange blossoms in silver. Pastors will find it superior to anything of the kind now in the market at the same price, and equal to any of the higher-priced books. Its cheapness, its beauty, its choice contents, will make it a prized and popular wedding souvenir, where it is desired to give more than the ordinary marriage certificate.

Notes of Sermons. By J. M. Pendleton, D. D. 12mo, 227 pp. Price, $1.00.

This volume contains outlines of seventy-five sermons, and affords a good view of the manner in which the author has been accustomed to analyze his subjects. The selection covers a variety of topics—some of the notes are more full, some merely outlines of his plan. They will be helpful to such young preachers as may know how to use them aright. If they are studied as examples of the mode of analyzing and presenting scriptural themes,—examples to aid in the development and presentation of themes of their own selection,—then their usefulness cannot be doubted.

Old Theology Restated in Sermons. By Henry H. Tucker, D. D. 12mo, 452 pp. Price, $2.00.

It tells us of the author, the date, the historical occasion, the leading topic or topics, the chief purpose, points of especial interest, relation to other books of the Bible, topics for special study, and general analyses of the several books of God's word. It is clear, comprehensive, and yet brought into brief compass.

Outline of Systematic Theology. By E. H. Johnson, D. D., and of Ecclesiology, by Henry G. Weston, D. D. 8vo, 410 pp. Price, $2.00.

"This book is precisely what its title suggests, an outline. At the same time, it is an outline so complete in its analysis, so specific and full in its statement as to be considerably more in effect than the word might seem to imply. It is really a masterpiece of condensation. Any minister may to great advantage use it as a basis in personal study and in a careful and studious going over once more the whole ground of biblical theology, however familiar all such subjects may even now seem to be."—The Standard.

In these two volumes, most tasteful and complete in their appearance, we have a few of the productions left by the great president of Rochester University. They cause one to regret that amid the drudgery of his office he could find so little time for the productions of his pen. Prof. Morey has done his work well, and has been the means of producing volumes which all the friends of Dr. Anderson will desire to possess.

In a singularly luminous and direct style Mr. Merrill tells us of the manuscripts of the Old and New Testaments from which our present perfect copies of the Scriptures are made. The work is quite full, and is scholarly as to the scope and nature of textual criticism. Mr. Merrill is fully qualified for this work, having given attention for years to this branch of study. A few years since he issued a book entitled "The Story of the Manuscripts." The present work, however, is entirely new, and presents all information respecting the manuscripts of the two Testaments up to the present date. It forms a splendid companion treatise to Prof. Pattison's "History of the English Bible," and is the pioneer along the line which that follows. Together they give a better and more intelligent treatment of the sources of knowledge and the various processes by which we have our present Bible than can be found in any other works now on the market.

Pentateuch, The. By Rev. A. J. Rowland, D. D. 16mo, 96 pp. Price, 50 cents.

This is the first of the series of Bible handbooks for which provision has been made by the Society. In an introduction, Dr. Rowland deals in a very just and scholarly way with the question of the higher criticism. He is appreciative of the scholarship arrayed under its banner, but holds to the "old paths" nevertheless, and moreover successfully defends his position. In analysis, in the citation of authorities, in the meeting of difficult questions, the book will be found of great value to our young people, and others who want to understand the matters with which it deals.

Plain Theology for Plain People. By C. O. Boothe, D. D. 12mo, 206 pp. Price, 90 cents.

This book came from a desire of the author to make plain for others what in current treatises had not been explained simply enough for himself. He felt that they are as far beyond their comprehension as they had been beyond his. With intelligence and industry, therefore, he has grouped the principal doctrines of our faith, and collated the Scripture proof-texts by which they are sustained. This volume does not profess to be complete, but the author does hope by its plain treatment of primary truths to influence some unreached by profounder treatises. It is the work of a colored minister, prepared for his own people especially; but others than they will be benefited by its study.

Preaching: its Ideal and Inner Life. By Thomas Armitage, D. D. 12mo, 264 pp. Price, $1.25.

The author treats of the origin of preaching; of Christ as the model. It is worthy of the profound and devout study of those now in the ministry, and of all expecting to enter it.

"In its scope and thought, style and thoroughness of treatment, this volume is fully worthy to stand beside any of the Yale series of lectures on preaching."—Christian Secretary.

The author was long a personal friend of the great Baptist preacher, and presents his life as seen in the pulpit, in the orphanage, in the college, and in his home. Mr. Spurgeon was pre-eminently a Baptist, a strong defender of the faith, which fact is not ignored in this biography. The author, the low price, and the superior mechanical features of the book, all commend it, and a large sale should be the result.

How Christ Came to Church. By A. J. Gordon, D. D. 16mo, about 160 pp. In press. Price, 25 cents.

The popularity of the above and the desire to disseminate good literature in opposition to the trashy, have led us to prepare this CHEAP EDITION. It is cheap only in price, however. The books are well printed on good paper, and neatly bound in CLOTH. They will be on sale on all newsstands and on the cars. Other volumes will be added to this edition as occasion may demand.

HOLIDAY AND GIFT BOOKS.

Illuminated binding. Illustrated. Fine paper. Suitable gifts at any season.

Christmas Week at Bigler's Mills. By Mrs. D. E. W. Spratt. Illustrated. Sq. 12mo. 78 pp. Price 75 cents.

Coronation of Love, The. By George Dana Boardman, D. D. Illustrated. Cloth. Square 8vo, 58 pp. Price, 75 cents.

This is one of Dr. Boardman's richest productions, and is bound in fitting ornamental style. In strength of grasp, in clearness of vision, in felicity of tone, and in exaltation of spirit, Dr. Boardman has left little to be desired in his treatment of the great "Charity chapter."

"Most attractively garbed in two shades of blue and gold, embodying a fragrant little tale, . . . through which purity of sentiment flows like a silver stream.—The Call, Philadelphia.

Daisy. By Marshall Saunders. Illustrated. Author of "Beautiful Joe." 12mo, 57 pp. Price, 75 cents.

This is a very sweet little story and one that will be read by the older folks as well as by the children. Miss Saunders has written a charming little household idyl, and it has been put into a beautiful dress.

From Hollow to Hilltop. By Mary Lowe Dickinson. 12mo. 52 pp. Illustrated. Illuminated cover. Price, 50 cents.

This is a short story, but with meaningfulness to which many a long one is a stranger. It has an illuminated cover, and is suitable for a gift book.

Niram. By Laisdell Mitchell, author of "Tony." Illuminated binding. Illustrated. Sq. 16mo, 75 pp. Price, 75 cents.

Very like Tony in his general characteristics. The hero, a crippled colored boy, sings his way into the heart of the kindly doctor, and will unquestionably touch a similar chord in the hearts of many readers.

Spring Blossoms. By Mary Lowe Dickinson. Illuminated binding. Illustrated. 12mo, 54 pp. Price, 75 cents.

"Spring Blossoms" is illustrative of the way a little child's winsome influence can unlock a hardened heart. Mrs. Dickinson's name is familiar to the women of the land. Her work as editor of the "Silver Cross," the organ of the "King's Daughters," has given her a reading constituency that is only limited by the number of the members of that organization.

"It is a quaint story, very attractively printed and illustrated."—The Call, Philadelphia.

A committee of the "New York and Brooklyn Association of Congregational Ministers" made the following report as to the best way to raise church revenues: 1. FACTS. (a) A small proportion of our churches are strictly self-supporting. (b) A radical wrong is that the pulpit popularity of the preacher is so fully relied on to increase the revenue. (c) Unchristian and spiritually unprofitable methods are often resorted to, to eke out revenue (fairs, etc.). 2. PRINCIPLES. (a) Money should be raised before it is expended. (b) The church is a morally responsible body to this end. (c) Individual ability is the measure of duty. 3. METHODS. (a) The principle of weekly offering, in some form, is by far the best method of realizing these ideas. (b) It has been historically the most successful. (c) Among all the systems to this end, which have obtained to any considerable acceptance, the Committee have examined FOURTEEN of the most excellent, and consider the weekly revenue system the best. It combines the advantages of all, with none of the usual disadvantages.

PUBLICATIONS OF OTHER PUBLISHERS.

This Catalogue contains only the Society's own publications. The Society, however, keeps in stock at headquarters, and at the several Branch Houses, a line of Theological, Standard, and Religious publications; also a very large supply of APPROVED Sunday-school books, selected from the lists of other publishers. These are approved only after personal and careful examination.

For reliable parties, the Society will order from any publisher in this country, or import from Europe, any work not kept in stock.

SCRIPTURES.

The Society publishes only a few editions of the Bible and New Testament; but it keeps constantly in stock a very full line of Bibles and New Testaments of all sizes, styles, and prices, selected from the lists of the American Bible Society, the British and Foreign Bible Society, and from the great Bible publishers in America and Europe. The Teachers' Bibles of the Oxford and International Editions are made a specialty. The sale of Bibles of all kinds constitutes a large part of our business.

THE SELECTION

Sunday-school Libraries.

The Society calls special attention to its catalogue of SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOOKS. Its own list now numbers about four hundred. These books are of superior excellence, are bound in a neat and substantial manner, printed on fine white paper, illustrated by numerous well-executed pictures, and are sold at as low prices as are any books of like quality. In addition to our own large and increasing list of publications, we are receiving the very latest and freshest books from about thirty other Sunday-school publishers.

It is no uncommon thing for schools to find, in selections made at bookstores, many books that teach Pedobaptism and kindred errors. This arises from the fact that it is impossible for committees to spend sufficient time, in selecting a library, to detect such books ; for often the error does not occupy more than a single paragraph—frequently only a line. Thousands of such books are now in Baptist Sunday-schools.

THE DANGER AVOIDED.

By sending to either of the Society's Depositories, schools are certainly guarded against the liability of getting Pedobaptist books, as the Society for many years has had all the books of other Sunday-school publishers carefully examined.

SELECTING LIBRARIES.

We give especial attention to the selection of Libraries. Sunday-school workers of large experience devote their time to this work. They are better prepared to make a good selection than is a committee, from catalogues, or even from a hasty examination of the books at stores.

With your money, send an alphabetical list of the books now in your library, and indicate the kind of books you wish ; and we will make a selection and GUARANTEE IT IN ALL RESPECTS SATISFACTORY.

No books conflicting with our principles as Baptists will be received by schools entrusting the Society with the selection of their libraries. This protection is worth more than money.

LABELS AND NUMBERS.

When desired, we will furnish, without charge, for each book, a neatly printed label and number.

AIDS FOR TEACHERS.

Our Sunday-school Work, and how to Do It. By Rev. C. R. Blackall. 18mo, 50 pp. Paper. Price, 5 cents. New Edition, revised and enlarged.

A vast amount of very excellent suggestions is here found, of which every Sunday-school worker should avail himself.

LIBRARY BOOKS.

Alden Church. By Sophie Bronson Titterington. Illustrated. 12mo, 268 pp. Price, $1.00.

There are churches running in unprogressive grooves, just as Alden Church was when John Whitcomb came to it. This book ought to be in the hands of all those having the responsibility for such. It will give them a longing for a more excellent way, and will help them to it. Indeed, no one can read it without a higher conception of Christian service. It is not for the young alone, but for all who are thoughtful for the church of Christ, or ought to be so.

The scene of this story is Egypt and the Peninsula of Sinai; the time, that immediately preceding the return of Moses with Aaron to Egypt, and the subsequent exodus and sojourn of the Israelites in the neighborhood of Mount Sinai. The whole narrative is well adapted to make the reader familiar with the history of the period, and with the Egyptians, the Israelites, the Amalekites, and the Midianites, the nations which were the actors in that memorable series of events.

This is an interesting narrative, with many handsome illustrations, and is well adapted to give the young readers distinct ideas in regard to the great field open to Christian labor.

Ashmeads, The; or, Scenes in Northern Europe. By E. P. A. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

There is in this narrative a great variety of character, incident, and scenery depicted, with great accuracy and peculiar sprightliness. The author saw the fields and the work which are here described, and many doubtless will learn, from what is herein presented, to look on the countries, the people, and the work of the Baptists there with a deeper and more intelligent interest.

Aunt Clara's School. By Mrs. M. Jeanie Mallary. Illustrated. 12mo, 250 pp. Price, $1.00.

The history of the school is well told, and full of interest. It was emphatically a Christian school, and its fruits were its best advertisement.

Beautiful Joe. An Autobiography. By Marshall Saunders. 12mo, 304 pp., illustrated. Price, 60 cents. 60,000 COPIES SOLD.

The story took one of the prizes recently offered by the American Humane Society for the best treatment of the wrongs of animals,—Mr. Hezekiah Butterworth, Rev. Philip S. Moxom, D. D., and Dr. Edward Everett Hale, being the committee of examiners. The prize itself was declined by the author, and the American Baptist Publication Society secured the work for publication. It is written in the most delightful style, showing on every page the intensest sympathy and love for the animal kingdom. Many incidents are introduced that will make it of absorbing interest to the boys. It will delight as well as instruct, and its influence will be most salutary in securing more thoughtful and humane treatment for dumb animals.

Beautiful Ladder, The; or, The Two Students. By Rev. Sidney Dyer, Ph. D. Illustrated. 12mo, 348 pp. Price, $1.50.

"In this age of trashy stories, it is refreshing to get hold of a book so full of wisdom, and yet so engaging."—Christian Secretary.

Ben Ammi: The Armorer's Son. A story of the days of Ahaz and Hezekiah. By Rev. Edwin McMinn. Illustrated. 12mo, 315 pp. Price, $1.25.

The author has made a readable and interesting book that will bring that long-past age impressively near to the minds of the young people and quicken their interest in Old Testament History.

Bert Lloyd's Boyhood. By J. Macdonald Oxley. Illustrated. 12mo, 347 pp. Price, $1.50.

This is an exceedingly well-written story. Bert, the hero of the story, is a real, live boy. He is a good boy too, and lives; thus disproving the adage that "good boys all die young." The story carries him through two preparatory schools, leads him naturally into the church and religious work, and leaves him a matriculate in the provincial university. The book presents an excellent ideal to our boys.

Black Diamonds; or, The Curiosities of Coal. By Rev. Sidney Dyer, Ph. D. 12mo, 320 pp. Price, $1.50.

The book is a treasure house of pleasing information concerning that department of science which has to do with every-day life. Profusely illustrated and illuminated.

Black Forge Mills, The; or, Up the King's Highway. By Rev. W. P. Chipman. Illustrated. 12mo, 368 pp. Price, $1.50.

The principal character of this story, Ray Branford, grew out of the unfavorable conditions of factory life into an honored position in the ministry of Jesus Christ. Amid all the experiences of growth and active service, he is a strong, true, manly Christian. This is not a book for children alone. It is for the mature as well; and to old and young alike, it ought to be an inspiration.

Block House on the Shore. Translated from the German of W. T. Henninges. By Mary E. Ireland. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is the story of the life and influence of a German who was wrecked on one of our great lakes, and was rescued by a family, to the members of which he became of great help. The story is well told. It is thoroughly evangelical in tone and practical in its teachings. The unfolding of the various incidents too is well brought out.

Boys and Birds; or, Miss Truat's Mission. By Rev. Sidney Dyer, Ph. D. Illustrated. 12mo, 414 pp. Price, $1.75.

This is another of that attractive and useful series of books which the Society has been making special effort to prepare—books which will lead the young to look out with intelligent interest upon the works of God, to recognize in them his wisdom and goodness and glory. It is profusely and elegantly illustrated.

Breaker-Boy of Lansford, The. By Rev. Edwin McMinn. Illustrated. 12mo, 288 pp. Price, $1.25.

The life of the miner is well depicted, and the progress of the boy, who began life as one of the lads who pick the slate from the coal as it comes from the breakers, is full of interesting incidents.

Bushkill Social. By Rev. Edward McMinn. 12mo, 320 pp. Price, $1.25.

Cape Ann Chronicle, A. By Mildred Scarborough. 12mo. Illustrated. In press. Price 90 cents.

Well written. Wholesome. Interesting. The description of life and the scenery at the Cape is most excellent, and the struggle and triumph of Lilly will command the interest and sympathy of all who read.

Carol Olmsted. By Mrs. M. E. Bradley. Illustrated. 12mo, 237 pp. Price, $1.00.

Carrie Hamilton; or, The Beauty of True Religion. By Mrs. C. W. Denison. Illustrated. 12mo, 296 pp. Price, $1.00.

A story crowded with all the forms of interest, pathos, and instructive example. It is a gem.

'We pronounce this an admirable book. We cannot have too many of such books."—Christian Times.

Charlotte's Friend; or, Evil Communications Corrupt Good Manners. By Mrs. M. E. Bradley. Illustrated. 12mo, 255 pp. Price, $1.00.

This work shows how "evil communications corrupt good manners," and will, no doubt, lead many to be careful to guard against the influence of associates who would lead them away from paths of truth and righteousness.

Changed Life, A. By Mary A. Denison. Illustrated. 12mo, 192 pp. Cloth. Price, 90 cents.

"A very interesting story concerning a little girl who grows up to womanhood in the story. The title, 'A Changed Life,' is the key to the book."—Journal and Messenger.

Charles Montgomery. By Mary A. Denison. Illustrated. 12mo, 184 pp. Price, 90 cents.

This book is a fresh telling of an old story. It is that of the efficacy and power of an earnest Christian life and example. The action of the story is quite varied. No one can peruse it without being made more thoughtful and the better for it, and to feel that belief is better than doubt, and the service of God than worldly gain.

Chester Girls. By Rose Hartwick Thorpe. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

Nina Bruce and a cousin about her own age are the Chester Girls whose subsequent history this pleasing narrative gives to us. Nina was a devout and steadfast Christian, and we see how her Christian influence gradually made itself felt in the family until even the skeptical grandfather was made to feel its power.

This is a very sweet, touching narrative, abounding in incident, and depicting a great variety of characters with a very graphic pen.

Christ's Cadets. By Mrs. Ada C. Chaplin. A prize book. Illustrated. 12mo, 437 pp. Price, $1.50.

This narrative traces the course of a number of young believers from their entrance on their Christian course. It points out helps and hindrances, and shows how some advance, and why some fall away. It is an excellent book for young Christians. It not only took the prize of three hundred dollars, but really is a prize.

Chryssie. By Mattie Dyer Britts. Illustrated. 12mo, 287 pp. Price, $1.25.

Her progress, from satisfaction to disgust with some phases of city life, and at length to faith in Christ and rest in him, is well told, and will prove instructive to others in similar circumstances.

Clarence and Corinne; or, God's Way. By Mrs. A. E. Johnson. 12mo, 187 pp. Price, 90 cents.

This book follows two poor orphans through their struggles until they emerge from discouragements, and are united in the home of kind friends who adopt them. At more than one point in the recital, as well as in the conclusion, we learn that God's ways are not as our ways, but are far better.

Company A, Kent's Brigade. By Mrs. R. M. Wilbur. Illustrated. 12mo, 208 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is the story of a company of boys in and about a country town. The story of all they did is well told in this volume, and the influence upon those who read it cannot well be otherwise than good. Other boys, whether organized as these or not, can do as these did.

Coster Grew; or, The Young Machinist. By Rev. George B. Taylor, D. D. Illustrated. 12mo, 220 pp. Price, $1.00.

A book for boys, which will be certain to interest and profit them. The narrative is true to the life, the style perfectly transparent.

Cosy's Resolve; or, My Brother's Keeper. By Mattie Dyer Britts. Illustrated. 12mo, 320 pp. Price, $1.25.

The events in this spirited narrative all center around the Watson children. Two of them, Albert and Aleck, young men, twins, are first introduced to us after finishing their studies at a distant college. The third was Cora, or, as she was generally called, Cosy, somewhat younger than her two brothers; and a firm Christian resolve that she made, and the happy results that followed, make a narrative that is full of interest and abounding in useful suggestions.

Cousin Mercy's Idea; or, The Heavenly Wardrobe. By Mrs. Ada C. Chaplin. Illustrated. 12mo, 416 pp. Price, $1.50.

It is an interesting story of a New England manufacturing town, and is especially noticeable for the aptness of the author in linking lessons for the Christian life with the common incidents of ordinary life.

Crystal Club, The. By Rev. Edwin McMinn. 12mo, 300 pp. Price, $1.25.

This volume has been published as an effort in the direction of teaching something worth remembering. It aims to put some of the facts of science into a readable form. It gives a glimpse of "world building" in these annals of the Crystal Club, whose members are introduced to us as boys, and bid us farewell as men. Mr. McMinn has given us a readable book.

Cullworth: A Story of the Rocky Mountains. By Miss L. Bates. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

In Cullworth, one of the towns that sprang up in a night, the scene of this story is laid. It centers around the pastor of the Baptist church and his few co-laborers.

Curiosities of Heat. By Rev. Lyman B. Tefft, A. M. Illustrated. 12mo, 336 pp. Price, $1.25.

The numerous scientific expositions throughout the book are blended with records of prayerful and successful endeavor to check infidelity and to turn souls to righteousness.

It is a book whose trend is toward a very lofty ideal, and should be found in every Sunday-school library. Esther Lawrence, the heroine of the story, is the product of stern experience. Reared in ease, by misfortune she was cast upon her own resources. She splendidly met the emergency. Whether as teacher, or as mistress of the home of Judge Lindsey, whose wife she became, she was her own true, strong, bright self, forgetful of herself and devoted to others.

By that time the mission work had outlived the contempt and sneers of the scoffers, and had impressed multitudes in India and the mother country with a lively sense of the importance and grandeur of the work that had its humble origin in "The Heart of England."

Fortune Gulch. A story of the mines. By Sophie Bronson Titterington. Illustrated. 12mo, 176 pp. Price, 90 cents.

The comparative freshness of the scenes described, the grandeur of the mountain scenery forming the setting of most of the story, the pathetic interest of many of its incidents, the wondrous influence of purity amid viciousness, and the power of Jesus Christ to reach and raise the most godless, will combine to give this story more than an average place amid our Sunday-school literature.

Good Ship Gryphon, The; or, On the Right Tack. By J. Macdonald Oxley. Illustrated. 12mo, 248 pp. Price, $1.00.

As a writer of books for boys, Macdonald Oxley occupies a very high place. In the present work the author has struck out on a new track. He has given us a sea story which is as correct in its use of nautical terms as it is breezy in its descriptions. In the hero we have a thoroughly healthy and natural boy. He is loyal to his flag, true to his duty, and reverent toward God, and no boy can keep company with him under the guidance of Mr. Oxley and not be helped as well as interested. A good map of the West Indies will aid our boys in fixing the locations mentioned.

These children were early taught to study carefully, one by one, the petitions of the Lord's Prayer. They found it was much easier to say the various petitions that are embraced in the prayer than to do them. The methods by which the prayer was explained, and the steps by which the import of its different parts was made plain to the understanding and the heart deeply interested in them, are traced in a very interesting manner.

How the Gardens Grew. By Sarah M. Williamson. Illustrated. 12mo, 173 pp. Price, 90 cents.

The gardens of this story are not those of the kitchen or the lawn, but of human hearts and lives. Our gardens then are the well-drawn characters of the book. How the lofty struggled with the low, the plants with the weeds in these and in the fields on which they were put, and how the former won the victory in the end, as it will do everywhere, is very well told. The style of the story is bright and vivid, gives evidence of reading and thought on the part of the author, and to many of its readers the incidents and scenes drawn from California life will be doubtless entirely new. We heartily commend the volume to Sunday-schools, and especially to the maturer young people.

The scene of this story is laid in Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The narrative opens in those eventful years that preceded the Revolutionary War. The mutterings that foretold its approach were already heard, and were waxing ever louder and louder. The work is, however, not a history, but the story of the Fythe family, whose members were on friendly terms with those who were doing a good work whose full results they could only conjecture.

Transferred into the warm, sympathetic atmosphere pervading the home of a cousin of her mistress, she bloomed out into a beautiful and helpful girl, and at last was restored to her father, and became a favorite of fortune. The story is very impressive as to the influence upon us of our surroundings.

Nell and Nan are sisters, with the restlessness common to young life. They want something to do; something in the line of missionary work; something that shall be helpful to somebody. But they begin, as most people do, by looking too far off. They find out at last that home is good missionary soil, and that to help mother is to serve the Lord. The story is well told.

Nobody's Boy; or, How Good Goes On. By Mattie Dyer Britts. Illustrated. 12mo, 250 pp. Price, $1.00.

No boy could well begin lower than did Joe—"Nobody's Boy." The path of his upward career was honorable and upright all the way through; and the goal attained was one within the reach of any one's earnest striving. In his prosperity the lessons of his adversity are not forgotten. The book is thoroughly healthful and stimulating.

Ocean Gardens and Palaces; or, The Tent on the Beach. By Rev. Sidney Dyer, Ph. D. Illustrated. 12mo, 304 pp. Price, $1.50.

The author has here made the ocean unfold some of the sublimest revelations of creative energy; and the well-written pages will lead the mind to a devout contemplation of nature's God. The book is beautiful, interesting, and instructive. Its illustrations compare favorably with those of any book for the young published in this country or in Europe.

Old Academy, The; or, How the Church was Rebuilt. By Kate Neely Festetits. Illustrated. 12mo, 288 pp. Price, $1.25.

There are natures exceptionally winning. So bright are they, so natural, so fearless, that all irresistibly pay court to them and yield to their influence. Such a nature is Lulu Somerville's. There is not a particle of the "goody-goody" character about her, but all is wholesome, bright, breezy, and it will do any young girl good to come in contact with her.

Old Bristol. A story of the early English Baptists. By L. M. N. Illustrated. 12mo, 351 pp. Price, $1.50.

Old Bristol, in England, was a center of Baptist influence as far back as the days of Cromwell and Charles II. In this memorable period the scene of this charming book is laid. It is a graphic and truthful presentation of life, and especially of life among the Baptists, at that day. It is a book of very great value. The struggles of the early English Baptists are graphically depicted, and no one can read this rehearsal of them without being instructed as well as interested.

Olive's Expiation. By Mildred Scarborough. Illustrated. 12mo, 236 pp. Price, $1.00.

We are sure the reader will be disappointed neither in the ability of the author, nor in the interest which will be awakened and sustained to the very end of the volume.

Open Ways. Indolence, Crime, Industry. By Rev. T. L. Baily. Illustrated. 12mo, 304 pp. Price, $1.25.

The title of this book tells us what it is. Before each one "open ways" are placed which he may enter and on which he may work. Timothy Jones in this book illustrates this fact, and shows the result in his career and character. The story opens amid the Allegheny Mountains, carries us through some pioneer scenes of the West, and leaves us on the Pacific coast. There is a good deal of freshness in the descriptive portions, and we are shown clearly the good to which each path leads.

Overruled; or, The Story of Mary Lane. By Mildred Scarborough. Illustrated. 12mo, 252 pp. Price, $1.00.

Circumstances have a strange power in shaping our career. And yet they themselves are shaped and controlled by God. This is the lesson of this book. Tangled threads are straightened, and cross purposes cease, and Elizabeth Lee and Mary Lane, the heroines of the story, are both the better for the way in which God leads them.

Palm Tree Club, The; or, How Three Girls Grew. By Mrs. R. M. Wilbur. Illustrated. 12mo, 224 pp. Price, $1.00.

Parting at the Burnside, The. By Lydia L. Rouse. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

A story of the times of the Covenanters' persecution in Scotland. Many lessons can be learned from this picture of those dark days, but the principal is that when earthly props failed, the divine support became the more strongly grasped.

Patty Deane. An old-fashioned story. By Mrs. R. M. Wilbur. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is a story of earnest, patient effort, whereby an orphan girl secured an education. She did not spend her time in bemoaning her lot, but improved her opportunities; and God helped her, for she helped herself.

Pearl Hanford's Summer. By May F. McKean. Illustrated. 12mo, 253 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is a story of a young Christian girl who, for the first time in her life, spends a summer away from home. The temptations with which she meets, and the influence which they exert on her Christian life, are well described. Pearl's temptations are not those of gay and fashionable life. This makes the story the more valuable, showing, as it does, that even the slight change may cause neglect of prayer and of reading the word of God, and thus lead to loss of spirituality and of Christian earnestness.

Pins and Cords. By Minnie E. Kenney. Illustrated. 12mo, 268 pp. Price, $1.00.

Hope Lindsey, the principal character of this book, unconsciously became very selfish. A providential change as to a proposed trip changed the whole current of her life. It made her the light of her home, and helpful everywhere.

Priscilla; or, Trials for the Truth. A historical tale of the Puritans and the Baptists. By Joseph Banvard. Illustrated. 12mo, 400 pp. Price, $1.50.

This thrilling tale is designed to bring to the minds of the present generation the sufferings which our Baptist ancestors, two hundred years ago, endured, even on New England soil, in defense of their principles of religious liberty and scriptural practice.

Rachel Hastings' Girls. By Sophie Bronson Titterington. Illustrated. 12mo, 300 pp. Price, $1.25.

Rachel Hastings proposed that her Sunday-school class should spend a part of the weekly afternoon in examining the condition of women in Brahmanism, Buddhism, and Mohammedanism. The growth of interest among the girls, and among the families to which they belonged, is well depicted.

Rana; or, Happy Days. By Mrs. M. O. Foster. Illustrated. 12mo, 251 pp. Price, $1.00.

Riches Without Wings. By Mrs. Mattie Dyer Britts. Illustrated. 12mo, 288 pp. Price, $1.25.

This is the story of three young women, upon whom a triple misfortune falls at once. Instead of sitting down amid the ruins of the past, dressed in sackcloth, they turned their faces toward the future, and let hope shine upon them. It is a story of sturdy faith, and "brave endeavor," and loyalty to principle.

Roger's Travels; or, Scenes and Incidents Connected with the Journey of Two Boys in a Foreign Land. By Rev. E. Payson Hammond. Illustrated. 12mo, 156 pp. Price, 75 cents.

Rosalie Wynnton; or, Link to Link. By Mrs. M. Jeanie Mallary. Illustrated. 12mo, 312 pp. Price, $1.25.

Rosalie was early orphaned, and finds a home with her uncle in New York. He is worldly, and his family fashionable and uncongenial. There her character shines forth as gold. Her patience and sweetness of character overcame all obstacles. The book cannot be otherwise than healthful and helpful.

Rolled Away. By Lydia L. Rouse. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is a story of domestic life. Eleanor and Ruth Clifton are the daughters of a physician, to whom another daughter, a half-sister to the others, is born. Eleanor, the oldest daughter, turns against her, and after the death of her parents and her own sister, drives her from her home and plots against her in every possible way. Helen overcomes the obstacles, however, and the hard burden of her life is rolled away. She is privileged to forgive Eleanor, and her own daughter ministers to her lonely and desolate old age.

Roy Kennedy's Reward; or, The Way to Win. By Mattie Dyer Britts. Illustrated. 12mo, 250 pp. Price, $1.00.

Nothing is more manly than a manly boy. Nothing imparts to you a more healthful impulse, nothing touches you more quickly with the inspiration of hope. Such a manly boy we have in Roy Kennedy, the hero of this story. In the quiet motherliness of Mrs. Kennedy, in the touches here and there on social questions and church work, and in the pretty little romance of Jenny and Captain Ray,—but we have almost given away what the reader had better find out for himself. All will be interested in the book.

Rushlights. By Mattie Dyer Britts. Illustrated. 12mo, 252 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is a pleasant little story of life in a country school district, and is confined in the main to the limits of a single school year. The course of events is well unfolded by Mrs. Britts, and the influence of one unselfish, conscientious, and thoroughly devoted Christian life is well brought out. The book is full of lessons for the young, and will make a welcome addition to the lists of any of our Sunday-school libraries.

Southern Cousin, The. By Annie Weston Whitney. Illustrated. 12mo, 282 pp. Price, $1.25.

The lesson of the book is, that one's true pleasure, as well as true mission, in life is to be found in the helping of others.

Stacey's Room; or, One Year's Building. By Sarah Endicott Ober. Illustrated. 12mo, 224 pp. Price, $1.00.

Stacey's fertile brain devises many articles of use and beauty which can be formed out of old things that have been thrown aside, or out of new ones that can be bought for a trifle.

Story of the Karen Mission in Bassein. By L. P. Brockett, M. D. 12mo, 160 pp. Price, 75 cents.

Stranger in His Gates. By Mrs. Mary E. Bradley. Illustrated. 12mo, 384 pp. Price, $1.50.

Few of the books which have been suggested by some incident connected with our great war can vie with this in the interest of the story, or the beauty of the style.

Step by Step; or, The Lord's Leading. By Alice T. Pickford. 12mo, 192 pp. Price, 90 cents.

The special aim of this little work is to present clearly before the mind of young Christians the truth so graciously taught in the Scriptures, and so aptly expressed in the words of the familiar hymn:

He leadeth me! oh, blessed thought!
Oh words with heavenly comfort fraught!
Whate'er I do, where'er I be,
Still 'tis God's hand that leadeth me.

Summer Brother, A. By Sophie Bronson Titterington. Illustrated. 12mo, 192 pp. Price, 90 cents.

A recital of some of the good deeds done by that worthy enterprise, the Fresh Air Fund. The story is well told, and has a charm and brightness about it that will not only interest the reader, but will create in him a desire to do something for some of the little suffering waifs crowded together in the heated centers of our large cities.

Sunday School Rink. By May Kingston. Illustrated. 12mo, 220 pp. Price, $1.00.

This book is an earnest protest against the high pressure, secular, wasteful methods so often employed by our churches and schools. It antagonizes a phase of religious activity which many deplore.

Tangled Threads; or, Linda's Awakening. By Mildred Scarborough. Illustrated. 12mo, 192 pp. Price, 90 cents.

This is the story of an orphan girl who from lack of strength and principle was led into a course of wrong-doing and concealment. This caused much trouble to her friends and suffering to herself. At last, by the sea in the early morning, her sin flashed upon her, and she was awakened to its enormity. She confessed it all, and her life grew strong and true.

Thanksgiving at Earle's Rock. By Mary E. Bradley. Illustrated. 12mo, 288 pp. Price, $1.25.

The plan of this story is thoroughly ingenious and well worked out. Our young readers especially will find the story of unusual interest, and in the episode of the little weaver girl who carried all her tangles to the King, they will find the principle that will be of wonderful help through the whole of life.

Theodosia Ernest; or, The Heroine of Faith. Illustrated. 12mo, 459 pp. Price, $1.00.

The story of ten evenings spent in diligent study is embodied in as many chapters, and furnishes an entertaining, truthful, and exhaustive treatment of the baptismal controversy.

Thread of Gold, A. By Lucie Dayton Phillips. Illustrated. 12mo, 254 pp. Price, $1.00.

The thread of gold in this story is formed by the character, winsomeness, and Christian consecration of Leslie Hope, its principal figure. Mrs. Phillips is not unknown to our readers as a writer of short stories, and in this her first longer venture she has given us a thoroughly wholesome, Christian book, which no young girl especially can read without profit.

Three Girls and Their Motto. By E. L. S. E. Author of "Walter Harley's Conquest." 12mo, 200 pp. Price, $1.00.

The story is an excellent one, especially for young Christian girls. It is most helpful in its tone and teaching, and to our mind is more true to the New Testament idea of the kingdom of Christ, which is "righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost," than are they who teach us that the kingdom is still in the future, and that we must look for its revelation by-and-by in all the pomp and circumstance of material splendor.

Three Roman Girls. A Tale of the Catacombs. By Mary E. Bamford. Illustrated. 12mo, 252 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is a story of Rome during the reign of Diocletian, and connected with the terrible persecution of Christians with which his name is associated. The volume will be most serviceable, not only in giving a vivid picture of the life of those early days, but also in teaching what at times it has cost to be a Christian.

Through the Bush; or, New South Wales of Fifty Years Ago. By Mrs. Dora E. W. Spratt. Illustrated. 12mo, 320 pp. Price, $1.25.

The main interest of the book is found in its account of a trip from Sydney to Goulburn, far in the interior, which was made by our party. This account, introducing us in this way to the mode of life in that far off land, its aborigines, its exceptional vegetation, and its strange and wondrous animals, is full of entertainment, and as full of instruction. Mrs. Spratt has given us a thoroughly readable and healthful narrative, which will be popular not only with boys, but also with older people.

To-Day and To-Morrow. By Mattie Dyer Britts. 12mo, 192 pp. Price, 90 cents.

This is a story dealing in the main with a group of young people living in and about a country town in one of our Western States. They were companions in social, school, and afterward in church life, being converted in a meeting held by the pastor. The chronicle of the sayings and doings and development of this group of young people is a thoroughly good one, and will prove of interest to our young readers.

True to the End. By Henry S. Burrage, D. D. Illustrated. 12mo, 192 pp. Price, 90 cents.

Turning Points; or, The Boys of Dr. Starbrook's School. By Miss Fannie Hooker. Illustrated. 12mo, 420 pp. Price, $1.50.

This is a very spirited and wholesome story of boy life in a boarding-school. Boys, whether in school or in other places, may learn profitable lessons from the narrative, while it cannot fail to interest those who have sent out loved sons to live and move in similar scenes. It has, also, salutary suggestions to parents and teachers.

Turtleback Light. A story of influence. By Mrs. R. M. Wilbur. Illustrated. 12mo, 239 pp. Price, $1.00.

Mrs. Marshall, a wealthy lady, in spending a summer on Turtleback Island on the coast of Maine, formed an acquaintance with Elsa and Kitty, the one the daughter of the lighthouse keeper and the other of a near neighbor, and took them with her when she returned, to render service in her home. The book presents a very pleasant picture of domestic life. These girls are Americans, educated to a good degree, and presenting a very different type of domestic servant from that to which for the most part we are accustomed nowadays.

Unknown Paths; or, Lorrie's Guardians. By Mary E. Bradley. Illustrated. 12mo, 320 pp. Price, $1.25.

Lorrie Graham was a young orphan girl, living with her grandfather and her Aunt Huldah. It was not a pleasant home; for while there was no lack of ordinary comforts, there were few manifestations of the affection of her relative for the orphan girl. But at length her heart was drawn toward the Lord. By paths which were to her all unknown she was led onward, and a new life was opened to her.

Up Among the Ice Floes. By J. Macdonald Oxley. Illustrated. 12mo, 250 pp. Price, $1.00.

This is another story by the author of "Bert Lloyd's Boyhood." All who read that will with joy hail this. It is not so much a story as it is an account of a voyage up into the frozen regions of the North. Most boys, we are sure, will pronounce it better than the average story; and while with a yawn they might drop that, if allowed they will sit up at night to read this.

Up Hill; or, Paul Sutherland's Progress. By Mrs. J. C. Yule. Illustrated. 12mo, 416 pp. Price, $1.50.

Paul was a weakly and exceedingly sensitive child, whose father was ill, and by no means careful to deal kindly, gently, and lovingly with the boy. Steady adherence to principle was early manifested; then came real Christian principle to rule his varied life, and the result was an earnest, diligent, useful Christian life.

Upshur Hall; or, the Power of Influence. By Dorothy Holroyd. Illustrated. 12mo, 256 pp. Price, $1.00.

Walter Harley's Conquest. By E. L. S. E. Illustrated. 12mo, 240 pp. Price, $1.00.

Walter Harley wants to be a hero. He wants something to do; but he wants it great and grand. Beneath the influence of an older and wiser cousin, he was led to modify his thought and his conception of the realm in which the heroic might be realized. He was made to see that it lay in himself, and in his home, and in his relationship to his school fellows and others.

Ways That Win: A Tale of a Year. By Mrs. Caroline Starr Morgan. Illustrated. 12mo, 352 pp. Price, $1.50.

This story tells us of the work of a mission band, composed of girls and boys. With all the enthusiasm of their young natures, they devote themselves to the work they have proposed. They earn money, the girls by sewing and the boys by what they can do, and a fair proportion goes into the missionary treasury. Their enthusiasm is contagious.

Way Upward, The. By Mrs. Retta Andrews Pettit. Illustrated. 12mo, 304 pp. Price, $1.25.

The spirit of the book is excellent, and all who read it will see that the way upward will be determined by our using the world and not abusing it, and by a loving, faithful service of Him whose own feet walked therein. It will be seen too, that this upward way is the way of peace, and that in religion no more than in life can one successfully traverse two paths.

What a Girl Can Do. By Miss L. Bates. Illustrated. 12mo, 312 pp. Price, $1.25.

This is a very suggestive story, pointing out what may be done in putting a stop to the fashionable wine drinking that prevails in numerous polite circles.

Whatsoever; or, The Young Stalwarts. By Mrs. R. M. Wilbur. Illustrated. 12mo, 315 pp. Price, $1.25.

A narrative of life in New England, whose aim is to impress the importance of prompt cheerfulness in doing whatsoever the Lord has commanded.

While Lucy Kept House. By Mrs. Mary E. Bradley. Illustrated. 12mo, 316 pp. Price, $1.25.

Wilbert Eldred; or, Is it Well With the Child? By Rev. D. F. Leach. Illustrated. 12mo, 348 pp. Price, $1.25.

The scene of this narrative is in a Dutch village in Eastern New York. Wilbert Eldred was a child nearly four years old. The little boy died; and, to the great grief of some of the members of the Lutheran Church, died unchristened. The death and funeral sermon led to earnest discussion in the village, both private and public. The arguments for and against the sacramental efficacy of baptism were warmly discussed. The result was, that at length the father and mother of Wilbert were baptized, with several others.

Wonders of Insect Life. By Prof. J. E. Willet. 12mo, 320 pp. Price, $1.75.

This is the volume for which a prize of $500 was paid, and the first of a series on the wonders of creative wisdom and goodness issued by the Society. It is a book of absorbing interest.

Year at Dangerfield, A. By Kate Neely Festetits. Illustrated. 12mo, 288 pp. Price, 1.25.

A charming story of the good times of a rosebud of a girl among a host of young cadets. There is some sadness for a background, but also plenty of fun and brightness. It will be especially grateful to boys.

CATECHISMS.

Baptist Catechism. A Brief Instruction in the Principles of the Christian Religion. By Benjamin Keach. Revised Edition. 18mo, 36 pp. Price, paper cover, 5 cents.

The ancient Catechism drawn up on the plan of the Assembly's Shorter Catechism, and modified to express clearer views of the New Testament ordinances, has been in use for nearly two centuries in the Baptist families of Great Britain and the United States. The present edition is in large type, without references, for the use of the youngest children.

Baptist Catechism. A Brief Instruction in the Principles of the Christian Religion. By Benjamin Keach. 18mo, 32 pp. Price, paper, 5 cents.

This is the same work as the preceding, in somewhat closer type, with the References to Scripture Proofs, for the use of more advanced children.

Baptist Catechism, The. 31 pp. Price, 5 cents. Published also in German and Spanish.

The above Catechism is the result of a prize, offered by the Society for the best work of this kind that could be produced. Of the very many offered, this, by Rev. Charles Keyser, was chosen. It was revised by an able committee, and we find it most clearly and forcibly defining our denominational doctrines. It utters no uncertain sound, and refers to Scripture to uphold every answer. The best Catechism in the denomination.

The most intensely practical thought in the lesson, stated in a form likely to catch the attention and touch the conscience. 4. Home Searchings, or points to be searched out in the Bible during the week. 5. Daily Manna—a carefully selected verse for each day in the week, following out some one heart thought of the lesson; thus carrying it literally into everyday life. 6. Blanks to be filled up—in which either book, chapter, or verse is omitted, that the pupil may find the place in the Bible and fill up the space left blank with the proper chapter and verse. 7. Illustrative Picture. This is a distinctive feature, designed as a key to open the meaning of the lesson; to point and impress through the eye some great truth, and connect it in the mind of the pupil with some familiar scene or object.

Baptism Discovered Plainly and Faithfully According to the Word of God. By John Norcott. A new edition corrected by Charles Haddon Spurgeon. 18mo, 69 pp. Price, 5 cents.

Mr. Spurgeon tells us in his preface that this discussion on an old but ever present subject comes to us from an English Baptist who was an exile for his faith in Holland more than two hundred years ago. It has all the quaintness of the period, and scripturalness too.

If you have any doubts as to the ancient and unquestioned mode of Baptism, get this little book and read it carefully

Corner-stones of a Baptist Church. By Alvah S. Hobart, D. D. 16mo, 26 pp. Leatherette. Price, 5 cents.

This pamphlet contains some familiar talks which Dr. Hobart gave to his own young people. The corner-stones are: The Church for Christians only; We Become Children of God by Faith in Jesus; the Bible a Finished Authority; The Independence of the Churches. It will be seen that the distinctive views of Baptists are comprised by these topics. The discussion of them is thoroughly interesting, and that they may be the better utilized for study, a list of questions is appended.

Defence of Restricted Communion, A. Rev. S. Remington. 18mo, 72 pp. Price, 5 cents.

The object of this book is to show the real point of difference in regard to what Pedobaptists are pleased to call "close communion"—to show that they themselves are not "open communionists," and could not so exist and maintain church order; also to vindicate Baptists as being scriptural in their practice.

Duty of Baptists to Teach Their Distinctive Views. By John A. Broadus, D. D., LL. D. 18mo, 36 pp. Price, 5 cents.

Married Life. A Blessing to the Truly Married. Arranged by Mrs. Dora E. W. Spratt. 16mo, 64 pp. Price, 50 cents.

In every way a gem. It consists of a collection of passages, poetical and prose, from a wide range of authors, bearing upon the blessings of married life. The book is divided into six portions, with an ornamental sub-title page prefacing each, and suited to the pages following. Each page has an ornamental initial letter. It contains a new engraved marriage certificate of exceptional beauty. At the close of the book is space for a record of wedding guests. The book is printed on fine plate paper. It is bound in pure white with side stamp—title and spray of orange blossoms in silver. Pastors will find it superior to anything of the kind now in the market at the same price, and equal to any of the higher priced books. Its cheapness, its beauty, its choice contents, will make it a prized and popular wedding souvenir, where it is desired to give more than the ordinary marriage certificate.

dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son:

23 That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life.

25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself;

27 And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.

28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,

29 And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.

30 I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.

31 If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true.

32 ¶ There is another that beareth witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.

33 Ye sent unto John, and he bare witness unto the truth.

34 But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye might be saved.

35 He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.

36 ¶ But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.

37 And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape.

38 And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.

39 ¶ Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me.

40 And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.

41 I receive not honour from men.

42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.

43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.

44 How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?

45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.

46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

CHAPTER VI.

1 Christ feedeth five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes. 15 Thereupon the people would have made him king. 16 But withdrawing himself, he walketh on the sea to his disciples: 26 reproveth the people flocking after him, and all the fleshly hearers of his word: 32 declareth himself to be the bread of life to believers. 66 Many disciples depart from him. 68 Peter confesseth him. 70 Judas is a devil.

AFTER these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.

3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.

5 ¶ When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?

6 And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, saith unto him,

9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.

11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 When they were filled, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost.

13 Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves,

SPECIMEN PAGE OF THE FIVE CENT TESTAMENT.

Christ rideth CHAPTER XX. into Jerusalem.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.
37 And when he was come nigh, even now at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works that they had seen;
38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest.
39 And some of the Pharisees from among the multitude said unto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.
40 And he answered and said unto them, I tell you that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out.
41 ¶ And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it,
42 Saying, If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes.
43 For the days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side,
44 And shall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee; and they shall not leave in thee one stone upon another; because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation.
45 And he went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought;
46 Saying unto them, It is written, My house is the house of prayer: but ye have made it a den of thieves.
47 And he taught daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the chief of the people sought to destroy him,
48 And could not find what they might do: for all the people were very attentive to hear him.

CHAPTER XX.

1 Christ avoucheth his authority by a question of John's baptism. 9 The parable of the vineyard. 19 Of giving tribute to Cesar. 27 He convinceth the Sadducees that denied the resurrection. 41 How Christ is the Son of David. 45 He warneth his disciples to beware of the scribes.

AND it came to pass, that on one of those days, as he taught the people in the temple, and preached the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes came upon him with the elders,
2 And spake unto him, saying, Tell us, by what authority doest thou these things? or who is he that gave thee this authority?

SPECIAL NOTICE.

IN ORDERING.

All orders should be accompanied by remittances, unless purchasers desire to open an account. To open an account apply for terms and give references showing financial ability, promptness, and general responsibility. Such information should usually be furnished by a bank or by firms in large cities with whom you keep an account, and should be quite different from the friendly recommendation of an acquaintance. A confidential personal statement of your affairs is also desirable.

SHIPPING DIRECTIONS.

With every order give your name in full, with shipping directions, including county and State. If this is not the same as the post-office address, give that also. State whether the goods should be sent by mail, express, or railroad, and give the name of the railroad or express preferred.

EXACT TITLES.

In ordering use the full title as given in the list; we cannot be responsible for errors in shipping when the "revised" or "old" or "special" edition is not specified.

ORDER IN SEASON.

We aim to fill orders on the day received, but at the time for the opening of schools the pressure of business sometimes makes this impossible. A liberal allowance of time should be made for such detentions. Railroads cannot always be depended upon to carry goods with their usual regularity. You will, therefore, consult your own convenience and interest, as well as oblige us, if you will order early.

REMITTANCES.

We advise remittances by draft, money order, registered letter, or express, as may be most convenient.

Advice to a Wife and Advice to a Mother. Dr. P. H. Chavasse. The two published in one volume. Many young women hesitate, through a feeling of delicacy, to seek even from their own mothers a proper knowledge of their own sexual peculiarities, though their future health and happiness may depend upon their possessing such knowledge. But a book may be consulted without alarming the modesty of the most delicate, provided it be honestly written for the benefit of its readers. Such is Chavasse's work, which has had on both sides of the Atlantic a circulation of nearly four hundred thousand copies. The reason of this popularity is plain, the book answers every question which a woman would like or need to have answered relative to herself as a woman from early girlhood to the change in life. The information is given in language that persons of the most moderate education can understand ; the knowledge imparted is exact, and acquaintance with it will often save the need of applying to a physician. Price.....$1.00.

NEW YORK HERALD.

"Mr. Huxley has covered a vast variety of topics during the last quarter of a century. It gives one an agreeable surprise to look over the tables of contents and note the immense territory which he has explored. To read these books carefully and studiously is to become thoroughly acquainted with the most advanced thought on a large number of topics."

CHICAGO TIMES.

"The series will be a welcome one. There are few writings on the more abstruse problems of science more adapted to reading by the general public, and in this form the books will be well in the reach of the investigator. . . . The revisions are the last expected to be made by the author, and his introductions are none of earlier date than a few months ago [1893], so they may be considered his final and most authoritative utterances."

For sale by all booksellers; or will be sent by mail on receipt of price by the publishers,

New York: D. APPLETON & CO., 72 Fifth Avenue.

THE WARFARE OF SCIENCE WITH THEOLOGY.

A History of the Warfare of Science with Theology in Christendom. By ANDREW D. WHITE, LL. D., late President and Professor of History at Cornell University. In Two Volumes. 8vo. Cloth, $5.00.

"The magnum opus of the eminent ex-President of Cornell plants a new and notable milestone along the highway of ever-advancing human thought. . . . The work is the masterpiece of a mind as devoid of wanton iconoclasm as of moral cowardice. It is a definitive statement of where the best thinkers of the world now stand in the religio-scientific conflict. It is clear, honest, brave, and must be given a place among the great books of the year."—Chicago Tribune.

"The most valuable contribution that has yet been made to the history of the conflicts between the theologians and the scientists; struggles that have alarmed timid Christians, but, as Mr. White shows, there was no occasion for alarm. . . . The several chapters are extremely interesting, and while President White never flinches in telling the whole truth, as he thinks science has ascertained it, he is nowhere irreverent. . . . He confronts truth, takes its hand, and follows boldly wherever truth bids him come."—Buffalo Commercial.

"The book is written almost colloquially, and so interestingly as to enchain the attention at once, and keep it enchained. Concise as a history of the universe could be made, tabulated so that instant reference to a particular bit of history, theory, or biography may be had, it will be valuable as a lexicon relating to religious controversy. . . . It is crammed with information, sorted, sifted, winnowed, and prepared for the consumer, as reading it is of an absorbing interest, and it will probably provoke answering arguments."—Chicago Times-Herald.

"Undoubtedly the most exhaustive treatise which has been written on this subject. . . . It is able, scholarly, critical, and impartial in tone."—Boston Daily Advertiser.

SECOND EDITION.

THE DAWN OF CIVILIZATION.

(EGYPT AND CHALDÆA.)

By Prof. G. MASPERO. Edited by Rev. Prof. A. H. SAYCE. Translated by M. L. MCCLURE. Revised and brought up to date by the Author. With Map and over 470 Illustrations. Quarto. Cloth, $7.50.

THIS volume is an attempt to put together in a lucid and interesting manner all that the monuments have revealed to us concerning the earliest civilization of Egypt and Chaldæa. Prof. Maspero is perhaps the only man in Europe fitted by his laborious researches and great scholarship to undertake such a task, and the result of his efforts will be found herein.

A new edition of the English translation of this work having been called for within a little over a year from its publication, an opportunity was offered the author to embody in it the results of the latest research. The part dealing with Egypt has consequently been enriched with additions to text and notes; and in the chapter on Chaldæa the author has utilized fresh information from the recent works of Tallqvist, Winckler, and Hilprecht, and from M. de Serzec's latest publications. The translation has been carefully revised throughout.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON'S NEW BOOKS

The Book Lover's Library.

THE LITERATURE OF MUSIC. A History from the Earliest Time to the Present Day, by JAMES E. MATTHEW. 12mo, cloth, uncut edges, $1.25. (In press.)

This new volume of the Book Lover's Library is a most appropriate one for inclusion in the Series. Mr. Matthew has in its pages traced the subject from the earliest times. Following it through the middle ages to its rapid development, consequent on the invention of printing, he brings it down to the more scientific days in which we live. He gives much interesting and valuable information on the literature of sacred music and of the opera. He also passes in review the principal historical works on music, and the Biographies of celebrated musicians, while the most valuable works on musical instruments, and on the scientific principles on which they depend, as well as those on the Bibliography of the subject receive due attention.

The Expositor's Bible (Concluding Volumes).

THE BOOK OF THE TWELVE PROPHETS—commonly called The Minor. By Prof. GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., LL.D. Volume I. now ready: Amos, Hosea and Micah; with an Introduction and a Sketch of Prophecy in Early Israel. Vol. II. In preparation. Crown octavo vols. each, $1.50.

"The Book of the Twelve Prophets is a real boon to Bible students. Few interpreters of the Old Testament today rank higher than George Adam Smith. It is safe to say that no better expository commentary has ever been written than this volume on Amos, Hosea, and Micah. It is reverently progressive, it is critically positive and helpful, it is crowded with valuable expositions and applications, it fits into the actual needs of every earnest Bible reader." —Sunday School Times.

NEW (4th) EDITION WITH NEW INDEX.

The Historical Geography of the Holy Land.

By Rev. Prof. GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., LL.D. Author of Commentaries on "Isaiah," 2 vols., and "Minor Prophets," 2 vols. in the "Expositor's Bible." New (4th) Edition with new Index and Colored maps, specially prepared. Octavo, cloth, 720 pages, $4.50.

"A book so thorough and so masterly, and, at the same time written in a style which commands attention as well as admiration. . . . It contains and 'uses' the important parts of all the immense mass of modern research and discovery, enriched and illuminated by a mind of imagination and poetry, as well as scholarship."—London Saturday Review.

Systematic Theology—New (5th) Edition.

A Compendium and Common Place Book, designed for the use of Theological Students. By AUGUSTUS HOPKINS STRONG, D.D., LL.D., President and Professor of Biblical Theology in the Rochester Theological Seminary. One large octavo volume of nearly 800 pages, strongly bound in cloth, $5.00.

The continued success of this remarkable work has necessitated a Fifth Edition, which is now ready for delivery. In the preparation of this edition, the author has once more subjected his work to a thorough revision, not only correcting the few typographical errata which remained, but also introducing such amendments, in the substance of the discussion as later reflection indicated. The volume, therefore, becomes the most modern and thorough, as well as one of the most popular works of its class.

New Work by Dr. H. Grattan Guinness.

CREATION CENTRED IN CHRIST. A Popular Scientific Work. By H. GRATTAN GUINNESS. Uniform with same author's "Approaching End of the Age." Large crown octavo, cloth, $2.50.

This new work by the well-known English divine, Rev. H. Grattan Guinness, D.D., will be welcomed by the readers of his previous volumes. "The Approaching End of the Age," "Light for the Last Days," etc. As the title indicates, the purpose of Dr. Guinness in this book is to prove that nature, science and history centre about the person and work of Christ, just as theology is more and more controlled by the thought of Him.

"This is a very remarkable book, and, whether we agree with its arguments and conclusions or not, they are worthy of consideration, and the volume should be read by every student of religion. Those who are acquainted with the learned author's views will know what to expect in his present volume. But everything is so clearly put and so carefully reasoned out, that the writer's arguments carry the reader with him, even when assent in his conclusions seems impossible."—The Churchman.

A. L. O. E. (A Lady of England.)

THE LIFE AND LETTERS OF CHARLOTTE MARIA TUCKER. By AGNES GIBERNE, author of "Sun, Moon, and Stars," "Radiant Suns," etc. With portraits and other illustrations. Crown 8vo, cloth, 500 pages, $1.75.

An interesting biography of that most interesting character and favorite writer, A. L. O. E., Miss Tucker, by Miss Giberne, herself a well-known authoress. The volume is based upon Miss Tucker's own correspondence as well as upon abundant reminiscences and letters supplied by her familiar friends. It is divided into two parts, "Life in England" and "Life in India," and aims to show what Miss Tucker was as well as what she did.

"The picture of this brave, unselfish woman's life in India is singularly vivid, and is largely derived from her own frank and vigorous letters. The book is a noteworthy and impressive accession to the growing literature which describes not merely the romance, but the realisms, of Christian missions."—Standard.

Last Work by the Late R. W. Dale, D.D., LL.D.

THE EPISTLE OF JAMES AND OTHER DISCOURSES. By R, W. DALE, D.D., LL.D. Crown octavo, cloth, $1.75.

"Will be eagerly read by thousands who have profited in old days by the writings of this great and good man. There are two divisions in the book—first, a commentary on the Epistle itself; and secondly, a collection of Dr. Dale's sermons. Of the latter there is only one thing to be said—they are excellent."—Church Bells.

"The result of the profoundest English scholarship is given us in so charming and popular a style that the dullest mind will be interested in it."—N. Y. Churchman.

New Volume of the "Book-Lover's Library."

BOOK-VERSE. An Anthology of Poems of Books and Bookmen from the Earliest Times to Recent Years. Edited by W. ROBERTS. 12mo, cloth, uncut edges, $1.25.

This book is the pendant to the interesting volume of "Book Song," edited by Mr. Gleason White, which formed an early issue in the Book Lover's Library. Mr. White's collection, however, was almost exclusively confined to the songs of living authors, about their books, while the present authority comprises "book verse" from various ages and climes. The work appeals to those who love their books as their friends and welcome the songs which are sung in honor of their prized acquaintances. It may be commended to all bibliophiles, as well as to the readers of the other issues in this popular series.

The History of Art in Primitive Greece.

By GEORGES PERROT and CHARLES CHIPIEZ. With 564 illustrations. Two volumes, imperial 8vo, uniform with "History of Art in Ancient Egypt," "History of Art in Chaldea and Assyria," "History of Art in Phœnicia," "History of Art in Sardinia, Judæa, Syria, and Asia Minor," "History of Art in Phrygia, Lydia and Caria, Lycia and Persia." Handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, $15.50; three-quarter crushed levant morocco, $22.50.

This New Work is the 6th in the series on the "HISTORY OF ANCIENT ART," the five previous works having achieved remarkable success, being accepted by the highest authorities as the Standard Works on the subjects.

The New (7th) Vol. of The Book Worm.

To bibliographical enthusiasts the odds and ends and curiosities of literature brought together and noted in these pages will be specially attractive; but there is also much to interest that comparatively humble individual, the general reader, without whom, by-the-bye, there would neither be books nor "book worms."

Armstrong's Primer of United States History, for School and Family Use, with (6) six new and beautifully colored maps from original drawings. 1 vol., square 16mo., cloth. 19th edition. Net, . . 0 50

A model historical primer, full in its statements, discriminating in its selection of events, clear and direct in its style, and comprehensive in its general outline of American affairs. The value of such a book is apparent at a glance. Of large histories of the United States there is no lack, but of shorter histories there is great need. It represents an amount of work of which its brief pages give no adequate impression.

New York Nation: "Those who have waited for the very best general work on Japan have now the opportunity of purchasing their full money's worth. Gathering the best of all previous scholarship and research on the subject, the author has added his own valuable contributions. . . . We commend the work as the best general handbook of Japan, and the most complete yet presented to the English reading public."

"The book is too rich to summarise . . The language is particularly well chosen. Few pages are without some telling phrase happily constructed to attract attention and hold the memory, and we often feel that the wealth of imagery would be excessive for prose were it not that it is chosen with such appropriateness and scientific truth."—London Speaker.

Sermon Bible.

This Series gives in convenient form the essence of the best homiletic literature of this generation. As yet, the preacher desirous of knowing the best that has been said on a text has had nothing to turn to but a very meagre and inadequate Homiletical Index. In this he is often referred to absolete or second-rate works, while he misses references to the best sources. The new SERMON BIBLE takes account of the best and greatest preachers, and has been compiled from manuscript reports and fugitive periodical sources, as well as from books. Many of the best sermons preached by eminent men are never printed in book form. It thus contains much that will be new to its readers.

Under every text is given

1. Outlines of important sermons by eminent preachers existing only in manuscript or periodicals, and thus inaccessible.
2. Less full outlines of sermons which have appeared in volumes which are not well known or easily obtained.
3. References to or very brief outlines of sermons which appear in popular volumes such as are likely to be in a preacher's library.
4. Full references to theological treatises, commentaries, etc., where any help is given to the elucidation of the text.

The Series under the general supervision of the Editor of the "Clerical Library," who has been assisted by specialists in each department.

It extends to 12 vols., consisting of about 400 pages, price $1.50 each, embracing the whole of the Sacred Scriptures. Full circular on application.

Now ready, 12 vols., as follows:

Wordsworth's value as a poet is particularly great at this present time. There is no poet who can be studied to better advantage. In these convenient volumes, songs, sonnets, and passages of familiar beauty will be, morever, re-read with new delight by those who have found in their acquaintance with Wordsworth one of the strongest and most undying consolations and most vivid influences of their intellectual life.

ADALET.—HADJIRA. A Turkish Love Story. By "Adalet."

"This handsomely printed volume is reported as the literary work of a young Turkish lady, who, from necessity, writes under a nom de plume. The manuscript comes to the American publisher in English in her own handwriting. It is marked for its literary elegance. Besides being a very charming love story, it reveals life in the Turkish harem, and the manners and customs of the Turkish people, and in this sense it is profoundly interesting and instructive."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

ALLEN.—PAPIER MÂCHÉ. A Novel. By Charles Allen. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.00.

"Eccentric and clever."—New York Times.

ANDERSEN.—THE SNOW QUEEN AND OTHER TALES. By Hans Christian Andersen. Beautifully Illustrated by Mrs. E. A. Lemann. Small 4to, handsomely bound, gilt edges, $1.50.

This gallant young Norwegian, Evind Astrup, whose lamented death has prematurely cut off a career of great promise, had already made his mark as the companion of Lieutenant Peary in two Arctic voyages, during which his unflagging energy and spirits were invaluable. He was a shrewd observer, and the primitive life of the natives in those high latitudes interested him greatly. In this book, which was finished only just before his death, he writes in the simplest and most genial fashion his personal experiences, enlivened by many a good anecdote and story of sport and adventure. The illustrations are very numerous and thoroughly characteristic.

BALFOUR.—TWELVE HUNDRED MILES IN A WAGON. A Narrative of a Journey in the Cape Colony, the Transvaal, and the Chartered Company's Territories. By Alice Blanche Balfour. With nearly 40 original Illustrations from Sketches by the Author, and a Map. Large 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

"The book comes just in the nick of time. It takes the reader by a picturesque route, and along an entertaining course of adventure, in the very Transvaal itself."—Literary World.

BALZAC.—THE MYSTERY OF THE RUE SOLY. Translated by Lady Knutsford from the French of H. de Balzac. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Most of these little plays have been adapted from the author's "Petit Théâtre"; the remainder from a little book of English plays by the same writer, entitled "Nursery Comedies."

BENSON.—MEN OF MIGHT. Studies of Great Characters. By A. C. Benson, M. A., and H. F. W. Tatham, M. A., Assistant Masters at Eton College. Second Edition. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

The book is written for boys, and contains interesting sketches of the lives of such famous men as Socrates, Savonarola, Michael Angelo, John Wesley, George Washington, Dr. Arnold, David Livingstone, General Gordon, and Father Damien.

BERRINGER.—THE NEW VIRTUE. By Mrs. Oscar Berringer. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"The book cannot fail to be widely discussed."—The Denver Times.

"Mrs. Berringer is better known on the stage than in literature. This is perhaps her first venture into novel writing, but she has hit upon a theme which will make her book talked of. There is much meat for controversy in it, and the cleverness with which she has put her question will warrant a fair hearing. In spite of the plot the tone of the story is moral. Vice is never planted before one in gay colors. When it stalks into a chapter it is somber, sad, and foreboding. The sins are lost in obscurity, covered over in mystery. 'The New Virtue' is a wholesome book, and suggests a fund of worldly wisdom."—Chicago Record.

BLATCHFORD.—TOMMY ATKINS. A Tale of the Ranks. Second Edition. By Robert Blatchford. Author of "A Son of the Forge," "Merrie England," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"Strong, vivid, virile realism."—New York Press.

The best illustration of the value of Dean Boyle's recollections can be had from the names of the men, prominent in every walk of life, whom he knew personally, many of them intimately. Among them are such names as Walter Scott, De Quincy, Dr. Chalmers, Thackeray, Gladstone, Peel, Disraeli, Macready, Coleridge, Byron, Clough, Bishop Wilberforce, Carlyle, Matthew Arnold, John Stuart Mill, and Cardinal Newman.

BROWN.—POULTRY-KEEPING AS AN INDUSTRY FOR FARMERS AND COTTAGERS. By Edward Brown. Fully Illustrated. Second Edition. Demy 4to, cloth, $1.75.

"Mr. Brown has established for himself a unique position in regard to this subject, and what he has to say is not only sound counsel, but is presented in a very readable form."—Nottingham Daily Guardian.

BULL.—THE CRUISE OF THE "ANTARCTIC"; A Voyage to the South Polar Regions in 1895. By H. J. Bull, a member of the expedition. With a Map and Illustrations by W. L. Wyllie and W. G. Burn Murdoch. Large 8vo, $4.00.

"This expedition was organized by the famous Norwegian whaling captain, Svend Foyn, primarily with the object of discovering whether the 'right' whale existed in the South Seas. In a small vessel of only 200 tons, with auxiliary screw, the expedition sailed from Norway in 1894 and made its way, after a long and tempestuous voyage, to Kerguelen Island, where a large number of seals were captured, and finally to Melbourne. Here the vessel fitted out again, and sailed for the South Polar regions. Although no right whales were found, the expedition had the distinction of being the first to set foot on Victoria Land, which had been reached by Sir James Ross in the Erebus and Terror fifty years earlier, but without an opportunity of landing. The difficulties and dangers to which the expedition was exposed were constant, and the voyage will take an important place in the records, at present so scanty, of Antarctic exploration. Mr. Bull, the author of the book, was the business representative of Captain Svend Foyn. Captain Kristiansen was in command of the ship, and Mr. C. E. Borchgrevinck joined at Melbourne as a volunteer.

Clouston.—EARLY ENGLISH FURNITURE. An account of the famous English Cabinet-Makers, with numerous fine Illustrations of their work. By Mrs. Warren Clouston. 1 vol., crown 4to. To be published early in the fall.

Collins.—A NEW ANTHOLOGY. Chosen from the minor and less familiar English poets. By J. Churton Collins, M. A. 1 vol., large crown 8vo. To be published early in the fall.

In compiling this new Anthology Mr. Churton Collins has been influenced by a desire to form a collection of poetry containing many charming pieces hitherto ignored in similar works. It is his opinion that compilers of anthologies have confined themselves too much to a few standard authors; and that there are a number of less known writers who have composed one or two poems quite as fine as anything by the great masters. Mr. Collins' wide knowledge of English literature and keen critical judgment have enabled him to make a striking selection, which will reveal a mine of hitherto unsuspected treasures to lovers of English poetry.

COLVILE.—THE LAND OF THE NILE-SPRINGS. By Colonel Sir Henry Colvile, K. C. M. G., C. B., recently British Commissioner in Uganda. With Photogravure Frontispiece, 16 full-page Illustrations and 2 Maps. 8vo, $3.50.

Summary of Contents.—The Road to the Lake—Usoga—Uganda—Kampala—Preparations for War—Concentration on the Frontier—Crossing the Kafu—Occupation of the Capital—Chasing Kabarega—The Investment of the Forest—Occupation of Kibiro—The Magungu Expedition—The Wadelai Expedition—The Chain of Forts—Return to Uganda—Parade and Policy—Life at Port Alice—Affairs at Unyoro, etc.

DUNMORE.—ORMISDAL. A Novel. By the Earl of Dunmore, F. R. G. S. Author of "The Pamirs." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"In this breezy and entertaining novel Lord Dunmore has given us a very readable and racy story of the life that centers in a Highland shooting about the end of August."—Glasgow Herald.

ELLACOMBE.—IN A GLOUCESTERSHIRE GARDEN. By the Rev. H. N. Ellacombe, Vicar of Bitton, and Honorary Canon of Bristol. Author of "Plant-Lore and Garden Craft of Shakespeare." New Edition, with numerous Illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

"The book may be warmly recommended to all who love gardens, while it also cannot fail to interest even the horticulturally unlearned. It is written in a style that is clear, bright, and simple, and from beginning to end there is not a dull or wearisome sentence."—The Guardian.

Ellacombe.—THE PLANT-LORE AND GARDEN CRAFT OF SHAKESPEARE. By Henry N. Ellacombe, M. A., Vicar of Bitton. Author of "In a Gloucestershire Garden." Fully Illustrated by Major E. B. Ricketts. 1 vol., large crown 8vo. To be published early in the fall.

This volume, as its name implies, is a complete and standard work of reference on the plants mentioned by Shakespeare. The author takes each plant separately, and gives interesting particulars of its life-history and its place in legend and poetry. The volume will be beautifully illustrated. The artist has made a special visit to Stratford-on-Avon to sketch the scenes of Shakespeare's Garden-Lore, and has also depicted most of the plants named, with great skill.

FLEMING.—THE ART OF READING AND SPEAKING. By the Rev. James Fleming, Canon of York and Rector of St. Michael's, Chester Square. About 256 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Canon Fleming's reputation as a preacher constitutes him an authority on elocution, and in this volume he gives a series of practical hints and directions for speaking and reading in public, which ought to be very useful. The book is, however, written in such a style that it can be perused with pleasure by the general reader, for it contains many interesting anecdotes and reminiscences suggested by the author's wide experience of men and manners.

"Canon Fleming has written a book on 'The Art of Reading and Speaking' that is worth its weight in gold to anyone who is ambitious to attain to a high degree of excellence as a public speaker or reader. . . We have never seen a book that treats the subject of good speaking and reading in so thoroughly practical and comprehensive a manner as does this one."—Boston Home Journal.

FORD.—ON THE THRESHOLD. By Isabella O. Ford. Author of "Miss Blake of Monkshalton." 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"It is a relief to turn from many of the novels that come before us to Miss Ford's true, penetrating, and sympathetic description of the lives of some of the women of our day."—Guardian.

FRESHFIELD.—THE EXPLORATION OF THE CAUCASUS. By Douglas W. Freshfield, F. R. G. S., President of the Alpine Club. Author of "Travels in the Central Caucasus," "The Italian Alps," etc. In two volumes, imperial 8vo, $25.00. Also a large-paper edition, limited to 100 copies, of which 25 are for sale in America, $40.00. Illustrated by over 70 full-page Photogravures and several mountain Panoramas, chiefly from Photographs by Signor Vittorio Sella, and executed under his immediate superintendence, and by more than 100 Illustrations in the text, of the Scenery, People, and Buildings of the Mountain Region, from Photographs by Signor Sella, M. de Déchy, Mr. H. Woolley, and the late Mr. W. F. Donkin.

These volumes, intended to form a record of the exploration of the Caucasus since 1868 by members of the Alpine Club, as well as a narrative of the author's recent journeys in that region, will constitute one of the most complete and lavishly illustrated works on mountain travel ever published in this country.

The letter-press will include a concise account of the physical characteristics of the central portion of the Caucasian chain, and a sketch of the principal travels and adventures of the mountaineers who have penetrated its fastnesses and conquered summits, eleven of which are higher than Mount Blanc.

The personal narrative will consist of the story of two summers recently spent among the glaciers and forests of the Caucasus by the author, who was a member of the Search Expedition which went out to ascertain the locality and nature of the catastrophe by which Mr. W. F. Donkin and Mr. H. Fox, with their guides, lost their lives in 1888, extracts from the diary of Mr. Fox, and accounts of the first ascents of Kostantau and Ushba by Mr. H. Woolley and Mr. Donkin.

An appendix will contain a mass of novel and systematically arranged topographical detail, which, it is hoped, may prove of great service to future travelers and mountaineers.

District maps on the scale of the old official map (3 miles to the inch), forming together a complete map of the chain from Kasbeck to Elbruz, are being prepared for the book mainly from the unpublished sheets of the recent Russian surveys, which have been generously placed at Mr. Freshfield's disposal by Gen. Kulberg.

"A strong and powerful story, and deserving of a conspicuous place in the fiction of to-day."—New York Times.

"It is not our custom to praise in superlatives, therefore our conviction, which we hasten to express, that the author of 'The Demagogue and Lady Phayre' is a writer of exceptional capacity may be taken at its full value. We hardly recollect to have come across so capable a book of its kind since the sensation made by 'The Green Carnation' died away, and the present story is well worthy of a place in the same series. The conversations are up to a mark that only falls a step or two short of brilliancy, and there is a certainty in the whole treatment that gives promise of excellent work in the future. Moreover, and it is a point worth noting in the society novel, the author, in his pursuit of dramatic effect, does not forget his English. The style is good throughout."—London Literary World.

"These are just simple tales about men and women who once really lived on the earth, and about whom the greatest of poet-musicians wrote in that wonderful music-language of his which speaks straight to the heart. And in this language he told us many things about Parsifal, Lohengrin, Tannhauser, and dear old Hans Sachs, which cannot by any human power be put into words; but in so far as he did make use of words to explain his marvelous music, I have tried to use the same, and above all never to depart from his idea of the heroes he loved."—From the Preface.

"Sure to delight intelligent children."—New York Times.

The subject is one which has been the author's special study for many years, and in the present volume he has given the mature result of his researches. It is hoped that it will form a standard work for students and readers worthy to rank with the great works of Darwin and Romanes.

Pearson.—THE CHANCES OF DEATH, AND OTHER ESSAYS. By Karl Pearson, M. A., Professor of Mathematics in University College, London. With numerous Illustrations and Diagrams. 1 vol., demy 8vo. To be published early in the fall.

This is the first substantial work published by Professor Pearson since his well-known "Ethics of Free Thought" appeared some years ago. The volume is strikingly powerful and original; it contains several scientific papers dealing with Chance in various aspects, from the Chances of Death to so-called Games of Chance, and points out how a mathematical theory corresponds with actual results. Another series of papers discusses problems of deep interest in connection with Woman and Labor, while a third section deals with important problems of modern political progress.

PIKE.—THROUGH THE SUB-ARCTIC FOREST. A Record of a Canoe Journey for 4000 Miles, from Fort Wrangel to the Pelly Lakes, and down the Yukon to the Behring Sea. By Warburton Pike. With Illustrations by Charles Whymper from Photographs taken by the author, and a Map. Large 8vo, $4.00.

Mr. Pike is well known as an explorer, and in the journey now described he traversed some entirely unknown country round the Pelly Lakes.

For many months he supported himself entirely by fishing and hunting, being absolutely cut off from any chance of obtaining supplies. Such a journey could not fail to be productive of many exciting episodes, and though the author treats them lightly, the hardships he went through form a fine test of the true explorer's spirit.

PRESCOTT.—A MASK AND A MARTYR. By E. Livingston Prescott. Author of "The Apotheosis of Mr. Tyrawley." 12mo, $1.50.

"Here we have a story which rivets the attention from beginning to end. It is a powerful and tragic book."—Liverpool Mercury.

"The author gives us a fine story in the best sense, which will command a wide reading and provoke uniform delight. The page, type, and general creation of the book in the mechanical sense leaves nothing to be desired."—Boston Courier.

"This is a novel by a comparatively new writer, which merits a high meed of praise from critics. The character of the man, his struggles, his patience, his suffering, are portrayed with a degree of sympathy and understanding that make the book one of the most pathetic that was ever written."

RALEIGH.—ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. By Walter Raleigh, Professor of English Literature at Liverpool University College. Author of "The English Novel," etc. Second edition. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"Professor Raleigh has contributed an appreciative critical essay to the rapidly growing list of Stevensoniana."—Critic.

"Quite the best contribution that has yet been made to our critical literature in regard to the late Mr. Stevenson."—Glasgow Herald.

Rochefort.—THE ADVENTURES OF MY LIFE. By Henri Rochefort. Revised and specially arranged by the author. The only authorized edition in English. 2 vols. Large crown 8vo. To be published early in the fall.

In this work Mr. Henri Rochefort tells the amazing story of his adventurous life. Among the more important episodes are the author's personal narrative of the French Commune, his subsequent transportation to the penal settlement of New Caledonia, his marvelous escape, his numerous duels, his residence in England, and his deeply interesting journalistic ventures.

The work is appearing in five volumes in French, but M. Rochefort has decided to prepare a special and, in many respects, original version in English for sale in this country; he has reduced the bulk of the work to two handy volumes, by omitting much that is of purely local interest, and selecting only such of his adventures as will appeal to English-speaking readers. Apart from the value of the matter, the brilliance of M. Rochefort's style is notorious, and his strong personality penetrates every page of the work. The translation is being undertaken in Paris by Mr. E. W. Smith, Editor of the Daily Messenger, in daily communication with the author.

SAINTE BEUVE.—SELECT ESSAYS OF SAINTE BEUVE. Chiefly bearing on English Literature. Translated by A. J. Butler, translator of "The Memoirs of Baron Marbot." 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

"English readers should not fail to make themselves acquainted with the work of one of the clearest, most broadly tolerant, and sanest critics of their literature that France has produced."—Daily Telegraph.

SCOTT.—THE WAVERLEY NOVELS. Facsimile Reprint of the favorite Edition of Sir Walter Scott.

No series of fiction has ever met with such universal acceptance as the 48-volume edition of the Waverley Novels, the favorite edition of Sir Walter Scott, originally published by Cadell & Company in the year 1829. Its handy size and elegant proportions have never been surpassed. It has long been out of print, and when copies come into the market they fetch a high price.

In projecting a new edition of the Waverley Novels, the publisher has felt that he could not follow a better model than that which has so long stood the test of public favor, and he has therefore determined to present a new edition

This edition is thus a reprint of the 1829 edition, the type being practically the same, line for line, and page for page; the size, small octavo; the binding, the well-known deep red, with paper back titles.

One change only the publisher has made, for the sake of convenience. In the original edition, several of the novels were so intermingled in the volumes as to run into each other; but this will be avoided in the present reprint. Each novel will, as far as possible, be complete in its own volumes, which in one case will occupy three volumes, in most cases two volumes, and in several cases one volume only.

The edition will be printed on beautiful, light paper, and will be issued, one novel at a time, at intervals of three weeks.

The ordinary edition will be red cloth, paper back title, price 75 cents per volume. Editions can also be had: cloth gilt, gilt top, 90 cents per volume; quarter leather, gilt top, with all the original illustrations, $1.25 per volume.

SHERARD—ALPHONSE DAUDET. A Biography and Critical Study. By R. H. Sherard, Editor of "The Memoirs of Baron Meneval," etc. With illustrations. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

SICHEL.—THE STORY OF TWO SALONS. Madame de Beaumont and the Suards. By Edith Sichel. Author of "Worthington, Jr." 8vo, $2.00. With Portraits of Joubert, Pauline de Beaumont, and Chateaubriand.

SLATIN.—FIRE AND SWORD IN THE SUDAN. A Personal Narrative of Fighting and Serving the Dervishes, 1879–1895. By Slatin Pasha, formerly Governor of Darfur. Translated and Edited by Major F. R. Wingate, R. A. Author of "The Egyptian Sudan," etc. Fully Illustrated by R. Talbot Kelly. 8vo, $5.00.

Slatin Pasha was by far the most important of the European prisoners in the Sudan. Before the Mahdi's victories he held the post of Governor of Darfur, and was in command of large military forces. He fought no fewer than twenty-seven pitched battles before he was compelled to surrender, and is the only surviving soldier who has given an eye-witness account of the terrible fighting that occurred during the Mahdist struggle for supremacy. He was present as a prisoner during the siege of Khartoum, and it was to his feet that Gordon's head was brought in revengeful triumph within an hour of the city's fall.

The narrative is brought up to the date of Slatin Pasha's marvelous escape, and the incidents of his captivity have been so indelibly graven on his memory that his account of them has all the freshness of a romance.

From a military and historical standpoint the book is of the highest value. Slatin Pasha's various expeditions penetrated into regions as yet almost unknown to Europeans, but destined apparently to be the subject of serious complications in the near future. The map of these regions is believed to be the first authentic one produced. There is also a careful ground plan of Khartoum and Omdurman, which might be of immense service in case of military operations.

The work is furnished with numerous spirited illustrations by Mr. R. Talbot Kelly, who is personally familiar with the Nile Valley, and has worked under the direct supervision of Slatin Pasha and Major Wingate.

"Absolutely unique."—The Spectator.

"The most authoritative utterance on these important subjects with which we are familiar."—Philadelphia Press.

"It makes a permanent and necessary part of that great story, the winning of Africa, which is so momentous a feature in the contemporary world drama."—New York Evening Sun.

Smith.—THROUGH UNKNOWN AFRICAN COUNTRIES. The First Expedition from Somaliland to Lake Rudolf and Lamu. A Narrative of Scientific Exploration and Sporting Adventures. By A. Donaldson Smith, F. R. G. S. 1 vol., 8vo. To be published early in the fall.

With nearly 30 full-page Plates, drawn from the author's Sketches and Photographs, by Charles Whymper and A. D. McCormick, and a large number of smaller Illustrations. There is also an original Map of the countries traversed, prepared from the author's survey by the Royal Geographical Society of England.

The body of the work is occupied by the narrative of the expedition, and its valuable scientific results are given in a series of appendices, to be contributed by eminent specialists.

Dr. Donaldson Smith arrived at Berbera, on the coast of Somaliland, in northeast Africa, about midsummer, 1894. During a previous expedition undertaken for sporting purposes in Somaliland—that famous hunting region, where lions and other big game abound—he had conceived the plan of penetrating into the unknown interior of the Dark Continent and forcing his way to Lake Rudolf. The present volume tells how he was enabled to achieve his object after just a year's march, beset by constant dangers and difficulties that would have proved fatal to a less hardy or persevering explorer. From Lake Rudolf Dr. Donaldson Smith made his way to the east coast at Lamu, by which time he had marched no less than four thousand miles.

Dr. Smith found it necessary to take with him the considerable force of eighty armed men, for self-defense in case of attack by the savage tribes of the interior, and on more than one occasion the force was called into action in a most exciting manner. The explorer was, however, generally fortunate in assuring the natives of his pacific intentions, his chief danger arising from the suspicions aroused among a few tribes by the arbitrary behavior of former travelers. The control of so large an expedition naturally proved a severe test of the powers of organization and diplomacy of its leader, as appears on almost every page of the narrative. Perils without number were the portion of Dr. Smith and his European companions, Mr. Fred Gillett and Mr. Dodson, the former of whom returned to the coast before Lake Rudolf was reached. He made vast collections of plants, birds, insects, geological specimens, and entomological curiosities, by which the great museums of America and Europe have been sensibly enriched. He discovered a town in which there were stone houses and beautiful shrines, in regions where only mud huts were supposed to exist. He came into prolonged contact with the warlike Abyssinians, and was even the recipient of an autograph letter from the Emperor Menelek. His journey took him through some of the loveliest scenery in the world. By means of his camera and such rough sketches as he could make on the spot, he acquired materials for an admirable series of illustrations of the sporting episodes by the well-known artist, Mr. Charles Whymper, and of scenery by Mr. A. D. McCormick.

SPARKES.—WILD FLOWERS IN ART AND NATURE. By J. C. L. Sparkes, Principal of the National Art Training School, South Kensington, and F. W. Burbidge, Curator of the University Botanical Gardens, Dublin. With 21 full-page Colored Plates, by H. G. Moon. Royal 4to, handsomely bound, gilt edges, $4.00.

SPINNER.—A RELUCTANT EVANGELIST, AND OTHER STORIES. By Alice Spinner. Author of "A Study in Color," "Lucilla," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Stone.—TRAVELS AND SPORT IN AND BEYOND THE HIMALAYAS. By S. J. Stone, Inspector General of Police in the Northwest Provinces. With 16 full-page Illustrations by Charles Whymper. 1 vol., demy 8vo. To be published early in the fall.

The author of this work has spent many years in India, and gives the record of several expeditions made for purposes of sport and exploration combined. He traveled through a great deal of practically unknown country in the Himalayas and borders of Tibet, and gives much valuable information about the scenes and people met with in the course of his journeys. The sporting incidents are exciting and graphically described, including the successful chase of nearly all the varieties of big game to be found in the regions traversed.

The book will be splendidly illustrated by Mr. Charles Whymper.

STRANG.—PARADISE LOST. By John Milton. A Series of Twelve Illustrations Designed and Etched by William Strang, R. P. E. In One Volume, 4to, bound in cloth, with Proofs of the Etchings specially printed by F. Goulding on old French Hand-made Paper, and mounted. Fifty copies only printed for America, each copy numbered. Price $20.00.

Hitherto our greatest Epic has baffled more or less completely the artists who have dealt with it. In these days the work of Hayman, Westall, and John Martin can have only an antiquarian interest for us. Turner's plates to "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained" are perhaps the least fortunate of his vignettes. The facile talent of Doré proved to be better suited to the humors of Rabelais and Balzac than to the splendid solemnity of Milton.

Mr. Strang has confined himself chiefly to incidents in the life of our first parents, and it is hoped that his etchings will be found to be a fit accompaniment to their subject.

TOLLEMACHE.—BENJAMIN JOWETT, MASTER OF BALLIOL. A Personal Memoir. By the Hon. Lionel Tollemache. Author of "Safe Studies," etc. 12mo, buckram, $1.00.

"Gives the reader a better idea of Jowett than anything that has hitherto been written about him by his friends."—Athenæum.

"A very remarkable success."—St. James Gazette.

FACSIMILE REPRINT OF THE FAVORITE EDITION OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT.

NO series of fiction has ever met with such universal acceptance as the 48-volume edition of the Waverley Novels, the favorite edition of Sir Walter Scott, originally published by Cadell & Company in the year 1829. Its handy size and elegant proportions have never been surpassed. It has long been out of print, and when copies come into the market they fetch a high price. In projecting a new edition of the Waverley Novels, the publishers have felt that they could not follow a better model than that which has so long stood the test of public favor, and they have therefore determined to present a new edition which is practically a facsimile of the illustrious author's favorite, and which contains all his notes and introductions. The type is practically the same, line for line, and page for page ; the size, small octavo.

The edition will be printed on beautiful light paper, and will be issued, one novel at a time, at intervals of three weeks. The ordinary edition will be of red cloth, paper back title, price 75 cents. Editions can also be had in cloth gilt, gilt top, 90 cents, and quarter leather, gilt top, with original illustrations, $1.25.

The volumes will be published on the following dates:

This commentary on the Gospel according to Matthew is the latest and ripest of his life's labors. It is his latest work, and has in a sense the aroma of his dying days, and is a simple, brief and charming memorial of the most effective popular preacher of his age.

The book ought to be read by everybody interested in the advancement of the race."—New York Observer.

STRONG—OUR COUNTRY. By Rev. Josiah Strong, D.D., with an Introduction by Prof. Austin Phelps, D.D. 170th thousand, enlarged and revised with reference to the census of 1890. 12mo, paper, 30 cents; cloth..... 60

This revision shows the changes of the last ten years and pictures the religious, social, and economic condition and tendencies of our country to-day. The present edition has been printed from entirely new plates, and enlarged by the addition of more than one-third new matter. Diagrams have also been employed to forcibly illustrate some of the more startling facts and comparisons. In its new form it adds to its original worth the merit of being the first general application of the results of the recent census to the discussion of the great questions of the day.

The School Bulletin

AND NEW YORK STATE EDUCATIONAL JOURNAL,

Established 1874. 24 pages, 9 x 14. $1.00 a year.

The School Bulletin is one of the five oldest educational journals in America, and the only one of them that has been under the same ownership and management from the beginning. It was the only American School journal which received the gold medal at the Paris Exposition of 1889, and it received the highest award offered at the Chicago Exposition of 1893, the diploma pronouncing it "of the greatest interest and historical value to educators of all grades". It is not filled with "methods" and spoon-food for young teachers who want their ideas ready-made, but appeals to superintendents, principals, and all teachers who regard their work as a vocation, and who want to look upon it broadly and comprehensively.

In the feature of educational news it has never had a rival. Its chronicles of what has happened in New York schools since its establishment are unmatched in educational literature, and it has taken note of whatever has happened in other States that involved general principles.

Its Current Topics give a chronicle of what occured during the preceding month with forcible terseness, and in a perspective that bring the important events clearly to the front, adding maps wherever necessary. For the instruction of classes in this branch, now commonly recognized as essential, and for preparation of teachers' examinations, the Current Topics as here presented have been declared to be the best anywhere to be found. In New York they are of especial value in preparation for the Uniform Examinations, as the Bulletin is issued every month of the year (not for ten months only), at such a date that it will reach New York subscribers just before the Uniform Examination of the month, and thus present the news fresh and up to date.

It publishes each month all the Uniform Examination questions and answers of the preceding month, with all the illustrations in drawing and other subjects. It publishes all the questions given at the examinations for State Certificates; all the circulars and legal decisions issued by the Department of Public Instruction; and has indeed two Official Departments edited and conducted by members of the Department of Public Instruction and of the Regents, respectively.

It is therefore primarily an educational journal for New York teachers, and is meant to be a journal no New York teacher can afford to be without. But teachers in other States will find it of great service, both for the intrinsic value of its contents, and for the vivid picture it gives of educational progress in the Empire State.

THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.

To Advertisers.

There are more than a hundred regular educational journals published in America, besides several times as many periodicals published in the interests of certain particular schools and colleges. To choose among all these the ones which will prove of most service to you as advertising mediums is not an easy task. Here are some reasons why your first choice should be the SCHOOL BULLETIN.

1. It is the New York State Educational Journal. There are in New York more than 33,000 public school teacher, a fourth more than in all New England, and one-half more than in Pennselvania or Ohio. The salaries of these teachers amount to Twelve Millions of Dollars a year, and nearly as much more is spent for books, apparatus, building and other expenses. These teachers and these schools can be reached effectively only through the SCHOOL BULLETIN, which has Official Departments edited by the Superidtendent of Public Instruction, and by the Secretary of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, through which announcements are made to the schools and teachers of the State.

2. It has a sworn circulation of Ten Thousand copies. There is a good deal of lying about newspaper circulation, but we are ready to receive advertisements upon the guarantee that no less than 10,000 copies are printed of any issue. We printed of the 12 numbers of Vol. xix., 140,300 copies, an average of 10,692 copies each number.

3. It is a well-established journal of recognized influence. Since its first issue in 1874 the BULLETIN has not changed its form, its price, its principles, or its editor. A business now amounting to a hundred thousand dollars a year has grown up from it, our list of more than 500 books for teachers being appropriately named "The School Bulletin Publications."

4. Its rates are absolutely invariable. This may not seem an advantage to bargain-hunters, but most business men prefer to deal where only fair rates are published, and those rates are adhered to. We consider the space worth to us for our own advertisements the price asked, and do not care to consider any offer at a lower rate. The BULLETIN advertising column is 12 inches long and 2 inches wide, 4 columns to a page. We allow 12 lines nonpareil to the inch. Orders amounting to 12 inches are allowed column rates.

The Cyclopedia of Education.

This largest and handsomest of our publications is an octavo volume of 562 pages, price $3.75. How indispensable it is to the teacher and to the school library may be judged from the following testimonials.

"It is admirable in every way. The book is worthy of a lower shelf in every teacher's library.—Educational News, June 8, 1889.

"This handsomely printed book is worth adding to the pedagogical shelf of any reference library."—The Critic, March 23, 1889.

"An elegant volume, which will find a place in the library of every teacher. The bibliography at the end of the book is the best educational check-list in the country."—R. Heber Holbrook, in Normal Exponent, May, '89.

"It is the most ambitious work of the kind yet published in English, and is, therefore, a very valuable volume for the teacher's library. Moreover, its value is increased greatly by the addition of a very extensive Bibliography of Pedagogy, both English and foreign."—Pop'r Educator, Mch. '89.

"This work occupies a distinct and peculiar field, and will be of continual value to the educator. The special aim of the editor, Mr. A. Fletcher, has been to give a clear but concise account of facts and questions belonging to educational topics. Here are a few titles which will give some idea of the scope of the work: Pestalozzi, Attendance, Analysis of Sentences, Chemistry, Technical Education, Precocity, Pedagogy, Hamiltonian Method, Hegel, Universal Language, Utilitarianism, University, Kindergarten. Under these, and many scores of other topics, there is given a mass of carefully combined information, much of which could not be found elsewhere."—Christian Union, Feb. 22, 1889.

"A handbook of ready reference on educational subjects of a high plane of scholarship has long been a desideratum in this country, and this work in a large measure supplies this want. It is a handbook of reference on all subjects of education—its history, theory, and practice. The list of contributors to the work embraces the leading educational writers of England, including such names as Oscar Browning, J. S. Curwen, Sir Philip Magnus, Arthur Sidgwick, and James Sully. These men are writers of the broadest scholarship, capable of thinking deeply on educational subjects, and what they have to say is entitled to the highest confidence of the educational world. The object diligently kept in view by the writers of this work has been to make it useful to all who take an interest in educational questions, and especially to those engaged in teaching. With this purpose in view the object has been to present a practical view of educational facts and questions discussed. An exhaustive treatment of the great variety of subjects has not been aimed at, the end sought being to bring their pedagogic features into clear outline. Not the least useful part of the work is a 'Select and Systematic Bibliography of Pedagogy,' occupying some forty pages. The work makes a large octavo volume of 562 pages. The mechanical execution is unusually satisfactory."—Journal of Pedagogy, June, 1889.

The Standard Teachers' Library.

A Monthly Issue of Pedagogical Books which (1) Every Teacher OUGHT to nave because of their VALUE; (2) Every Teacher CAN have because of their PRICE.

Superintendents the country over have written to us: "Our teachers need your books, and are making heroic efforts to buy them, but really you do not realize how much a dollar means to a country teacher. If you could only give us these books equally well printed but in cheaper binding." In response to this demand, we have begun this Monthly Series, to include our very best books, of which the regular price in cloth is from $1.00 to $2.00 a volume. For this series the uniform price will be FIFTY CENTS, POST-PAID. They are just as well printed, on just as good paper, and just as strongly sewn, with cloth-strengthened backs, as our regular cloth editions. The difference is that they are bound in manilla, and so can be sent by mail at pound-rates, like a newspaper.

I wish that every teacher in our State could read the book, especially the chapters concerning Miss Duzenberrie and her model primary school."—Hon. *Charles R. Likewise happy are all readers, both old and young, who are permitted to share the story with them. It is just the thing for the children's hour', when the little ones are getting quiet and ready for something at once bright and helpful before they say Good Night."—Public Opinion.

Prof. Nicholas Murray Butler says in the Educational Review: "Prof. Williams's book is the latest, and for the American reader, the best. * * * It need hardly be said that it ought to displace all of the cheap compends in use."—Prof. Hugh O. Bird, of the State Normal College of Va., writes: "It is just the book I have been looking for. I have a class of 22 studying it and I find it very satisfactory."—Principal Rounds, of the N. H. Normal School, writes: "The book is better adapted to our use than any other."

The Critic calls it, "sensible in its views, and correct and clear in style." The American Journal of Education says: "It is not too much to say that for all ordinary purposes Prof. William's book is in itself a much more valuable pedagogical library than could be formed with it omitted." Science says: "Throughout the book the author shows good sense in his judgment of men and methods; and, what is no small merit in the present age, he is entirely free from hobbies."

OPINIONS OF WILLIAMS'S HISTORY

Prof. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER says in the Educational Review for December, 1892: "Prof. Williams's book is the latest, and for the American reader, the best. * * It is an interesting, accurate, and wise history of the period that it covers.

"One is struck with the excellent sense of proportion that pervades the work, as well as with the soundness of the author's judgments and his breadth of view. He is neither a partisan nor a sentimentalist. The capital sketch of Comenius—one of the best things in the book.—and the very discriminating and philosophical analysis of Rousseau's Emile may be cited as evidence of this. The young student will also derive no little help from Professor Williams's comments on the strength and the weakness of Herbert Spencer's essay on Education. In fact, the author's long teaching experience has stood him in good stead, and he has made a teacher's book.

"It need hardly be added that Professor Williams's History ought to displace all of the cheap compends now in use. It is also more serviceable, in this country at least, than the English translation of Compayré's History of Pedagogy. There is no question that this effort of Professor Williams 'to construct a narrative which should be truthful and perspicuous without being unduly bulky' has been successful. He has amply sustained his own reputation, and done the cause of education a substantial service."

Prof. HUGH O. BIRD, of the Department of Pedagogy in the College of William and Mary (State Male Normal College of Virginia), writes, Feb. 6, 1893: "Some time since, the very flattering review of your History of Modern Education in the Educational Review caused me to purchase the book. Suffice it to say that I was so much pleased with the spirit and scope of your work that I immediately adopted it as a text-book in my Intermediate class, and prescribed it for parallel reading in my Senior class. For it is just the book I have been looking for. Heretofore I have been forced to satisfy myself with Compayré's History, translated by my old professor, Dr. Payne, but I find your work will take its place. I have a class of twenty-two studying it, and find it very satisfactory."

Biographies of Great Teachers.

THOMAS ARNOLD.

1. A Memoir of Roger Ascham, by SAMUEL JOHNSON, LL.D.; and selections from the Life of Thomas Arnold, by Dean STANLEY. Edited, with Introductions and Notes by JAMES S. CARLISLE. 16mo, pp. 252. Manilla, 50 cts.; Cloth, $1.00.

Besides the biography of Ascham in full this volume contains selections from "The Schoolmaster", with facsimile of the ancient title-page. We also publish Ascham's Complete Works in four handsome volumes at $5.00.

From Stanley's "Life of Arnold" those chapters have been taken which refer to his work as a teacher, and are published without change. Thus the book gives in full compass and at a low price all that is most important in the lives of these two great teachers.

"No better reading could be selected for the teacher, none more stimulating, none more softening, than the lives of these two men, so conspicuous for their achievement as teachers."—The Evangelist.

2. John Amos Comenius, Bishop of the Moravians; his Life and Educational Works. By S. S. LAURIE. 16mo, pp. 232. Manilla, 50 cts.; Cloth, $1.

3. An Old Educational Reformer. Dr. Andrew Bell. By J. M. D. MEIKLEJOHN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 182. $1.00.

Dr. Bell was the founder of the Monitorial System that swept over England and America in the early part of this century, and was at that time the most famous teacher in the world. Prof. Meiklejohn has made his biography as entertaining as it is important in the history of education.

4. Pestalozzi: his Aim and Work. By Baron DEGUIMPS. Translated by MARGARET CUTHBERTSON CROMBIE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 336. $1.50.

5. Autobiography of Frederich Frœbel. Translated and annotated by EMILIE MICHAELIS and H. KEATLEY MOORE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 183. $1.50.

"He writes so simply and confidentially that no one can fail to understand everything in this new translation. It would be of great benefit to American youth for fathers and mothers to read this book for themselves, instead of leaving it entirely to professional teachers."—New York Herald.

6. The Educational Labors of Henry Barnard. By WILL S. MONROE. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 35. 50 cts.

7. Essays on Educational Reformers. By R. H. QUICK. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 331. $1.50.

Its vivacious style makes it the most interesting of educational histories. We publish separately at 15 cts. each these chapters: I. The Jesuits, II. Comenius, III. Locke, IV. Rousseau, V. Basedow, VI. Jacotot, VII. Pestalozzi.

John Amos Comenius.

1. John Amos Comenius, Bishop of the Moravians, his Life and Educational Works. By S. S. LAURIE. Reading Circle Edition. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 272. $1.00.

This edition differs from those hitherto published (1) in being indexed by head-lines, (2) in the insertion of five portraits, and (3) in the addition of a bibliography, with fifteen photographic reproductions of pages from early editions of his works. The core of the book is the account of The Great Didactic, pages 73-153, the best treatise on Method ever published, at once broad, sound, suggestive, and practically helpful. As a contribution both to the history of education and to its theories this book occupies a unique place, and is indispensable in even a small library of teachers' books.

2. The Orbis Pictus of John Amos Comenius. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 232. $3.00.

This beautiful volume is a reprint of the English edition of 1727, but with reproduction of the 151 copper-plate illustrations of the original edition of 1658. A copy of the rare original commands a hundred dollars, and this reprint must be considered a most important contribution to pedagogical literature. The Orbis Pictus was not only the first book of object lessons, but the first text-book in general use, and indeed, as the Encyclopædia Britannica states, "the first children's picture-book."

The book is a beautiful piece of work, and in every way superior to most of the fac-similes we have so far been presented with.—N. Y. World.

We welcome this resurrection of the Orbis Pictus, which has lain too long in suspended animation. The master-piece of Comenius, the prince of European educators of the 17th century, was the greatest boon conferred on the little ones in primary schools.—Nation.

The old wood illustrations are reproduced with absolute fidelity by a photographic process, and as the text follows closely letter by letter the old text, the book is substantially a copy of the rare original.—Literary World.

3. The Place of Comenius in the History of Education. By NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER. Paper, 16mo, pp. 20. 15 cts.

4. The Text-Books of Comenius. By WM. H. MAXWELL. Paper, 8vo, pp. 24. 29 Illustrations. 25 cts.

Everyone who feels that he cannot afford that beautiful volume, the Orbis Pictus, should invest a quarter in this, and find out what Comenius did.—Educational Courant.

The Orbis Pictus of Comenius.

This beautiful volume, (Cloth, 8vo, large paper, top-edge gilt, others uncut, pp. 197, $3.00) is a reprint of the English edition of 1727, but with reproduction of the 151 copper-cut illustrations of the original edition of 1658. A copy of the rare original commands a hundred dollars, and this reprint must be considered the most important contribution to pedagogical literature yet made. It was not only the first book of object lessons, but the first text-book in general use, and indeed, as the Encyclopædia Britannica states, "the first children's picture-book."

EXTRACTS FROM CRITICISMS.

The book is a beautiful piece of work, and in every way superior to most of the fac similes we have so far been presented with.—N. Y. World,

C. W. Bardeen, of Syracuse, has placed lovers of quaint old books under obligation to him.—N. Y. Sun.

We welcome this resurrection of the Orbis Pictus Sensualum Pictus, which has lain too long in suspended amination. This master-piece of Comenius, the prince of European educators in the 17th century, was the greatest boon ever conferred on the little ones in primary schools.—Nation.

Comenius's latest editor and publisher has therefore given us both a curiosity and a wholesome bit of ancient instruction in his handsome reprint of this pioneer work.—Critic.

It would be impossible to find an educational work which would exercise a stronger fascination upon the minds of the young.—Am. Book-maker.

The reproduction gives an excellent idea of the work and makes a most interesting volume for reference, especially as an illustration of the customs, manners, beliefs, and arts of the 17th century.—Independent.

Every educational library must have a copy of the book, if it wishes to lay any claim whatever to completeness, and as the edition is limited, orders should be sent early. We say right here that twenty-five dollars will not take our copy unless we are sure we can replace it.—Educational Courant.

John Henry Pestalozzi.

1. Pestalozzi; his Aim and Work. By Baron De Guimps. Translated by Margaret Cuthbertson Crombie. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 336. $1.50.

Among the best books that could be added to the teacher's library.—The Chautauquan.

It is sufficient to say that the book affords the fullest material for a knowledge of the life of the great educational reformer.—Literary World.

2. Pestalozzi and Pestalozzianism. By R. H. Quick. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. 15 cts.

This greatest of Pestalozzi's educational works is now for the first time published in English translation.

Pestalozzi's Leonard and Gertrude has appeared in several editions, and is considered an essential part of every teachers' library. But there is very little in it pertaining to teaching. It is mostly a story of German peasant life, interesting because it made Pestalozzi famous. But for some reason the sequel, How Gertrude Teaches her Children, has been neglected. A translation of some parts of it appeared in Biber's "Life of Pestalozzi" and some of it appeared in Barnard's American Journal of Education. But a complete translation now appears for the first time, and for the first time makes English readers thoroughly familiar with Pestalozzi's ideas of elementary instruction. The volume contains also "The Method; a Report by Pestalozzi to the Society of the Friends of Education, Burgdorf"; and an introduction of 51 pages by Ebenezer Cooke, and abundant notes. No more entertaining and instructive pedagogical work than this has ever appeared.

Useful and interesting * * * among the best that could be added to the teacher's library.—The Chautauquan, Oct., 1889.

There is no better introduction to the Kindergarten.—Wisconsin Journal of Education, Sept., 1889.

2. Child and Child-Nature. Contributions to the understanding of Froebel's Educational Theories. By the Baroness Marenholtz von Buelow. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 207. $1.50.

It is a fit companion to the Autobiography and the two are published in the same style—a capital idea—and a royal pair of volumes they make.—Educational Courant, Oct., 1889.

Its design is to illustrate the theory and philosopy of Froebel's system. It does this so clearly and pleasingly as to give no excuse for criticism. * * * * The volume is one profitable for every mother, as well as every teacher of children.—Chicago Interocean, Sept. 14, 1889.

3. The First Three Years of Childhood. By B. Perez, with an Introduction by Prof. Sully. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 294. $1.50.

Helps in Child Study.

1. The First Three Years of Childhood. By B. PEREZ, with an introduction by Prof. Sully. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 295. $1.50.

The most marked educational characteristic of the present decade is the study of children, which is everywhere becoming recognized as of fundamental importance. This is unquestionably the most helpful book in this direction that has been published. It is of such general interest that it is included by the American Library Association in the list of books to be contained in every library. No primary teacher can afford to be without it.

The eminent English psychologist, Prof. Sully, says that Perez combines in a very happy and unusual way the different qualifications of a good observer of children, and that he has given us the fullest account yet published of the facts of child-life.—Journal of Pedagogy.

The first four chapters deal with the faculties before birth, the motor activities from the beginning of life till fifteen months, giving full and distinct examples under each period of development. Then the first perceptions, instincts, and sentiments are taken up. From chapter vi. to chapter xii. are given the intellectual tendencies. Chapter xii. is devoted to the æsthetic, and xiii. to the moral sense. Many of M. Perez's illustrations are from children under his own observation, but to these he adds examples from the observations of other scientists and psychologists who have kept records of their children's early years. Tiedemann, Sigismund, Sabish, Darwin, Professor Preyer, M. Taine, are among the fathers quoted. From these he borrows no theories, but gives only the fruits of their real experience. * * * * The order and the method of this book are thoroughly scientific, the language simple, and the style bright and interesting. After reading it one feels much better acquainted with the mysterious world of infancy through which we have all passed, but of which we have retained so little memory.—The Evangelist.

2. Tiedmann's Record of Infant Life. An English version of the French translation and commentary of B. PEREZ. Paper, 16mo, pp. 46. 15 cts.

This English version was made by F. Louis Soldan, superintendent of schools, St. Louis, who says: "This essay is remarkable both on account of its contents and of the influence which its publication in France has had on the study of childhood. It is a reproduction of a little work by a German writer which, I think, was written about 100 years ago, but was completely forgotten until a French translation of it appeared in 1863, in the Journal Genêral de l' Instruction Publique, by Mr. Michelan. This translation attracted much attention, and seems to have given the first impulse to a number of most remarkable monographs on the development of childhood."

Psychology made Practical.

1. Apperception, or "A Pot of Green Feathers". By T. G. ROOPER. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 52. Price 50 cts.

This work is published at the suggestion of W. T. HARRIS, LL.D., Commissioner of Education, who says of it:

"The idea of 'apperception' is the most important fruit thus far developed by the study of the psychology of pedagogics. R. H. Quick, the eminent English authority refers in the highest terms to a short monograph on pedagogics which he had recently discovered, entitled A Pot of Green Feathers."

This book is a charming one, and simple enough to be understood by anybody.—Nicholas Murray Butler, Professor of Philosophy, Columbia College.

I appreciate the book very highly, and am perfectly willing that you should use my name in connection with it, as I heartily recommend it to every teacher. My students have really enjoyed it very much. I think I shall always have my class buy copies of the book. —Margaret K. Smith, Oswego Normal School.

2. Outlines of Psychology. By HENRY G. WILLIAMS. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 151. 75 cts.

This is a translation of the standard German text-book of the Herbartian system, and is the only complete edition. The present discussion over this system and its widening adoption make this book an absolute necessity to the teacher.

"If we mistake not, this work will do more for Herbart in America than anything that has hitherto appeared. It is clear, as translated Herbart has not always been; it is inspiring as few translations of modern German pedagogics have been. Few recent professional books deserve so universal an American reading."—New England Journal of Education.

The Five Great English Books.

1. Lectures on Teaching, delivered in the University of Cambridge during the Lent term, 1880. By J. G. FITCH, late one of her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 303. $1.25,

Mr. Quick said: "All the essentials of popularity are combined in Fitch's Lectures on Teaching, and this is now (and long may it continue!) one of our most read educational works." We publish also at 15 cts, each Mr. Fitch's "The Art of Questioning", and "The Art of Securing Attention"—two interesting monographs that have had wide circulation and influence.

2. Education, Intellectual, Moral, and Physical. By HERBERT SPENCER. 16mo, pp. 331. Cloth, $1.00; Manilla, 50 cts.

This is incomparably the best edition of this great classic, of which Mr. Quick says, classing it with Ascham's "Scholemaster" and Locke's "Thoughts": "If a teacher does not know these, he is not likely to know or care anything about the literature of education;" and of which Compayré says: "There is scarcely a book in which a keen scent for details comes more agreeably to animate a fund of solid arguments." In this edition there are a sketch and portrait of the author, 28 pages of Notes with the principal Criticisms, and a complete Topical Analysis for Reviews.

3. Lectures on the Science and Art of Teaching. By JOSEPH PAYNE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 384. Price $1.25.

These lectures are singularly fascinating, and full analyses and indexes in this edition make it easy to collate and compare all that the author has uttered upon any topic suggested.

4. The Philosophy of Education, or the Principles and Practice of Teaching. By THOMAS TATE. 16mo, pp. 440. Cloth, $1.50; Manilla, 50 cts.

This gives the application of the Science to the Art of Teaching, and is without a rival in its clear presentation and abundant illustrations. The author is not content with giving directions. He shows by specimens of class-work just what may be done and should be done.

5. Introductory Text-Book to School Education, Method, and School Management. By JOHN GILL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 276. Price $1.00.

This supplements the work of all the rest by practical directions as to School Management. The teacher's greatest difficulty, his surest discomfiture if he fails, is in the discipline and management of his school. That this manual has proved of inestimable help to English teachers is proved by the fact that the present edition is the 44th thousand printed.

HARRIS says: "In this book we have the rare opportunity of seeing our Educational System as it appears to one of our large-minded cousins from the opposite side of the world. * * * In view of this trend of educational management, the very intelligent criticism of Mr. Grasby will be read with profit by all our teachers and school directors."

2. State Education for the People in America, Europe, India, and Australia. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 176. $1.25.

This volume contains a series of papers prepared to show what are today the characteristic features of the school systems of the principal nations of the world. Bardeen's Roderick Hume.

The Story of a New York Teacher. Pp. 319. Cloth, $1.25; manilla, 50 cts. This is one of the 22 best books for teachers recommended by Chancellor W. H. Payne in the New England Journal of Education for Nov., 1893. It is also one of the books described by W. M. Griswold in his "A Descriptive List of Novels and Tales dealing with American Country Life."

Roderick Hume took possession of me, and the book was finished in one sitting that lasted beyond the smallest hour. I have joined the crowd in your triumphal procession. The characters are as truly painted as any in Dickens, and the moral is something that cannot be dodged.—Professor Edward North, Hamilton College.

My confinement at home gave me an opportunity to read it carefully, which I have done with great delight. I can certify that it is true to life. I have had experience in country and village schools as well as in the schools of the cities. The picture is true for all of them. I know too well how self-interest, jealousy, prejudice, and the whole host of meaner motives are likely to prevail in the management of school affairs anywhere. That the people should know this and yet entrust the management of their schools to men who are most likely to be influenced by personal considerations is strange indeed.—My memory brings to mind an original for every portrait you have drawn.—Andrew J. Rickoff, former Sup't of Schools, Cleveland, O.

Teachers cannot fail to be greatly benefited by the reading of the book. Roderick's address to his pupils is a compendium of the best points in the highest kind of school management. Miss Duzenberrie's victory and Vic Blarston's closing remarks ought to teach lessons of warning to many teachers who are even the most in earnest about their work. Mary Lowe is a beautiful model of a teacher, and no one will be surprised that Roderick should make her his helpmate instead of his assistant. It is a capital story, and we recommend it strongly to every Canadian teacher. Each one should get a copy for himself, as he will wish to read it more than once. —Inspector James L. Hughes, in Canadian School Journal.

In the columns of The Bulletin, in 1878, appeared a serial story which attracted the attention of educators in all parts of the country. It was entitled Roderick Hume, and was professedly "the story of a New York teacher." It was written with the specific view of portraying certain phases of the modern graded school. The narrative was not designed as a satire, though a vein of humor ran through it all; nor was it to be taken as an autobiography, though the author's own experiences were more or less interwoven with it. The interest of the story increased from month to month, and widely extended the reputation of The School Bulletin and its editor. Letters received from all parts of the country revealed, in fact, a phenomenal interest in its outcome. * * * Subsequently it appeared in book form, and it has since held a unique place in American literature.—The Schoolmaster in Comedy and Satire, p. 453.

Books for Young Teachers.

1. The Theory and Practice of Teaching. By DAVID P. PAGE. 16mo, pp 448, with Biography, Notes, Portraits of Page, Mann, Colburn, Emerson, Potter, Wadsworth, and Olmsted, and Topical Index for Review. Price in Manilla, 50 cts.; in Cloth, $1.00.

No other American book on teaching has so much claim as this to be considered a classic. For nearly fifty years it has been regarded almost universally as the one book the young teacher would most profit by. A hundred thousand teachers have drawn help and inspiration from its pages.

It seems only just to the author of a work so successful that his book should be printed just as he wrote it. The day is past when commentators re-write Shakspere. They may annotate and explain and conjecture, but they take the text as they find it, and print their observations in another type. This book has been less fortunate. In different editions since Mr. Page's death chapters have been added, details have been changed, passages have been entirely rewritten.

This volume goes back to the book that Mr. Page published, and follows word for word the text of the only edition he ever authorized. Where the times have changed and we in them, references to present conditions are given in the Notes that follow, which are also in some part explanatory and historical.

In short this is so much the best edition issued, that even those who already have another edition can afford to throw that aside and use this alone.

2. Hand-Book for Young Teachers. By H. B. BUCKHAM, late principal of the State Normal School at Buffalo. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 152. Price 75 cents.

It anticipates all the difficulties likely to be encountered, and gives the beginner the counsel of an older friend.

3. The School Room Guide, embodying the instruction given by the author at Teachers' Institutes in New York and other States, and especially intended to assist Public School Teachers in the Practical Work of the School-Room. By E. V. DEGRAFF. Thirteenth edition, with many additions and corrections. 16mo, cloth, pp. 398. Price $1.50.

As distinguished from others of the modern standards, this is a book of Methods instead of theories. It tells the teacher just what to do and how to do it; and it has proved more practically helpful in the details of the school-room than any other book ever issued.

THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.

DeGraff's School-Room Guide.

For the fifth time an entirely new set of plates has been made for this volume. The advantage of such large sale as to make this possible is nowhere more manifest than in a book of methods. Whatever it may have been in the past, the teaching of to-day is progressive, and the methods of 1877 are not altogether the methods of 1894. Particularly in Drawing and in Penmanship has such advance been made that it seemed necessary to have those chapters entirely rewritten. Of the new chapters it need only be said that they have been prepared respectively by Mrs. Mary Dana Hicks of Boston; and by Charles R. Wells, author of the Movement Method of Penmanship. We have also substituted for the Geography of North America prepared by Mr. DeGraff an entirely new chapter, condensed from the admirable works of Prof. Meiklejohn, and in accord with the most approved modern method of teaching; and we have inserted the course of study for district schools prepared by a committee of the school commissioners of the State of New York and approved by the State Superintendent. But mainly the book is as the author originally wrote it. What there is in Prof. DeGraff's method of presentation that so reaches and holds the young teacher, it might be hard to say: but he has never had his equal as an institute instructor in the inspiration he gave; and superintendents everywhere agree that where other books are bought and put away, the "School-Room Guide" is bought and kept on the desk, for daily use. Some books are recommended because it is creditable to own them; this is recommended by those who know it because it will help. Here are some testimonials:

"I have known DeGraff's School-Room Guide for ten years, first as School Commissioner, where it was the book I recommended for my teachers, and recently as instructor of the Training Class in this city, where it is the text-book employed. * * * I have no hesitation in saying that if a teacher can have BUT ONE BOOK from which to obtain help in school work, that book should be DeGraff's School-Room Guide."—Principal G. A. Lewis, Syracuse, N. Y.

"If a teacher can have but one book, let this be the book."—Ed'l Courant.

"The almost unparalleled success of this volume, it having reached its 70th edition, is its all-sufficient recommendation. School-men and teachers in every county in the Union know it 'like a book'."—N. E. Journal of Education.

It's a gem. I did not have opportunity to read it till yesterday, and I do not remember when I have spent a pleasanter hour. It should be read by every teacher and by every pupil. The thing that makes it especially valuable is the broad-gauge view it takes of the subject.—Inspector CHAS. F. WHEELOCK, Canajoharie, June 18, 1894.

In this little book of 66 pages the author's reasons with clear logic and perfect fairness in favor of the retention of Greek in our institutions of learning. The language is admirable and the quotations show a rarely cultivated taste.—Public Opinion.

If one takes up this book expecting to find labored arguments in defence of retaining a place for the study of Greek in secondary education, he will not only find his mistake but continue to read on and on to the end, for the pleasure he finds in the attractive, original, and alive manner in which the subject is treated. The book is a poem written with a poet's insight, and every point in the defence of the retention of Greek is made from the view point of a cultured mind, filled with enthusiasm, and expressing itself in words at once fervid and eloquent.—Primary Education.

Industrial Education.

1. The Educational Value of Manual Training. By Wm. T. Harris, LL.D., Commissioner of Education. Paper, 8vo. pp. 14. Price 15 cts.

2. Art Education the True Industrial Education. By Wm. T. Harris, LL.D., Commissioner of Education. Paper, 8vo, pp. 9. Price 15 cts.

These two papers by the profoundest educational thinker of our time present powerfully the arguments against industrial education as it is often advocated and introduced. A careful line is drawn between what is and what is not the legitimate place of hand-training in our public schools. No advocate of either side of this question can afford to be ignorant of these two papers.

3. Aspects of Industrial Education. By H. H. Straight. Paper, 16mo, pp. 12. Price 15 cts.

4. The School Work-Shop. By the Baroness Von Marenholz-Buelow, translated by Miss Susan E. Blow. Paper, 16mo, pp. 27. Price 15 cts.

The Baroness Von Marenholz-Buelow is recognized as the foremost advocate of the doctrines of Frœbel, to which she has indeed given fuller and more practical expression than he was able to himself. From her point of view the work-shop in the school-room is the legitimate and necessary development of his theory of education. But while she recognizes that manual labor must be introduced not as an end but as a means to general culture and development, she argues that laborers can demand of society no higher right than an education to labor. The argument from this point of view has never been more strongly presented, and those who would form sound ideas that they are able to defend should be familiar with this little book.

5. Industrial Instruction a Pedagogic and Social Necessity. Together with a Critique on Objections Advanced. By Robert Seidel. Translated by Miss Margaret K. Smith. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 160. Price 80 cts.

This is a more elaborate, extended, and comprehensive argument, and is indeed by far the strongest and broadest defence of manual training that has appeared.

6. The Manual Training School, comprising a full statement of its Aims, Methods, and Results, with figured Drawings of Shop Exercises in Woods and Metals. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 366. Price $2.00.

This volume presents the course of instruction given in the school in St. Louis of which the author has been so long the principal. It is careful and minute in detail, abundantly illustrated, and in every way the most complete practical manual that has appeared.

Helpful Handbooks for Teachers.

1. Mistakes in Teaching. By James L. Hughes, Inspector of Schools, Toronto. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 135. 50 cts.

This little book discusses tersely in Mr. Hughes's pleasant way over one hundred of the mistakes commonly made by untrained or inexperienced teachers. It warns young teachers of the errors they are liable to make, and calls the attention of older teachers to those they are in the habit of making. These mistakes are arranged under four heads: management, discipline, method, and manner. Sup't Newell of Maryland said of it: "This is one of the most readable books of the kind that I have seen. It is evidently the fruit of much careful observation and a sound philosophy. * * For young teachers I know of no book that contains in the same compass so much matter directly bearing on their work, and capable of being immediately utilized." More than 15,000 copies have been used in the institutes of Iowa alone.

3. The Art of Securing Attention. By J. G. Fitch. Paper, 16mo, pp. 43. 15 cts.

4. The Art of Questioning. By J. G. Fitch. Paper, 16mo, pp. 86. 15 cts.

"Mr. Fitch, who is happily inside his subject, and clear as a bell, divides teachers' questions into three kinds: those which help the instructor to measure the knowledge of his pupil,—experiment; those which compel the pupil to do his own thinking,—instruction; and those which test this result,—examination. By precept and example he shows how a teacher may develop interest, may connect new knowledge with what has already been attained, may stimulate mental action, and put a living spirit into the exercises."—Christian Register.

5. Verbal Pitfalls; a manual of 1500 words commonly Misused. By C. W. Bardeen. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 223. 75 cts.

"In these days of slang and careless speech there is great use for a book of this kind, and teachers should have a copy lying on their desk in the school-room, ready for constant reference."—No. Carolina Teacher.

"I am very much pleased with it, and shall have it at once placed on our library list and made one of the requisites for the teacher's desk."—Sup't C. T. Meredith, Ventura Co., Cal.

This is emphatically a book for beginners, and it is a book without which no teacher should undertake a first term at school.

"If there be another book to compare with it in practical usefulness we have not seen it."—Public School Journal.

As distinguished from others of the modern standards, this is a book of methods instead of theories. It tells the teacher just what to do and how to do it; and it has proved more practically helpful in the school-room than any other book ever issued.

3. The Theory and Practice of Teaching. By DAVID P. PAGE. 16mo, pp. 448. Manilla, 50 cts.; cloth, $1.00.

Of the last two it need only be said that they were two of the three books selected by the Examination Board of the State of New York as the text-books on which all questions upon Methods and School Management should be based in the State and Uniform Examinations for 1895, and were re-adopted for 1896.

4. Introductory Text-Book to School Education, Method, and School Management. By JOHN GILL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 276. $1.00.

More than 15,000 have been used in the county institutes of Iowa, and elsewhere superintendents often choose this book for their less thoughtful teachers, assured that its pungent style and chatty treatment will arrest attention and produce good results.

9. A Quiz-Book on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. By A. P. SOUTHWICK. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 220. $1.00.

10. Dime Question Book on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. By A. P. SOUTHWICK. Paper, 16mo, pp. 37. 10 cts.

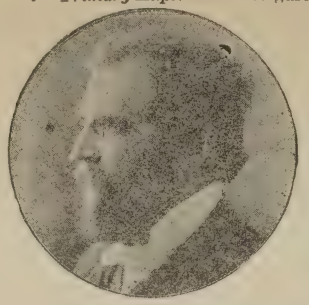
Special Helps in Primary Teaching.

1 Primary Helps. A Kindergarten Manual for Public School Teachers. By W. N. HAILMANN, Sup't of Indian Schools. Boards, 8vo, pp. 58, with 15 full-page plates. 75 cts.



Sup't Hailmann is undoubtedly the best exponent of kindergarten principles in this country. Thoroughly pervaded with the spirit of Frœbel, he is also a public-school man of long experience, as member of the Detroit Board of Education, and as superintendent of the schools at La Porte. For years it has been his purpose to harmonize all who are engaged in the work, and especially to establish a connection between the kindergarten and the public schools. This book is the fruit of his efforts in this direction. It makes the principles of Frœbel applicable in primary schools. Take for instance Chapter IV., on the use of sticks in teaching arithmetic. The general principles here laid down have been applied in many of the public schools, but the method has never before been so thoroughly systematized and perfected. There is no primary teacher who would not profit by the careful study of this work; there is no teacher who could not herself use in her school very many of the appliances here suggested. It shows how to make work pleasant for the child and yet a factor in education, developing the artistic sense, and arousing the powers of observation, imagination, and invention.

2. Autobiography of Fredrick Frœbel. Translated and annotated by EMILY MICHAELIS and H. KEATLY MOORE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 185. $1.50.

3. Child and Child-Nature. Contributions to the understanding of Frœbel's Educational Theories. By the Baroness MARENHOLZ VON BUELOW. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 207. $1.50.

4. A Kindergarten System. By EMILY SHIRREFF. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 200. $1.00.

5. Essays on the Kindergarten. Being a selection of lectures read before the London Frœbel Society. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 175. $1.00.

6. The New Education. By Prof. J. M. D. MEIKLEJOHN. Paper, 16mo, pp. 35. 15 cts.

7. The First Three Years of Childhood. By B. PEREZ, with an introduction by Prof. Sully. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 295. $1.50.

The most marked educational characteristic of the present decade is the study of children, which is everywhere becoming recognized as of fundamental importance. This is unquestionably the most helpful book in this direction that has been published. It is of such general interest that it is included by the American Library Association in the list of books to be contained in every library. No primary teacher can afford to be without it.

Books on Methods of Teaching.

1. On the Province of Methods of Teaching. By J. H. HOOSE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 376. $1.00.

Col. Parker calls this "the best book for study ever written by an American". Commissioner Wm. T. Harris says: "I consider your position to be eminently sound, and your views everywhere thoughtful and suggestive of thought, and as such a work I hope to see it in the hands of all the teachers of our land." F. Louis Soldan says: "The author has given us a most valuable work, which will introduce the student to a deeper insight into the history of education."

2. The School Room Guide, embodying the instruction given by the author at Teachers' Institutes in New York and other States, and especially intended to assist Public School Teachers in the Practical Work in the School-Room. By E. V. DEGRAFF. 16mo, pp. 396. Manilla, 50 cts.: cloth, $1.50.

As distinguished from others of the modern standards, this is a book of methods instead of theories. It tells the teacher just what to do and how to do it; and it has proved more practically helpful in the school-room than any other book ever issued.

3. The Theory and Practice of Teaching. By DAVID P. PAGE. 16mo, pp. 448. Manilla, 50 cts.; cloth, $1.00.

Of these two last books it is perhaps enough to say that after being adopted in 1895 by the State of New York as the text-books upon which the uniform examinations for teachers were based, they were re-adopted for 1896, showing how thoroughly practical and helpful they had proved.

4. The Teachers' Institute; or Familiar Hints to Young Teachers. By WM. B. FOWLE. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 258. $1.00.

This standard work gives methods in all the common subjects, with lectures on the uses and abuses of memory, the monitorial system, the opening and closing of school, emulation and discipline, etc.

5. Methods of Teachers' Institutes, and the Theory of Education. By SAMUEL P. BATES. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 75. 75 cts.

A well-known book, with many suggestions that are still valuable.

6. Methods in Common Branches. A book for the Common School Teacher. By C. B. VAN WIE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 197. 75 cts.

This treats of Method in Education, and Methods in Arithmetic, Language, Geography, U. S. History, Physiology, Practical Talks, etc. It is practical and directly helpful.

For Methods in special subjects see our catalogue-pages on Helps in Teaching Arithmetic, Higher Mathematics, Geography, History, Elementary Language, English Grammar, Foreign Languages, Literature, Reading, Penmanship, Physical Science, Physical Culture, etc.

4. 500 Questions in Civics. 250 cards, 1½x4 inches. 50 cts.

These questions are printed on slips of cardboard 1½ x 4 inches, two questions on a card. The questions are not confined to the Constitution of the United States, but include many pertinent questions on important subjects of the day. These questions are designed for general or class use in High, Grammar, and Rural Schools. A Key for the teacher is included.

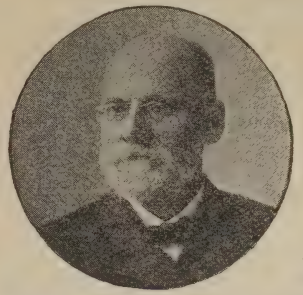
Helps in Oral Teaching

1. How to Teach Natural Science in the Public Schools. By W. T. HARRIS, LL.D., Commissioner of Education. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 66. 50 cts.



Nothing better on the subject is accessible in so compact a form.—The Critic.

It remains to-day, after the lapse of nearly a quarter of a century, the best plan for teaching science ever made.—Teachers' World.

Of all the valuable discussions in Dr. Harris's St. Louis reports, one of the most frequently quoted is, How to Teach Natural Science. Thoughtful teachers will welcome the tasteful dress of this new edition.—Educational Review.

It is a book which members of school boards as well as teachers in public schools would do well to read. Commissioner Harris believes that the elements of the different sciences can be studied to advantage at an early age, and that it is a pity that these most useful branches should be placed so far on in the school course that the great majority of pupils never reach them. He advocates setting aside one hour per week throughout each of the seven years of a district school course for such work, and has sketched a course by which each of the subjects is gone over three times in the seven years, each time in a more advanced and thorough manner.—W. Z. Bennett, in Post-Graduate and Wooster Quarterly.

2. Oral Training Lessons in Natural Science and General Knowledge. By H. BARNARD. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 136. 75 cts.

This book gives instruction in the form of elliptical answers, to be answered by the class either singly or in concert. Words to be written on the board are indicated by small capitals, and the work of the teacher is laid out so plainly that the beginner can hardly mistake, while older teachers will find constant suggestion. The work has long been a standard.

3. Object Lessons, or Words, and Things. By T. G. ROOPER. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 56. 50 cts.

The lesson on the Duck has no equal for interest and suggestiveness.

4. A Graded Course of Instruction for Public Schools. By W. H. WELLS. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 200. $1.00.

This includes a careful course in oral lessons, with directions, analyses, and references to books from which information may be obtained.

5. Limits of Oral Teaching. By JOHN W. DICKINSON. Paper, 16mo, pp. 24. 15 cts. The standard treatise on this subject.

The Song Budget Music Series.

1. The Song Budget. Paper, small 4to, pp. 76, 15 cts. Leatherette, 25 cts.

2. The Song Century. Paper, small 4to, pp. 87, 15 cts. Leatherette, 25 cts.

3. The Song Patriot. Paper, small 4to, pp. 80, 15 cts. Leatherette, 25 cts.

4. The Song Budget Music Series Combined, containing all three of the above in one volume, with opening exercises for schools added. Cloth, small 4to, pp. 260. 50 cts.

The distinguishing features of the Song Budget Music Series, of which nearly half a million copies have been sold, are these:

1st. To give a good deal for the money. Each of the books is sold at 15 cts., though containing as much as the usual 50-cent book. We publish editions of each of them in leatherette at 25 cts., but the great sale has been for the 15-cent editions that everybody could afford. Tens of thousands have been sold for institutes and other gatherings where an expensive book could not have been purchased.

2d. To give only the best music. The cost of copyright has never been allowed to stand in the way of really desirable songs, and large sums have been paid for the right to use the songs selected.

3d. To give music just as it was written. In the Song Budget, every piece, so far as possible, has been harmonized directly from the original; and while the setting is uniformly in four parts, which makes the playing easy for those unused to intricate accompaniments, the harmonies have been restored, and the music made infinitely richer. Many a cabinet-organist who has sought in vain for a "Lost Chord" will find and delight in it here.

4th. To give only songs that are strong, healthful, helpful, both in music and in words. There is no sickly sentimentality in the Song Budget Series. Life is real, life is earnest in these songs; and it is happy, too. Pathetic songs may be found here, for the youthful mind craves the sweet sorrow of pathetic contemplation. But the pathos is always real, and always offers helpful suggestion. Nothing mawkish, nothing of strained or affected emotion will be found in any of these books. Send 15 cents for one as a specimen.

5. The School Room Chorus, containing all the songs in the Song Budget and as many more. Boards, small 4to, pp. 147. 35 cents.

6. The Song Gymnast. Cloth, small 4to, pp. 110. 50 cents.

This contains three series of calisthenic exercises for schools: Elementary, Advanced, and Exhibition exercises, all with music, careful directions, and abundant illustrations, some hundreds of figures being given. It is the most practical and available collection ever made.

7. Songs of the Lyceum League. Leatherette, small 4to, pp. 48. 20 cts.

This is a collection prepared by Mr. Francis Bellamy for the Lyceum League of America. Besides patriotic songs, many of them original and copyrighted, it has a choice selection of other songs, and is well adapted to the school and the family.

8. The Diadem of School Songs. By WILLIAM TILLINGHAST. Boards, small 4to, pp. 160. 50 cents.

This is the only book we publish which contains instruction in vocal music. It is widely used and always liked.

9. Songs from the Arbor-Day Manual. Manilla, 8vo, pp. 60. 25 cts.

Particularly adapted for Arbor Day, but suitable for general use.

Books for Teaching Arithmetic.

1. Short Cuts in Arithmetic, containing a large selection of abbreviated Processes, Geometrical Problems, Curiosities in Mathematics, etc. By Prof. Hudson A. Wood, Ph.D., Stevens School, Hoboken, N. J. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 149. Price 75 cts.

The sale of "Lightning Calculators" has been immense, because, despite their empirical character, they have contained some quick processes that were practicable. We are therefore glad to offer the public a scholarly work containing all these processes that have real value, but presented in admirable form with abundant illustration. In teaching arithmetic it should be borne in mind that the quickest accountants are the surest, and that any help a boy gets in rapidity is a direct lift towards success in business life. Besides, such help is the best of all incentives to interest in the class. No teacher of arithmetic should fail to procure, master, and use this book.

2. First Steps Among Figures. A drill book in the Fundamental Rules of Arithmetic. By Levi N. Beebe. Cloth, 16mo, 3 editions. Pupils' Edition, pp. 140, 45 cts. Oral Edition, pp. 139, 50 cts. Teachers' Edition, including all in both the others, with additional parallel matter, Index and Key, pp. 336, $1.

These books give the only practical exposition of the Grubé Method, now so generally believed to produce the best results with beginners.

3. Pestalozzian Arithmetics. By James H. Hoose, Ph.D. (a) Teachers' Manual and First-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Boards, pp. 217, 50 cts. (b) First-Year Text-Book. Boards, 16mo, pp. 135, 35 cts. (c) Second-Year Text-Book. Boards, 16mo, pp. 236, 50 cts.

This is a practical exposition of the Pestalozzian Method. It is diametrically opposed to the Grubé Method, and good teachers should be familiar with both.

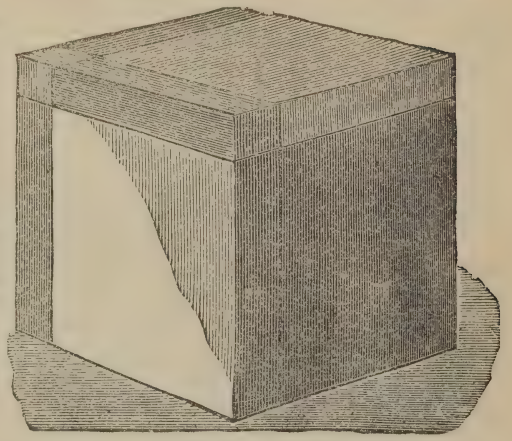
Useful Appliances in Arithmetic.

1. Cube Root Blocks, carried to three places. In box, $1.00.



This device for teaching cube root is now considered indispensable. Our blocks are unusually large measuring three inches when the cube is completed, and the additions are of alternate black walnut and maple.

2. A Fractional Apparatus. By W. W. Davis. A box of eight wooden balls, three and one-half inches in diameter, seven of which are sawn into 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, and 12 parts respectively, while the eighth is left a sphere. With Manual, price $4.00. Manual alone, Paper, 16mo, pp. 43, 25 cts.

Many other experiments are resorted to, but they are all objectionable, the charm of this method being the exact presentation to the pupil's eye of the fact illustrated.

3. Numeral Frame, with 100 balls, $1.25; with 144 balls, $1.50.

4. The Word Method in Number. By Henry R. Sanford. 45 Cards. 3¼ x 5¾ inches, in Box, 50 cts. For rapid work. Send for special circular.

5. The Bulletin Number Fan, giving by an ingenious mechanical device all possible combinations of numbers, with any desired rapidity. 11 x 15 inches. $1.00. Send for special circular.

6. 500 Every Day Business Problems in Arithmetic. By A. M. Edwards. On cards, 1⅛ x 3½ inches, in Box, with Key, 50 cts.

These problems are printed on slips of card-board, one problem to each slip, so that a single box will answer for an entire school. Answers are given in the accompanying Key for the teacher's use. Superintendents find these problems of great interest and practical value, when visiting schools.

7. Honesty Cards in Arithmetic. By H. C. Bristol. 50 cards, 3 x 4½ inches, in Box, with Key, 50 cts.

These cards give a different problem to every pupil in the room without additional labor on the part of the teacher.

Arithmetic by the Grubé Method.

1. First Steps among Figures. A drill book in the Fundamental Rules of Arithmetic. By LEVI N. BEEBE. Cloth, 16mo, 3 editions. Pupils' Edition, pp. 140, 45 cts. Oral Edition, pp. 139, 50 cts. Teachers' Edition, including all in both the others, with additional parallel matter, Index, and Key, pp. 326, $1.00.

These books give the only practical exposition of the Grubé Method, now generally admitted to produce the best results with beginners. It has been used ten years in the primary schools of such cities as Norwich, Conn., and Auburn, N. Y., and for many years every student in the Albany State Normal School has been directed to purchase a copy to take with him for his subsequent use in teaching.

"We are still successfully using Beebe's First Steps. It has many admirable qualities."—Sup't N. L. Bishop, Norwich, Conn.

"I think it especially excellent for a system of graded schools, where uniformity of teaching is essential. It develops in practical shape an idea that I have long sustained as to the proper method of teaching arithmetic." Sup't B. B. Snow, Auburn, N. Y.

"I have recommended Beebe's First Steps as the best work in primary arithmetic. . . . The book is received with much favor, and is very helpful to me in my work."—Prof. A. N. Husted, State Normal School, Albany, N. Y.

"I am much pleased with the book, and wish every primary teacher to have a copy."—Sup't J. M. Frost, Hudson, N. Y.

"By vote of the Board of Education a copy of the Teachers' Edition was placed on the desk of every primary teacher in the city.—Sup't Edward Smith, Syracuse, N. Y.

"I consider Beebe's First Steps the best work of the kind that I have ever seen, and I take every opportunity to recommend it."—Mary L. Sutliff, Haiku, Maui, Hawaian Islands, Feb. 9, 1888.

2 The Pestalozzian Series of Arithmetics. Teachers' Manual and First-Year Text-Book for pupils in the first grade. Based upon Pestalozzi's method of teaching Elementary Number. By JAMES H. HOOSE. Boards, 16mo, 2 editions. Pupils' Edition, pp. 156, 35 cts. Teacher's Edition, containing the former, with additional matter, pp. 217, 50 cts.

This is a practical exposition of the Pestalozzian Method, and has met with great success not only in the Cortland Normal School, where it was first developed, but in many other leading schools, as at Gloversville, Babylon, etc. It is diametrically opposed to the Grubé Method, and good teachers should be familiar with both, that they may choose intelligently between them.

This work was prepared in 1835 under the supervision of Dr. C Mayo in the first English Pestalozzian school, and has particular value as representing directly the educational methods of the great reformer.

—THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.—

The Pestalozzian Arithmetics.

1. Teachers' Manual and First-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Based upon Pestalozzi's method of teaching Elementary Number. By JAMES H. HOOSE, Ph.D. Boards, pp. 217, 50 cts.

2. First-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Boards, 16mo, pp. 135, 35 cts.

3. Second-Year Text-Book of Primary Arithmetic. Boards, 16mo, pp. 236, 50 cts.

This is a practical exposition of the Pestalozzian Method, and has met with great success not only in the Cortland Normal School, where it was first developed, but in many other leading schools, as in Gloversville, Babylon, etc. It is diametrically opposed to the Grubé Method, and good teachers should be familiar with both, that they may choose intelligently between them.

The author states the principles of this system as follows:

"The Pestalozzian system of Number proceeds on the theory and practice of introducing to the pupil a minimum variety of objects, and of giving to him a maximum amount of practice upon a few forms. The forms are those which constitute mathematics; they are as general as mathematics are general; learned once, always useful.

"The system recognizes the difference between processes in arithmetic, and the reasoning required in so-called practical examples. The mastery of a process (addition, multiplication or subtraction) is a language, is an expertness, is a facility in procedure; it is acquired by practice, repetition; it is habit, which is power acting in a particular form. Practical examples introduce relations which are discovered by the logical aptitudes of mind. The child masters easily a form of operation, a process; this mastery gives the pupil ambition; this ambition to test in a greater degree his powers, constitutes his interest in his work; his interest stimulates his courage. The pupil is trained in this manner in his moral character. The very uniformities in the system are sources of strength to the child, the same as the uniformities of action in learning the keyboard of the piano are elements of mastery in learning to play the instrument."

The Word Method in Number.

These cards need only to be seen in order to be introduced at once, as the principle is already familiar and accepted. The numbers are all printed in type like that here shown. The importance of using script figures for this exercise cannot be overestimated.

The same figures are reversed upon the opposite side of the card so that as the teacher lifts the card he knows the sum of the figures on the other side.

As soon as the pupils commence reading, they should have lessons in number, and the first lesson should be in combining single figures. In this so much practice should be given that the pupil when adding will learn to look upon the combination $\frac{4}{9}$ as itself "13," not as "4 and 9 are 13," just as we learn to look upon cat as an entire word —not as c-a-t, cat.

Equal readiness should follow in subtraction, until combinations of two figures are as familiar as combinations of letters in words.

At first add familiar objects, passing afterwards to abstract numbers; write the simplest combinations on the blackboard, as they are on the cards, and write the answer in the proper place. Repeat this a few times that the method of writing numbers for addition may be learned. Then use the cards for drill, adding new cards from time to time, as new combinations are developed. Do not introduce new cards too rapidly.

At every exercise, review all cards previously used; answers should be given immediately on presenting the cards. Use the cards selected for a particular exercise miscellaneously, so that no answer can be guessed from the preceding. Pursue the same plan in subtraction and mulipli- cation.

In subtraction when the smaller number is above, pupils will readily add ten to the minuend, and give the remainder in the usual manner.

Success will be certain if new combinations are introduced only after those already presented are thoroughly learned. Reviews should be constant.

"Will you send me one-half dozen cases of Sanford's Number Cards? I have many inquiries for them. Some of our visitors have been lavish in their praise of our work with the cards. Two of these sets are given away to try the card work. This makes fourteen packages of the cards I have ordered. After a few days, when our class drills more, send Prof. Sanford down and we will show him more than he advertises."—B. G. Clapp, principal Union School, Fulton, N. Y., May 2, 1889. "During several years at the Potsdam Normal we used Sanford's Number Cards with great success in our primary and intermediate departments. We found them excellent for quick work. Please send me three sets for our primary and preparatory departments here. A teacher who has once used them cannot afford to be without them."—E. H. Cook, Ph.D., headmaster Rutgers College grammar school, Jan. 31, 1890. "I have frequently advised teachers to buy Sanford's Number Cards, because I know from my own experience that they are very valuable in aiding the teacher to fix in the pupils' memory the results of the elementary processes with numbers."—Wm. J. Milne, LL.D., Ph.D., president New York State Teachers' College, Feb. 5, 1890.

Helps in Higher Mathematics.

1. Algebra for Beginners. By O. S. MICHAEL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 120. 75 cts.

The study of algebra is usually made a single year's work succeeding arithmetic, which is supposed to have been completed before algebra is begun. As a consequence, abstract reasoning has often been replaced by rote-work according to certain rules of which beginners seldom appreciate the principles. This book is meant to take the place of arithmetic before the latter has been fully completed, for a portion of the year. The language has been made popular and free from technical phrases, the steps from concrete to abstract reasoning have been made easy, and much practical work is given for exercise. More than usual prominence has been given to the translation of arithmetic into algebraic language, and vice versa. If its methods are followed, the more abstract portions of arithmetic, like evolution, will prove of greater interest and value. All algebra teachers will find much in this book that is simplifying and helpful.

2. Practical Geometry Test Papers. By WM. SMITH. Package of 100, 8½ x 10. $1.00.

These are working problems and theorems, with only the figure and the directions placed before the pupil. This is the kind of work now given in most examinations, and a special drill in it will be found invaluable. The teacher who has retained the methods of twenty years ago does not realize how thoroughly modern teaching is committed to sight-work. At Harvard the examinations every year tend more and more to work the pupil has not before seen. "We want to know what you can do: not what you have done," is the word everywhere. In no study is this more marked than in geometry. The teacher who uses only the problems and theorems of the text-book will send out pupils who will be at a disadvantage when put beside those drilled on papers like these.

3. A Manual of Mensuration. By H. H. HUTTON. Boards, 16mo, pp. 168. 50 cts.

The treatment of mensuration in most series of arithmetics is so meagre as to leave many practical problems untouched. Even where much attention is given to the subject, a fuller treatment will be found of much importance. This manual covers every kind of problem likely to arise in school work, and will be found a useful part of the teacher's equipment.

4. Latitude and Longitude, and Longitude and Time. By J. A. BASSETT. Manilla, 16mo, pp 42. 25 cts.

This is a comprehensive discussion, with over 100 illustrative questions and problems. By its use what is usually one of the most hazy elements of a pupil's knowledge of physical geography may be made one of the clearest.

5. The International Date-Line, or Where does the Day Begin? By HENRY COLLINS. Paper, 16mo, pp. 15. 15 cts.

A conclusive treatment of a subject often debated.

4. An Anatomical Manikin. By CARL V. HENNIG. 8vo, pp. 18. $1.00.

By an ingenious arrangement the parts of the body properly colored are arranged in their natural position, so that the layers may be lifted and the under parts shown, as in expensive manikins. It is excellent both for class use and for private study.

5. A Hundred Home-Made Experiments in Natural Science. By JOHN S. MCKAY, Ph.D. Paper, 16mo, pp. 50. 15 cts.

This describes simple experiments so arranged as to teach physics inductively, and contains 17 illustrations. It may be used with profit in any district school.

6. Systematic Plant Record. By Prof. L. M. UNDERWOOD. Manilla, 4to, pp. 52. 30 cts.

7. Dime Question Book of Stimulants and Narcotics, prepared in accordance with the effort to promote Temperance in the Public Schools. By C. W. BARDEEN. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. 10 cts.

8. Dime Question Books of Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Botany, Zoölogy, Physiology, Astronomy. By ALBERT P. SOUTHWICK. Paper, 16mo, pp. about 40. Price of each 10 cts.

Without being exhaustive in the subjects, these little books give much information and many useful suggestions to teachers. They are capital for review, and especially in preparation for examinations.

Helps in Physical Culture.

1. Home Exercise for Health and Cure. Translated from the German of D. G. R. SCHREBER, M. D., by CHARLES RUSSELL BARDEEN, assistant in histology, Johns Hopkins University. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 91, 45 Illustrations, 50 cts.

These are recognized in this manual, which provides "prescriptions", or combinations of exercises to meet certain needs. The exercises are for men and women alike, and there is not a teacher in America but would profit by them.

An interesting manual which not only does not require a gymnasium, but even dispenses with Indian clubs, wands, and dumb-bells. The original treatise has had a wide circulation in Germany. It suggests the principles of the Delsarte system.—Atlantic Monthly.

In Germany 140,000 copies of this book have been sold, and American teachers would do well to make themselves familiar with a system of bodily exercise that is pronounced by competent authorities the best treatise on the subject extant.—Journal of Pedagogy.

It is certainly a most practical little book, more than usually interesting [illegible] account of the exact physiological effects described as the object of each exercise.—The Educational Review.

2. A System of Physical Culture, prepared expressly for Public School Work. By LOUISE PREECE. Cloth 4to, pp. 388, $2.00.

This system is used in more American cities than any other. It contains 183 photographs from life, besides many other illustrations, and concludes with pantomime work which will be found of great value in preparing for exhibitions.

3. A Practical Delsarte Primer. By ANNA RANDALL-DIEHL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 66. 50 cts.

4. The Song Gymnast. Cloth, small 4to, pp. 110, 50 cts.

This contains three series of calisthenic exercises for schools: Elementary, Advanced, and Exhibition exercises, all with music, careful directions and abundant illustrations, some hundreds of figures being given. It is the most practical and available collection ever issued.

5. Calisthenics and Disciplinary Exercises. By E. V. DE GRAFF. Manilla, 16mo, pp. 39, 25 cts.

This is the first of a series of books for supplementary reading, and will be found unusually interesting to children. Send for a copy.

2. The Hamilton Declamation Quarterly. Edited by Professors OREN ROOT and BRAINARD G. SMITH, of Hamilton College. Per number, 30 cts. Per year, $1.00. Vol. I, now ready in cloth, 16mo, pp. 337, $1.00.

This is a collection of pieces not simply compiled, but edited for use, after the style that has made Hamilton College famous as a school of oratory. The fresh and varied character of the selections makes the numbers excellent for supplementary reading.

3. The Sentence Method of Teaching Reading. By GEORGE L. FARNHAM. 3d Edition, from New Plates. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 50. 50 cts.

As the word method was a step above the alphabet method, so the sentence method is a step beyond the word method. "The unit of thought is the sentence," and if the child considers the words as units in learning to read, he must unlearn his habits of reading in order to read naturally. Mr. Farnham shows how much more easily children will learn to read, and how much better they will read, where this method is employed. The book is in general use all over the country—in Col. Parker's Cook County Normal School, among others. It is especially valuable for teachers' institutes.

4. A Practical Delsarte Primer. By MRS. ANNA RANDALL-DIEHL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 50 cts. Simple, and contains a series of twelve admirable charts.

5. A Manual of Elocution. By JOHN SWETT. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 300. $1.50. Simple and sound, with abundant practice.

It should be in every school library. The music pages may be had separately at 25 cts.

5. The Table is Set. A Comedy for Schools, from the German of Bendix. By WELLAND HENDRICK. Paper, 16mo, pp. 30. 15 cts.

Nothing is in greater demand than little plays for school entertainments, with few characters and requiring no scenery, and yet thoroughly bright and entertaining. This play will be found to meet all requirements.

6. A Glimpse of Grammarland. A Farce. By M. FRANCES BROWN. Paper, 8vo, pp. 24. 15 cts.

This is perhaps the most amusing and appropriate play for a school-exhibition ever written. It is interleaved, and contains the music in full.

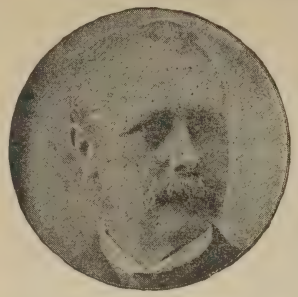
Movement Method in Penmanship.

1. The Natural Movement Method in Writing. By CHARLES R. WELLS. Nos. 1 and 2, 84 cts. a dozen; Nos. 3, 4, 5, 96 cts. a dozen.



This system of penmanship has now come into such general use that it has a host of imitators. Agents everywhere are saying, "Our new series has all the essential features of the Wells system." Don't believe it. There is only one Wells system, and there is no other series that gives or can give its distinctive features. A man cannot become a Diogenes by living in a tub, and a series of writing-books cannot appropriate our copy-righted features by calling itself a "movement series,". Get the Wells series, and the Wells series alone.

The Wells Method if used as directed may be depended upon to produce the following results:

1st. To develop and discipline the natural arm-action so as to produce the type movements, and through them the type forms of all letters; also to secure correct habits of position, pen-holding, etc.

2d. To test successfully the acquired movements by the use of properly prepared exercises or copies, and incidentally to correct all errors in formation.

3d. To establish and maintain such conditions as shall induce each pupil to teach himself to write carefully with the arm movement while doing his lesson work, and thus to fix the habit of accurate writing at all times.

4th. So to establish the habit of arm-movement business writing, that it will eventually become automatic.

In the public schools of Syracuse, where the method was first introduced, Prof. Wells spent thirteen years testing, perfecting and applying the plan of teaching. The remarkable results shown here have attracted wide attention, and in the many places where the method has been voluntarily introduced not a single case of failure has been reported.

Sup't Geo. W. Phillips, of Scranton, Pa., where the system was introduced in Sept., 1893, writes: "It is simply immense! This system will not work a change; it is a revolution in the art of writing." For similar testimony, write to Sup't A. B. Blodgett, Syracuse, Sup't C. W. Cole, Albany, or Principal James M. Milne, Oneonta Normal. It is not a question whether the best schools will adopt this system, but when they will adopt it. The school that takes it first is that much ahead of its neighbors.

2. Manual of the Movement Method in Writing. By CHARLES R. WELLS. Paper, 4to pp. 44. Illustrated. 25 cts.

If you want to learn about the system, send for this manual, Toledo has bought 225 copies, Scranton 225, Newtonville 100, Somerville 75, Toronto 50, etc.

Helps in Elementary Language.

1. Outline Work in Elementary Language. By AMELIA MOREY, preceptress of the Potsdam Normal School. Cloth, 16mo, illustrated, pp. 139. 50 cts.

This book will be welcome as showing the methods now pursued in this great school in the study for which its teaching has been especially remarkable. It gives young teachers almost the advantage of a normal course in this subject, and older teachers an opportunity to compare their own methods with those here used.

2. Graded Lessons in Language. By A. M. EDWARDS. Six numbers, each 5½ x 8½, 80 pages, with printed subjects and directions upon one side and ruled writing-paper for the exercises upon the other. Per sample set or per half-dozen of any number, 50 cts.

These exercises are carefully graded, and constitute a complete course for supplementary work in language for all grammar grades. "Oral Lessons" precede each "Written Exercise". This induces clearness and accuracy of expression and neatness of penmanship. The exercises can be used in connection with any text-book, and will be found a great assistance in teaching any system of penmanship.

3. Elementary English. Prepared with reference to the Regents' Examinations in the State of New York. Leatherette, pp. 67. 35 cts.

This follows directly the new syllabus of the Regents in English, giving all the words of which derivations are required. It is simple and practical.

4. Pictures in Language Work. By E. W. WEAVER. Paper, 16mo, illustrated, pp. 40. 20 cts.

The use of pictures has become so general that these suggestions for their use will be found valuable. The present is a new and greatly improved edition.

5. Question Book of Letter Writing, with full Answers. By C. W. BARDEEN. Paper, 16mo, pp. 17. 10 cts. Small, but full of practical suggestion.

6. Composition and Criticism. By A. W. EMERSON. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 82. 40 cts.

This is a manual for the aid of teachers and pupils in essay work, with 1,000 composition-subjects grouped according to the grade of the pupil.

7. A Dictionary of Etymology of the English Language, and of English Synonymes and Paronymes. By JOHN OSWALD. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 804. $2.00.

Of particular value now, owing to the attention to etymology every day becoming more marked.

8. The Readable Dictionary, or Topical and Synonomic Lexicon. By JOHN WILLIAMS. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 394. $1.25.

This contains several thousand of the more useful words in the English language classified by subjects and arranged according to their affinities of meaning, with accompanying etymologies, definitions, and illustrations. Its use will at once enrich one's vocabulary and give exactness to one's use of words. It has long been a recognized standard.

Helps in Teaching Grammar.

1. Grammatical Diagrams defended and improved, with directions for their proper construction and application. By F. S. JEWELL. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 207. $1.00.

There are many systems of diagramming, but they are all based more or less directly upon this standard treatise, the most thorough work upon grammatical analysis ever written. No teacher of grammar can afford to be without it.

2. Exercises in English Syntax. By A. G. BUGBEE. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 87. 35 cts. Key, pp. 36, 35 cts.

This differs from other handbooks of sentences for class-drill in that it does not print wrong sentences to be corrected,—a practice now generally condemned, because incorrect forms should never be put before the child's eye,—but leaves blanks in the sentence to be filled by the pupil from a choice of expressions given, thus impressing in the most effective way the right usage and its reasons. It is of special assistance in preparation for Regents' examinations, which always include much work of this kind. Thus:

1. "His wealth and ..... bid adieu to each other." Use him or he.
2. "..... art most in fault." Use thou or thee.
3. "..... and ..... were chosen." Use her or she, and he or him.
4. "..... do you think was there?" Use who or whom.

The New England Journal of Education says: "Teachers are well nigh as anxious for exercises in English syntax as they were before the crusade against teaching that subject. It would be difficult to desire the work essayed better done than in this monograph. It aids the teacher in all the standard work of the class; it suggests scores of things that the teacher wonders he has not tried for himself. America is to be congratulated upon having such an array of ingenious men in the school-room, and publishers like Mr. Bardeen, who knows how to find them, and how to use them."

3. 3,000 Grammar Questions, with Answers based on Brown's Grammar, with cross-references to the grammars of Murray, Greene, Clark, Kerl, Quackenbos, Weld & Quackenbos, Hart, Fowler, Swinton, Reed & Kellogg, and Whitney. By HENRY KIDDLE, formerly Sup't of Schools, New York City, and editor of Brown's Grammar. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 200. $1.00.

These are the Regent's questions from the beginning to June, 1882, with answers by the man who was regarded as the best living authority. Those who wish to be certain on grammatical questions will do well to keep this book at hand. Its cross-references make it easy to adapt the answers to any system used.

4. Normal Language Lessons. By S. J. SORNBERGER. Boards, 16mo, pp. 81. 50 cts. Prepared for use in the Cortland Normal School.

This is a work on elementary grammar, based on the sentence and taking up the parts of speech and syntax. It may be used with any text-book.

5. Dime Question Book No. 14, Grammar. By ALBERT P. SOUTHWICK.

Other books in this useful series are No. 9, Rhetoric; No. 15, Orthography and Etymology; and No. 20, Reading and Punctuation; each 10 cts.

C. W. BARDEEN, Publisher, Syracuse, N. Y.

Helps toward Correct Speech.

1. Verbal Pitfalls: a manual of 1500 words commonly misused, including all those the use of which in any sense has been questioned by Dean Alvord, G. W. Moon, Fitzedward Hall, Archbishop Trench, Wm C. Hodgson, W. L. Blackley, G. F. Graham, Richard Grant White, M. Schele de Vere, Wm. Mathews, "Alfred Ayres," and many others. Arranged alphabetically, with 3000 references and quotations, and the ruling of the dictionaries. By C. W. BARDEEN. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 223. 75 cts.

Perhaps the happiest feature of the book is its interesting form. Some hundreds of anecdotes have been gathered to illustrate the various points made. These have the advantage not only of making the work entertaining, but of fixing the point in the mind as a mere precept could not do. The type indicates at a glance whether the use of a word is (1) indefensible, (2) defensible but objectionable, or (3) thoroughly authorized.

2. Orthoëpy Made Easy. A Royal Road to Correct Pronunciation. By M. W. HALL. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 103. 75 cts.

Everyone remembers the queer shibboleths of culture in the paragraph beginning "A sacrilegious son of Belial," that has been the rounds of the newspapers. This book is made up of 38 such exercises, all of them ingenious and many of them amusing, each followed by a key to the difficult words. Bishop Vincent says: "I take great pleasure in testifying to the exceeding value of the little volume; 'Orthoëpy Made Easy.' The book is a sensible, practical text-book for the purpose intended. I congratulate you on having produced it, and I wish you success in its wide circulation."

3. Practical Phonics. A comprehensive study of Pronunciation, forming a complete guide in the study of elementary sounds of the English Language, and containing 3000 words of difficult pronunciation, with diacritical marks according to Webster's Dictionary. By E. V. DEGRAFF. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 108. 75 cts.

"The book before us is the latest, and in many respects the best, of the manuals prepared for this purpose. The directions for teaching elementary sounds are remarkably explicit and simple, and the diacritical marks are fuller than in any other book we know of, the obscure vowels being marked, as well as the accented ones. This manual is not like others of the kind, a simple reference book. It is meant for careful study and drill, and is especially adapted to class use."—New England Journal of Education.

4. Pocket Pronunciation Book, containing the 3,000 words of difficult pronunciation, with diacritical marks according to Webster's Dictionary. By E. V. DEGRAFF, Manilla, 16mo, pp. 47. 15 cts.

5. Studies in Articulation: a study and drill-book in the Alphabetic Elements of the English language. Fifth thousand. By J. H. HOOSE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 70. 50 cts.

"Dr. Hoose's 'Studies in Articulation' is the most useful manual of the kind that I know of. It should be a text-book in every Teacher's Institute."—A. J. Rickoff, formerly Sup't of Schools at Cleveland and at Yonkers.

6. Hints on Teaching Orthoëpy. By CHAS. T. POOLER. Paper, 16mo, pp. 15. 10 cts.

7. Question Book of Orthography, Orthoëpy, and Etymology, with Notes, Queries, etc. By ALBERT P. SOUTHWICK. Paper, 16mo, pp. 40. 10 cts.

Manuals of Parliamentary Rules.

1. Manual of Parliamentary Practice. By W. H. GORE. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 112. 50 cts.

It is an excellent compendium.—N. Y. World.

This is a little book that it was well to make. * * * Perhaps the best purpose the book will subserve will be as a book of reference in disputed cases. To such reference-use, an admirable table of motions and their applicability or non-applicability, an alphabetical arrangement of topics, a full-faced bringing out of the salient thought of each paragraph, and a citation of the best authorities in a few mooted points—all conduce. In brief, a handy book to go with and stay by the parliamentarian or presiding officer. —Principal W. K. Wickes, Syracuse High School, in the School Review.

While it is true that the rules of procedure in modern deliberative assemblies are drawn from the laws and customs of the Parliament of England, yet it is proper that in this country they should be given the national coloring which comes from the modifications introduced by our Houses of Congress. Prof. Gore has given in his little manual the rules of parliamentary practice as thus modified, and has introduced other improvements which make it especially well adapted for its purposes. In the front of the book is a tabular summary of the motions that may be made, with an order of sequence and statement of the subsidiary motions that apply. This table is similiar to that found in other publications, but is more extended and better suited for quick reference. The body of the book contains the rules of parliamentary practice arranged alphabetically. This enables one to find the rule desired more readily than with the use of an index as in the ordinary arrangement, since the book indexes itself. Another and important improvement is made by printing in faced type the essential matter of each paragraph, and often a glance at a page will give the sought-for facts without the delay of a more detailed reading. The advantage of this cannot be over-estimated. Altogether, the book is so convenient in size, so excellent in content, and so happy in arrangement, that it will be a gladly welcomed aid in deliberative assemblies.—Public Opinion.

2. A Chart of Parliamentary Rules. By W. A. BLAKELY. Parchment-paper, pp. 4. 25 cts.

This contains a Chart which shows the relation of any Motion to every other Motion, and also answers at a glance 2,427 Questions in the practice of Parliamentary Law. It gives also Comments on the different Motions, with additional notes and explanations, the manner of stating certain Questions, and one or more forms for making the various Motions used in deliberative assemblies.

It gives more information, in smaller space, in more convenient form, and at a cheaper price, than any other manual issued. In fact, as U. S. Senator Stewart says, "It is the entire subject in a nutshell, and will save laborious research through volumes of parliamentary law, for which few have the leisure or the means at hand."

Dr. Sheldon, principal of the Oswego Normal, says in the preface: "The plan, the order of arrangement, the exclusion of unnecessary details, all seem to me very commendable. And I take pleasure in endorsing it as an embodiment of my own idea as to the method of teaching geography. I am proud to recognize among our corps of teachers one who is capable of doing such excellent work in this most difficult subject to teach. His modesty led him to shrink from giving to the public this valuable little treatise designed for a much more restricted use, and the only part I claim in its production and publication is the suggestion and encouragement given to do what he has so skilfully executed."

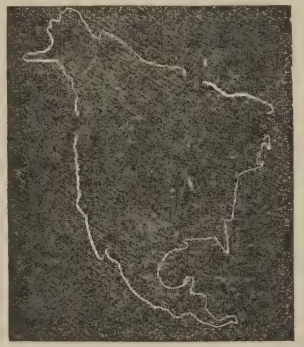
—THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS.—

Helps in Teaching Geography.

1. Outline Blackboard Maps. By Sup't GEORGE GRIFFITH, Utica. 8 Maps, 27 x 34, on four sheets of tar-board, slated on both sides. $8.00.



These maps include the five Continents, the United States, the State, and a blank for the County. The outline is permanent, while the pupil is to locate before the class whatever are the main features of the day's lesson. Among their many uses these are suggested:

(1) The pupil while locating or describing any river, city, etc., draws it upon the map. If a mistake is made it is erased without erasing the outlines. (2) Reviews or examinations are made by having the pupil show on one of these maps all he knows of the country. The teacher glances at the result, erases mistakes, and has the pupil replace correctly. All is erased, and another pupil is set at work while the class proceeds with the regular lesson. (3) By different colorings the elevations or any physical features of different sections are easily and quickly shown. In the same way a geological map may be made. (4.) Historical maps may be quickly sketched, showing only the features needed.

2. Relief Maps. By BÜRGI Brothers. Switzerland, (a) 11x17½; $3.50; (b) 23 x 34, $10.00, (c) Palestine, 19 x 32, $10.00, (d) United States, 48 x 42, $100.00.

These are beautifully made and colored, showing physical as well as political features. Many teachers think geography should be taught only from relief maps, and all agree that they are of great utility.

3. Geographical Cards, with Topics and Questions, (a) Part I. Physical Geography and North America, 100 cards, 3¼ x 5¼ inches, 50 cts.; (b) Part II. The Rest of the World, 100 cards, 50 cts., or, (c) Complete, 200 cards, $1.00.

These cards are intended to accompany any text-book in Geography. The topics and questions emphasize a necessity for thorough knowledge of commercial relations, exports, imports, routes of travel, expense of transportation: in fact, the cards deal with the Essentials of Geography, omitting that which is of little or no importance. The topics are suggestive rather than exhaustive. ☞ A set of these Cards will save the teacher many needless hours of study and research, by preserving classified memoranda in compact form.

4. Geographical Game. "Our Country" for Home and School, 100 cards, 2¼ x 3⅜ inches, 50 cts. Will double the pupils' interest.

5. Outline Topics Cards in Geography. Per package of 12 cards, 5½ x 6 inches 15 cts. Topics for the Continent on one side, for the State the other.

It includes the author's "Handbook for School Trustees", and adds all the questions in school law given at uniform examinations from the first to March, 1896, with full answers as published by the State Department corrected to date according to changes in the law. As school law is hereafter to be required in all teachers' examinations, 2d and 3d grades, as well as 1st, this book is absolutely indispensable to every teacher, and hence has been put in the Standard Teachers' Library.

2. Laws of New York relating to Common Schools, with Comments and Instructions, and a digest of Decisions. Leather, 8vo, pp. 807. $2.50.

This is what is known as "The Code of 1888", and is the final authority upon all disputed questions.

3. A Descriptive Geography of the Empire State. By C. W. BARDEEN. Cloth, 8vo, pp. 126, with 25 outline maps on uniform scale, 5 relief maps, and 125 illustrations. 75 cts.

The advance orders for this book exceeded any that have before been received for any of our publications. Its most marked characteristic is its appeal to the eye. Its illustrations are abundant and typical, and its 25 outline maps on uniform scale, each making prominent one thing at a time, commend themselves at sight. No New York school can afford to be without it.

4. A Brief History of the Empire State, for Schools and Families. By WELLAND HENDRICK, A.M. Cloth, small 4to, pp. 201. 75 cts.

This book has proved one of our great successes, more than three hundred schools having officially adopted it. This subject has been made a part of the Regents' course of study, with special questions in the examinations, and the Department of Public Instruction gives it five counts at the examinations for State certificates. Whether used as a history, or as a supplementary reading-book, it has given universal satisfaction.

5. Civil Government for Common Schools, prepared as a manual for public instruction in the State of New York. To which are appended the Constitution of the United States, and the Declaration of Independence, etc., etc. By HENRY C. NORTHAM. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 220. 75 cts.

This book no longer needs description, as its use is almost universal. The present edition gives all the changes under the new constitution.

6. A Chart of Civil Government. By CHARLES T. POOLER. Sheets 12 x 18. 5 cts. The same folded for the pocket, in cloth covers, 25 cts.

7. History of Educational Journalism in New York. By C. W. BARDEEN. Paper, 8vo, pp. 45. 50 cts.

The New York Uniform Question Books.

What are FAIR QUESTIONS in an examination of Teachers?

The best modern standard is the Uniform Examination Questions of the State of New York. New York has dared to require that no public school teacher shall be licensed except after passing one of the regular stated examinations upon questions prepared by the State Department at Albany, and sent out from there, being UNIFORM for the entire State.

It was a serious matter to make this regulation. Hundreds of old teachers have lost their places because they could not pass these examinations. You can imagine whether they and their friends have been on the lookout for unjust and unworthy questions.

The questions have stood the test, as the success of the system shows. Why? Because of honest purpose, capable management, and hard work. Never before were questions subjected to such previous tests as these. New York has a State Examining Board, made up of the Institute Instructors, the Inspectors of Teachers' Classes, and the Examinations Clerk. These are all high-salaried men—the best the State is able to find at $2,500 and $3,000 a year. The subjects are divided up among these men, and each prepares on his own topic the best set of questions he can make. Then the sets of questions are discussed by the entire Board, every possible criticism to the individual questions and to the set of questions as a whole being suggested and discussed in open meeting. Finally the questions thus amended and approved are submitted to the State Superintendent, and after his inspection are sent to the printer.

They may reasonably be called Standard Questions for the Examination of Teachers; and they have a special advantage in that they are graded, those for First Grade Certificates being wholly different from those for Second and Third Grade Certificates.

Now these Questions and the official Answers have all been published, up to and including those for June, 1892, in three books, as follows:

1. The New York Question Book, with all the Questions of the Uniform, State, Cornell, University Scholarship, and Normal School Entrance Examinations to March 31, 1890, with Answers. Cloth, 8vo. pp. 461. $2.

2. The same, Supplement No. 1. From April, 1890, to June, 1891. Manilla, 8vo. pp. 163. 25 cents.

3. The same, Supplement No. 2. From August, 1891, to June, 1892. Manilla, 8vo. pp. 139. 25 cents.

The number of Questions is as follows: algebra, 339; American history, 733; arithmetic, 958; astronomy, 100; book-keeping, 220; botany, 123; chemistry, 110; civil government, 674; composition, 207; current topics, 548; drawing, 409; French, 30; general history, 143; geography, 984; geology, 109; geometry, 199; German, 30; grammar, 1046; Latin, 195; literature, 160; methods, 549; penmanship, 61; physics, 240; physiology, 707; reading, 83; rhetoric, 64; school economy, 91; school law, 228; zoölogy, 120—Total, 9,460.

The Regents' Questions.

1. The Regents' Questions in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Spelling from the first examination in 1866 to June 1882. (No questions of later date will be printed.) Being the 11,000 Questions for the preliminary examinations for admission to the University of the State of New York, prepared by the Regents of the University, and participated in simultaneously by more than 250 academies, forming a basis for the distribution of more than a million of dollars. Complete with Key. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 473. $2.00.

2. Complete. The same as above but without answers. Pp. 340. $1.00.

In the subjects named, no other Question Book can compare with this either in completeness, in excellence, or in popularity. By Legislative Enactment no lawyer can be admitted to the bar in the State of New York without passing a Regents' Examination in these subjects.

Extra Volumes, 21. Temperance Physiology, 22. Book-Keeping, 23. Letter-Writing, each 10 cts.

The immense sale of the Regents' Questions in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, and Spelling has led to frequent inquiry for the questions in the Advanced Examinations. As it is not permitted to reprint these, we have had prepared this series, by which the teacher need purchase books only on the subjects upon which special help is needed. Frequently a $1.50 book is bought for the sake of a few questions in a single study. Here, the studies may be taken up one at a time, a special advantage in New York, since applicants for State Certificates may now present themselves for examination in only part of the subjects, and receive partial Certificates to be exchanged for full Certificates when all the branches have been passed. The same plan is very generally pursued by county superintendents and commissioners who are encouraging their teachers to prepare themselves for higher certificates.

5. Quizzism. Quirks and Quibbles from Queer Quarters. Being a Mélange of questions in Literature, Science, History, Biography, Mythology, Philology, Geography, etc. By A. P. SOUTHWICK. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 55. 25 cts. The same with Key, $1.00.

A stimulus for home study, and invaluable for school or teachers' gatherings.

6. A Quiz-Book on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. By A. P. SOUTHWICK. Cloth, 12mo, pp. 220. Price $1.00.

Special Books for Regents' Schools.

1. The Regents' Questions in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, and Spelling from the first examination in 1866 to June, 1882. (No questions of later date will be printed.) Being the 11,000 Questions for the preliminary examination for admission to the University of the State of New York, prepared by the Regents of the University, and participated in simultaneously by more than 250 academies, forming a basis for the distribution of more than a million of dollars. Complete with Key. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 473. $2.00.

2. Complete. The same as above but without answers. Pp. 340. $1.00.

3. Separately. The same, each subject by itself, all Manilla, 16mo.:

Arithmetic, 1293 Questions, pp. 93, 25 cts. Geography, 1987 Questions, pp. 70, 25 cts. Grammar, 2976 Questions, pp. 100, 25 cts. Spelling, 4800 Words, pp. 61, 25 cts. Keys to Arithmetic, Geography, and Grammar, each 25 cts.

These are of course an indispensable preparation for the Regents' Examinations, and have been used for twenty years in most Regents' schools.

4. Regents' Selections in Literature. Selections for Repetition from Memory at the Examinations conducted by the Regents of the University of the State of New York, in connection with the courses of American, German, and French Literature. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 56, 25 cts. Each separate, paper, 10 cts.

These selections were officially prepared in the Regents' office, and published under the direction of Mr. James Russell Parsons, jr. Besides their special purpose, they will be found admirable for use in classes.

5 Outlines of English Literature. By BLANCHE R. DANIELS. Cloth, 16mo, pp. 50. interleaved for notes. 50 cts.

This has been prepared especially for Regents' classes, and follows the Syllabus closely. It contains 49 portraits, with sketches, critical notes, etc., and while invaluable for its special purpose, will also be found of great utility in all literature classes.

6. Review Problems in Arithmetic for Schools under the supervision of the Regents. By Mrs. JENNIE B. PRENTICE. Paper, 16mo, pp. 93. 20 cts. Key, 25 cts.

7. Review Questions in Geography for Schools under the supervision of the Regents. By Mrs. JENNIE B. PRENTICE. Paper, 16mo, pp. 48. 15 cts.

These books have been prepared to supplement the published books of Regents' Questions, and afford an admirable drill in these subjects. Not a single problem in the first can be found in any published arithmetic, and very few questions in geography have ever been asked by the Regents that are not to be found in the second.

8. Elementary English. Prepared with reference to the Regents' Examinations in the State of New York. By JOHN D. WILSON. Leatherette, 16mo, pp. 50. 35 cts.

Helps in Regents' Examinations.

1. The Regents' Examination Record. The new edition of this Record, prepared to cover the course of study adopted for the five years 1895-1900, is now ready. The new form has received the approval of the Regents' office, and blanks are left to provide for possible changes after the year 1900. This Record is well known in the larger Regents' schools as an indispensable time-saver. It contains an alphabetical index, a classified record of certificates and diplomas, and individual records for 432 pupils, with dates of all credits, pass-cards, certificates, and diplomas. Price $3.00. For the larger schools, a double size, for 864 pupils, is bound in canvass. Price $6.00.

2. Regents' Individual Card Records. These give the same individual record as above, but are printed separately on cardboard. Price $1.50 a hundred.

3. Regents' Examination Paper. This is prepared from forms furnished by the Regents' office, and is of a weight and quality of paper chosen there as best fitted for the purpose. It is used by the Regents themselves in all examinations conducted by them. The paper is printed in four forms, viz.: Whole sheets, Half-sheets, Spelling, and Book-Keeping in whole sheets. We suggest for most schools the following proportion:

Whole sheets, 350, equal to half-sheets,	700
Half-sheets,	100
Spelling,	100
Book-Keeping, 50, equal to half-sheets,	100
	1,000

We will however fill orders in any proportion desired. The price is $3.00 per 1000 half-sheets. It is done up on two sides in heavy tar-board, making a light and safe express package. The same boards are to be used in sending the students' papers to the Regents.

4. Regents' Drawing Paper. The demand for a paper that would answer all the requirements for the examination in drawing, led us to prepare a special paper of the size and quality approved by the Regents. This is uniform in size with the other paper, but is not included in the assortment put up in packages, because of the difference in weight and price. It costs $4.00 per ream, or $1.00 per 100 sheets, is of exceptional quality, and usually considered indispensable where the drawing examination is to be taken.

This paper is of the best quality and we recommend it first; but for those who can not afford it and want a cheaper paper we can furnish a grade at $1.50 per ream, 40 cts. per 100 sheets, that is the best such money can buy.

5. Regents' Examination Pens. These pens are put up in quarter-gross boxes, and will be sent postpaid for 25 cts. a quarter-gross, or $1.00 a gross.

6. Syllabus of Regents' Examinations in American History. These are published two months before each examination, and have been prepared from the beginning by Welland Hendrick, the institute conductor and author of "A Brief History of the Empire State." 5 cts. each; 50 cts. a doz.

7. Review Questions in Hendrick's History of the Empire State. 16 pp. 5 cts. each; 50 cts. a dozen. A capital preparation for examinations.

The Civil Service Question Book.

Are you tired of teaching? Do you sometimes wonder whether you could do anything else if you tried? Have you now and then thought that it would be well to have some other employment to look to, in case you felt that you had taught long enough? It is our business to publish books for teachers, books that will help them in their work and keep them in it. But there are circumstances that would make a government position desirable for some teachers, especially for young men and women who want to use the libraries and other helps in large cities. The pay is liberal, the hours are few, and once obtained the place is secure. These are all temptations to the idler, but they are opportunities for the student. Under the Civil Service law the road to such a position is simple.

31,000 PLACES are now filled exclusively by appointments dependent on examinations. No favoritism is possible. You do not need the influence of Congressman or politician. You have only to learn when the next examination is held, apply for the necessary papers, present yourself, and answer the questions asked. The appointments are made from those OPEN TO WOMEN as well as to men. All the who stand highest, and are particulars as to these examinations, how to find out the places and dates where held, and how to apply, are given in this volume, which gives also 943 specimen questions in Arithmetic, 575 specimen questions in Geography, 400 specimen questions in English Syntax, 100 each in American History and Civil Government, with full treatises on Book-Keeping and on Letter-Writing. To prepare for competition for places at $1,000 AND HIGHER these subjects and these only are required. Any one who can answer the questions here given, to all of which full and complete answers are added, is ready to enter the next examination.

Hon. John B. Riley, Chief Examiner of the State of New York, says of the book: "I am pleased with your Civil Service Question Book. It will not only be of service to those intending to try the Civil Service Examinations, but teachers or others who are obliged to prepare questions for examinations in common English branches will find it a great convenience."

The American Bookseller says: "The handy little volume called The Civil Service Question Book is a kind of happy thought in these days of C. S. examinations. In it the nervous and anxious seeker of a billet in the government service will find an ample selection of the kind of questions which he will be asked. If he can answer these, he will be able to answer any other likely to be asked."

The New England Journal of Education says: "It is worth as much to the teacher in his class, as to those aspiring to government positions. It is rarely that any book can be found with so many valuable and so few unimportant questions."

Press-board cover. Three Sizes, (a) 6x7 for terms of twenty weeks; (b) 5x7, for terms of fourteen weeks. When not otherwise specified this size is always sent. Pp. 48. Each 25 cts. This register gives lines on each of 12 pages for 29 names, and by a narrow leaf puts opposite these names blanks for one entry each day for either 14 or 20 weeks, as desired, with additional lines for summary, examinations, and remarks. Nothing can be more simple, compact, and neat, where it is desired simply to keep a record of attendance, deportment, and class-standing. It is used in nearly two-thirds of the union schools of New York.

2. The Peabody Class Record, No. 1, with 3 blanks to each scholar each day for a year. Boards 4½x9½, pp. 100, $1.00. No. 2, with 5 blanks to each scholar, 8x11, $1.50. Like No. 1, but gives 3 or 5 blanks each day.

3. Ryan's School Record, 112 blanks to a sheet, per dozen sheets, 50 cts.

8. Aids to School Discipline, containing 80 Certificates, 120 Checks, 20 Cards, 100 Single and Half Merits. Per box, $1.25. Supplied separately per hundred: Half Merits, 15 cts., Cards, 15 cts., Checks, 50 cts., Certificates, 50 cts.

The use of millions of these Aids, with the unqualified approval of teachers, parents, and pupils, is assurance that they are doing great good.

They naturally and invariably awaken a lively paternal interest, for the pupil takes home with him the witness of his daily conduct and progress.

They are neat in design, printed in bright colors. The Certificates are prizes which children will cherish. The Single Merits and Half Merits are printed on heavy card board, the Cards and Checks on heavy paper, and both may be used many times—hence the system is cheap, as well as more attractive than any other to young children.

9. Mottoes for the School-Room. By A. W. EDSON, State Agent of Massachusetts. Per set of 12 on heavy colored card-board 7x4 inches, printed on both sides, $1.00, post-paid, $1.10.

Blackboards and Blackboard Slating.

1. Hornstone Slating.—No feature of the school-room is of more vital importance to the health of scholars and teachers than the Blackboard. If it be gray and greasy the amount of chalk used fills the air with dust which produces catarrhal and bronchial difficulties, and yet makes so faint a mark that the children's eyes are permanently injured.

The Hornstone slating contains no oil or grease, and will not become faded or greasy with use. By its use the eyesight of children is saved, and most of the evil effects of chalk dust are escaped; for a beautifully clear and distinct mark is produced with the minimum of crayon wear and dust. The reason is that the surface finishes down as smooth as slate, while possessing none of the disadvantages.

The application of two coats is recommended for old or imperfect boards, but for new boards and old boards with good foundations, we recommend two additional coats, with a final rubbing down with pumicestone. This gives a blackboard never yet equalled. Principal H. F. Miner of Skaneateles, N. Y., writes after seven years' use: "The three essentials of a good blackboard: smoothness, dead blackness, and durability, are admirably combined in this material. When properly applied to a suitable foundation no board that I ever saw equals the Hornstone."

The price is $8.00 a gallon, covering from 144 to 180 square feet with four coats. We shall be glad to send detailed circulars and give complete information to anyone in need of material.

2. Wooden Blackboards.—For small schools, where it would not pay to prepare a special surface, and where the old wall is unfit to be coated, we can furnish wooden boards, made of inch whitewood thoroughly kiln-dried, and with glued joints, slated with Hornstone, four coats, one side, and packed ready for shipping, at the following prices:

3 ft. x 6 ft.....$5.50	3 ft. x 10 ft.....$ 9.50
3 " " 8 " 7.50	3 " " 12 "... ..... 12.00

These are the regular sizes, and we will quote prices on special sizes when requested to do.

3. Tarboard Blackboards.—Where only a small board is desired portable boards are often most convenient. We make them of the best tarboard, slated with Hornstone on both sides, with wooden frame and rings for hanging, at the remarkably low price of $2.00 for a board 25x34 inches, or $3.00 for a board 34x50 inches. These are the cheapest blackboards ever offered. We also furnish these tarboard strips without frames, so that they can be tacked along on the wall, thus making a continuous board with an excellent Hornstone surface. In this form the sheet, 25x34 can be furnished, slated on one side, for $1.00, and the sheet 34x50 for $1.50.

Slated Cloth on Paper.—Another style of portable boards is slated cloth or paper mounted on rollers with hooks and rings for hanging up.

2 x 3 feet, Cloth, $1.50.	Paper, $1.00	3 x 6 feet, Cloth, $4.00.	Paper, $2.70
3 x 4 " " 2.70.	" 1.80	4 x 6 " " 5.40.	" 3.60

Slated cloth is furnished in rolls 4 feet wide at $2.00 a linear yard; slated paper at 50 cts. a square yard.

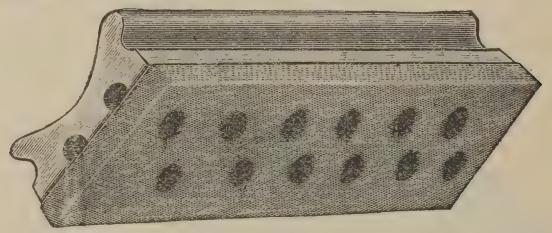
Dustless Blackboard Erasers.

1. The McCully Perforated Erase 15 cts. each by mail; 75 cts, a dozen by express.



When you have got a good blackboard be sure and get good Erasers. The Carpet Eraser, once almost universally used, has been rejected; the hard twine glazes and wears off the slated surface. Tacks carelessly driven and points projecting into the erasive material, have ruined or defaced many blackboards. Such tacks are not found until they have done some damage. Besides Carpet Erasers, or any others with flat surface, merely brush the crayon down to the crayon-ledge, and thence to the floor, whence it is constantly rising and permeating the air of the school-room. For this reason a Dustless Eraser should always be used, and the best we have found to be the McCully Perforated Eraser, Of this the marked peculiarity is that it provides spaces into which the crayon dust falls and where it remains until shaken out, outside the school-room. It deposits the chalk through the holes in the grooves, leaving the surface of the eraser always clean, and thus enabling it to take up every particle of dust. It is the neatest and prettiest eraser made. Its clean rectangular edges are especially adapted to map and other pictorial black-board work, where the erasing is to be done deftly and exactly. Principal Clapp, of Fulton, N. Y., says: "I have used the McCully Eraser n my school for nearly two years, and unhesitatingly recommend it as the best eraser on the market."

This has long been what its name implies, a favorite. It is light, and catches the dust in the grooves of the felt. The felt is made of assorted colors, and the eraser is handsome as well as useful.

Special prices for large quantities will be given upon either of these erasers on application.

No one, whether Catholic or Protestant, can read "Catholic Belief" without being greatly benefited; the Catholic will have a better knowledge and truer love of his holy faith; the Protestant, if not convinced and persuaded to take the final step and enter the one fold under the one Shepherd, will retain no anti-Catholic prejudices, will be more a Christian, wiser, and better. —Extract from Bishop Ryan's Preface.

There are few subjects connected with the Church that a man can inquire about on which it will not give him the information he seeks, or put him on the way to finding it. It is certainly a book which no Catholic library, or, for that matter, no library of any pretensions, Catholic or otherwise, can henceforth afford to be without.—The Pilot.

Goffine's Devout Instructions on the Epistles and Gospels for the Sundays and Holy-days; with Explanations of Christian Faith and Duty and of Church Ceremonies. By the Rev. LEONARD GOFFINE. Translated by the Rev. Theo. Noethen. New Edition, with 31 full-page illustrations. 8vo, cloth, retail price, $1.25; net wholesale price, 75 cents.

In Europe the original of "Goffine's Instructions" is extensively used by those who are prevented by just cause from assisting at Mass, and it is not only recommended and circulated there by the bishops and priests, but some of the most learned and distinguished divines have from time to time edited it.

The work is opportune and will prove of great value to the Rev. Clergy as well as to the laity.
